Preface

In preparing this text and translation for publication I have divided it into a number of versions. In the Buddhist Texts and Studies section will be found the Pāḷi text together with the variant readings. This is a more technical work dealing with the establishment of the text, and considers the text from the point of view of its grammar, prosody, and how the material has been collected.

In the Texts and Translations section I present the full text and translation with annotations which help to explain matters that may not be clear from the text itself. I have therefore translated sections from the Commentary, added notes on the history and geography, and explained points of doctrine whenever it seemed necessary.

In the English section there is the translation only, with somewhat less notes than in the Text and Translations section, which is intended for the casual reader who wants a reliable translation but is not interested in the technical matters concerning the original text itself.

I am very grateful to Dhammacārī Chittapāla for reading through the translation and making many valuable corrections and suggestions for improvement, his knowledge of Pāḷi and the teaching, and his willingness to help with this work, are greatly appreciated. If anyone else has any corrections please let me know at anandajoti@gmail.com.

Introduction

The Mahāparinibbānasutta is a carefully crafted record of the events and Teachings that took place in the last year of the Lord Buddha's life, but as it stands it is lengthy, repetitious, and has suffered from additions which break up the narrative. Therefore I will give a summary of the main events here, which will give an overview of the discourse and help to orientate the reader.

Rājagaha to Vesālī (Chapters 1-2)

The discourse opens in a very historical setting, with the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, who is in his capital Rājagaha, declaring that he intends to destroy the Vajjian Republic, which lay on the lands on the opposite bank of the River Gaṅgā, which formed the Northern boundary of his own Kingdom.

According to the Commentary there had been a long-running dispute over the trade that was being conducted along the Gaṅgā, which the Vajjians had won out on, but which was making the Magadhan King more and more hostile. Ajātasattu, reflecting that it is not wise to enter into war without hearing what the wise have to say on the matter, sent one of his Chief Ministers, Vassakāra, to inform the Buddha of his plans, and to listen to whatever he says.

Vassakāra therefore approaches the Buddha, who was living on the nearby Vulture's Peak Mountain, and explains the King's intentions. The Buddha doesn't answer Vassakāra direct, but instead turns to his faithful attendant Ānanda, and asks whether the Vajjians 'assemble regularly and frequently, carry out their Vajjian duties unanimously, do not establish new laws or cut off old laws, honour their elders, do not coerce their women and girls, honour the Vajjian shrines, and have made good arrangements in regard to the lawful protection of the Worthy Ones'.¹ Ānanda replies that they do all these things, and the Buddha declares that as long as they do 'growth to be expected for the Vajjians and not decline'.

Vassakāra understands through this that the Vajjians cannot be defeated through war but 'only through diplomacy or the breaking of the alliance', and he thereupon withdraws. It appears from the Commentary that within 4 years the Magadhan King did in fact manage to divide the Vajjians and overcome them, mainly thanks to the intrigues of his Minister Vassakāra.

After his departure the Buddha asks Ānanda to assemble all the monks living around Rājagaha, and when they have come he instructs them with a parallel teaching to the one he had given regarding the Vajjians:² the Saṅgha should 'assemble regularly and frequently, carry out their Community duties unanimously, not establish new laws or cut off old laws, honour the elder monks, not come under the influence of craving, have desire for forest dwellings, and attend to the ways of mindfulness'. In which case 'growth is to be expected for the Saṅgha and not decline'. It is noticeable that throughout the discourse the Buddha shows concern time and again that the Sāsana and Saṅgha which he has founded are well-established and will be able to survive his passing.

¹ This is an edited paraphrase. All the words placed in single quotation marks in the Introduction are either direct quotes or close paraphrases.

² Notice that both the Vajjians and the Saṅgha were living under a Republican type of Government, so the conditions that apply to the one were easy to transfer to the other.

The Buddha then enumerates five more sets of conditions that will have the same effect. I have argued elsewhere³ that these conditions do not appear to be original to the text, so there is no need to list them again here. At the end of this section though it is said the Buddha taught in summary form Virtue, Concentration and Wisdom. The details are not set out, but this statement is inserted at the end of his stay in each of the places he visited, and may be taken as a summary of the kind of teachings the Buddha gave everywhere, but which have not been recorded in detail here.

The Buddha then leaves the Magadhan capital and begins his final tour of the Middle Country. He passes through Ambalaṭṭhikā,⁴ and on to Nāḷanda, where he meets with one of his Chief Disciples Ven. Sāriputta. Although we shall have to discuss this matter later, it appears that this is the last recorded meeting between the two of them. Here Ven. Sāriputta roars his lion's roar (sīhanāda), and proclaims his faith in the Buddha and his teaching.

The Buddha then moves on to Pāṭaligāma, which was at that time being built up by the Magadhan Ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra to ward off the Vajjians. The site was situated on the bank of the Gaṅgā, facing the rival nation who were just over the waters.⁵ After instructing the householders of Pāṭaligāma in the benefits of virtue, and accepting a meal prepared by the Chief Ministers, the Buddha crossed over the Gaṅgā, entered the Vajjian lands, and made his way up to Koṭigāma where he taught the Four Noble Truths.

From there he went to Nādika where Ānanda questioned him at length about the people, lay and monastic, who had attained Path and Fruit in that small village. The Buddha answers, and also teaches a way in which anyone can be sure he has attained at least the first stage of Stream-Entry (Sotāpatti). After leaving Nādika the Buddha walked on to the Vajjian capital Vesālī, where he took up residence in the pleasure park of the courtesan Ambapālī.

When she hears that the Buddha is residing there she comes and invites him and the Saṅgha for a meal on the morrow, which the Buddha accepts. The Licchavīs, who were the largest clan in the Vajjian Republic, also try to invite the Buddha to a meal, but are distressed to find that the meal has already been given to the courtesan. At the end of the meal Ambapālī donates the park to the Buddha for the use of the Community.

By this time the Rainy season is approaching, and the Buddha withdraws from the immediate vicinity of Vesālī, to the nearby village of Beluvā, which is where he spent his last Rains Retreat. It is here that the Buddha fell seriously ill,⁶ but he determined to suppress it until he has had time to address the Community on various matters.

⁴ Where interestingly enough no teaching or events are recorded except the summary.

The Buddha then rises from the illness and gives his famous teaching that he has no esoteric and exoteric teaching and that Ānanda⁷ should ‘live with yourself as an island, yourself as a refuge, with no other refuge, with the Teaching as an island, the Teaching as a refuge, with no other refuge’, and explains that this means attending to the ways of mindfulness.

The Missing Months

At this point we come to the end of the second chapter for recitation (bhāṇavāra). We now come to a problem in the narrative, which has been progressing smoothly so far. As noted above, according to the Commentary, the Buddha fell ill about 10 months before the Vesākha Full Moon day, which is the traditional date for the Final Emancipation.

In the next Chapter we find the Buddha entering Vesālī for alms, and immediately afterwards going to Cāpāla Shrine with Ven. Ānanda, which is where the Buddha gives up the life-process (āyusaṅkhāra), and announces that in 3 months he will attain Final Emancipation. We therefore have a lacuna in the history of about 7 months.

The Commentary inserts here another itinerary of the Buddha, unrecorded in this discourse, whereby he goes to Sāvattthī and has a last meeting with Ven. Sāriputta, who returns to his home village of Nālaka and dies of dysentery in the room of the house where he was born. The Buddha then travelled down to Nālaka and had a Shrine (Cetiya) built for the relics.

The Commentary says he then went to Rājagaha where Ven. Mahāmoggallāna had attained Final Emancipation after being murdered by bandits, and the Buddha had a Shrine built for his relics in the Great Monastery (Veḷuvana) in Rājagaha.

After that he is said to have gone to Ukkācelā in the Vajjian lands⁸ which is where the Ukkācelasutta was delivered,⁹ From there he is said to have walked back to Vesālī, which is where the following episode in the discourse takes place.

I believe the reason for this proposed itinerary is the need to reconcile the material found in the discourses. In the Satipaṭṭhānaśāmyutta (SN 47.13) it is recorded that following Ven. Sāriputta’s Final Emancipation his attendant novice Cunda took his bowl and robes back to Sāvattthī and presented them to the Buddha; in the following discourse (Ukkācelasutta) the Buddha speaks about the Community being empty (asuññā) now that his two Chief Disciples had passed away.

⁶ We are not told the exact nature of the illness, but we can perhaps infer that it was dysentery, as the Commentary notes that, after the illness was suppressed it did not arise again until 10 months later, and that illness is said in the discourse to have been dysentery.

⁷ And implicitly all his followers.

⁸ Now identified with Hajipur, across the river from Patna.

⁹ Satipaṭṭhānaśāmyuttaṃ, SN 47.14.

However, the Commentarial account is difficult to reconcile with the traditional dates. According to the Commentary Ven. Sāriputta attained Final Emancipation on the Full Moon night of Kattika (November), which is one month after the first Rains Retreat closes. There is no reason to believe that the Buddha broke his last Rains Retreat, so the time-scale would be at most one month for the Buddha to walk to Sāvattthī, about 400 kilometres from Vesālī, and for Ven. Sāriputta to walk back to Nālaka, just north of Rājagaha, about 500 kilometres from there. Given the great distances involved this doesn't seem to be possible.

Because of this I make here what I hope is a more plausible suggestion. We can imagine that the Buddha completed the Rains Retreat in mid-October, and that he would have stayed in the vicinity of Vesālī for the Kathina celebrations. Indeed, it is almost certain that he would not have left before these were concluded.

He may then have heard that Ven. Sāriputta had passed away and decided to walk back to Nālaka, about 90 kilometres away. This may have taken more than a fortnight, so it may be that even on the way he heard that Ven. Mahāmoggallāna had also passed away. After the burial and the building of the Shrines the Buddha started to return to Vesālī, stopping at Ukkācelā where he spoke the above mentioned discourse.

The distance from Ukkācelā to Vesālī is only about 40 kilometres, and wouldn't have taken more than a week to walk, but we cannot say that the Buddha proceeded there straight after the discourse. This would therefore be quite a reasonable way to account for the missing months, and it could account for the discourse given at Ukkācelā, but unfortunately not for the one about the novice Cunda bringing the bowl and robes to Sāvattthī.

Other possible ways to account for the missing months would be if the traditional dates of either the Buddha or his two Chief Disciples (or both) were incorrect, or if the Buddha didn't leave Beluva until February, but this hardly solves the problem as there would still be a gap of a number of months in the story at this point, which can not be accounted for.

There is a difficulty, however, even with the revised itinerary proposed above because it is difficult to understand why such important events as the passing away of the two Chief Disciples and the building of Shrines for them would have been left out of the discourse, which it appears is intended to trace the last year of the Buddha's life, if they had been remembered by the Elders at the First Council. It is unfortunate indeed that the events that took place during that time seem to have been lost by the tradition forever, as we have no sure way of reconstructing the events now.

At Vesālī (Chapter 3)

If the tradition that the Buddha attained Final Emancipation at Vesākha is correct the next Chapter opens around the time of Māgha Full Moon day in January-February. The Buddha, after returning from alms-round in Vesālī, tells Ānanda that they will go to the Cāpāla Shrine for the day. Here the Buddha three times tells Ānanda that anyone who had developed the four Paths to Power could live on for the lifespan, but Ānanda doesn't understand that this is an opportunity to request the Buddha to do so, and lets the chance go by.

Next the Buddha is visited by the wicked Māra, who reminds the Buddha that previously¹⁰ he had stated that he would attain Final Emancipation once his Community and lay-disciples were established in the teaching, and Māra assures him that that now is the case, and urges him to pass away. Eventually the Buddha tells Māra not to be concerned about this, he has already determined that he will attain Final Emancipation in three months time.

With that declaration there is an earthquake and Ānanda approaches the Buddha and asks him what it is that has occasioned the great quake? The Buddha explains the eight reasons for earthquakes, which include his relinquishment of the life-process and, anticipating what is to come, his attainment of Final Emancipation.¹¹

The Buddha then explains to Ānanda the whole story of his meetings with Māra, and his giving up the life-process that day, at which Ānanda tries to persuade the Buddha to live on. The Buddha asks him why he makes the request, and Ānanda responds that he has heard the Buddha saying that anyone who had developed the four Paths to Power could live on for the lifespan. The Buddha then blames him for not making the request earlier and says that it is not possible for him to do so now, and reminds him of just how many times he had told him, both in the Vajjian lands and in Magadhā about this, but at each occasion Ānanda had failed to make the request.¹²

Vesālī to Kusinārā (Chapters 4-5)

The Buddha and Ānanda return to Vesālī and to the Great Wood (Mahāvana), where the Buddha asks his attendant to gather together all the monks who are living in the vicinity of the city, and after they have assembled he teaches them what later came to be known as the 37 Things on the Side of Awakening (Bodhipakkhiyadhammā). He then announces to the Community that he will attain Final Emancipation in three months time.

The Buddha and Ānanda, together with a great Community of monks then set out from Vesālī and travel by stages to Bhaṇḍagāma, where he teaches the Four Noble Things.

¹² I have questioned the extraordinary length and repetitiousness of this section in the above mentioned introduction.

Because these have not been penetrated, both the Buddha and everyone else have been wandering in Saṃsāra for so long.¹³

From Bhaṇḍagāma they travel on to Hatthigāma, Ambagāma, Jambugāma, and Bhoganagara.¹⁴ There the Buddha taught the Four Great Referrals and how to distinguish what was his real Teaching and Discipline from what has been wrongly remembered by examining the consistency of the teaching with what is known to have been taught by him.

After leaving Bhoganagara they travel up to Pāvā where the Buddha stays in Cunda the Smith's Mango Wood. When he hears that the Buddha has arrived Cunda goes, hears an unreported Teaching from the Buddha, and invites him and the Saṅgha to a meal of the following day, which the Buddha accepts.

It is after this meal that the Buddha goes down with dysentery again. Even though he was ill still he decides to press on to Kusinārā, which is a distance of about 7 kilometres from Pāvā. An odd story is inserted here concerning one Pukkusa Mallaputta, who tells how Āḷāra Kālāma was once sitting in meditation when five hundred wagons went by, but he didn't notice them. The Buddha replies that once he was sitting in meditation when a fierce storm blew up but he didn't notice the storm at all. Pukkusa declares that the former faith he had in Āḷāra has been lost and he now places his faith in the Buddha, and he presents the Buddha and Ānanda with a pair of golden robes, but the robes lose their gleam when placed alongside the Buddha's skin, which is glowing unusually bright, as this is the night he will attain Final Emancipation.¹⁵

The narrative continues with the Buddha assuring Ānanda that Cunda is not to be blamed for serving the last meal that the Buddha ever partook of, rather, he states, that that will be for his benefit for a long time.

At Kusinārā (Chapters 5-6)

They carry on until they reach Kusinārā and the Sal Wood at Upavattana. There the Buddha lies down on a couch. While he is lying in the lion's posture the Divinities come and worship him, and the Buddha asks Ven. Upavāṇa to step aside so they can get to see him for the last time. The Buddha tells Ānanda about the four pilgrimage centres¹⁶ that can be visited by those having faith, which is followed by some miscellaneous Teachings, including an instruction on how to deal with his body when he has gone.

The Buddha praises Ānanda's wonderful qualities, and declares that all Buddhas had, and will have, similar attendants. Ānanda requests the Buddha not to attain Final Emancipation in this small town, but the Buddha tells him that Kusināra actually has a ¹³ These are different from the Four Noble Truths taught at Koṭigāma above; they consist of Noble Virtue, Noble Concentration, Noble Wisdom, and Noble Freedom.

¹⁴ None of these villages has been identified, but the route along which they lay is known.

¹⁵ This section occurs in the middle of a discourse that is also recorded in the Udāna (Ud. 8-5), but in the latter collection this story does not occur at all. It strikes me as being apocryphal and probably has little basis in fact.

¹⁶ The place he was born, Awakened, first taught, and attained Final Emancipation.

glorious past, and relates the Mahāsudassanasuttaṃ at this point.¹⁷ The Buddha then sends Ānanda into Kusinārā to announce to the villagers that he will attain Final Emancipation that very night. Ānanda returns with them and has them worship the Buddha for one last time.

At this point a wanderer Subhadda arrives and asks permission to see the Buddha as he needs to clear his doubts. Ānanda refuses but the Buddha overhears the conversation and tells him to allow Subhadda to come. He initially asks the Buddha about the Teachings of the other famous teachers of his day, but the Buddha puts this aside and assures him about his own Teaching, and Subhadda becomes the last direct disciple of the Buddha.

After giving some last instructions to Ānanda, the Buddha asks if there is anyone in the gathering who has any doubts about the Teaching, but none of them do, as ‘even the least among them’ (Ānanda himself) has attained the first Path and Fruit. He then speaks his famous last words, urging his disciples to ‘strive on with heedfulness’.

The Buddha then passes through the various absorptions (jhāna) forwards, backwards and forwards again, and after emerging from the fourth absorption he attains Final Emancipation (parinibbāna). Ānanda goes and informs the villagers and they come and start to prepare the funeral. The preparations continue for seven days, before they are ready for the cremation.

Eventually they take the body out for cremation, but are unable to do so, because the Divinities will not allow it while Ven. Mahākassapa is still on the way, as he wishes to pay his last respects to the body. Once this is accomplished the pyre catches fire by itself.

The Mahāparinibbānasuttaṃ ends with the story of how the relics were distributed. It is worthy of note here that although the relics were taken to three capital cities, Kapilavatthu, Vesālī, and Rājagaha, none were taken to Sāvattthī, which is where the Buddha had done most of his teaching. It may be that the Kosalans were simply unaware of what had happened in the Mallan country.

¹⁷ In our narrative only the beginning of the story is given, but it appears in other versions the whole lengthy discourse is inserted at this point.

Mahāparinibbānasuttam (DN 16)

The Discourse about the Great Emancipation

[Paṭhamabhāṇavāram]

[The First Chapter for Recitation]

[1: Rājā Ajātasattu]¹⁸
[King Ajātasattu]

Evam me sutam:
Thus I heard:

Ekam samayaṃ Bhagavā Rājagahe viharati Gijjhakūṭe pabbate.
At one time the Gracious One was living near Rājagaha on the Vultures' Peak Mountain.¹⁹

Tena kho pana samayena Rājā Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto, Now at that time the Magadhan King Ajātasattu,²⁰ the son of Lady Wisdom, Vajjī abhiyātukāmo hoti.

had a desire to attack the Vajjians.²¹

So evam-āha: “Ahaṃ hime Vajjī evaṃmahiddhike evaṃmahānubhāve uccheccāmi,
He said this: “I will annihilate these Vajjians, who are so successful, so powerful,

vināsessāmi Vajjī, anayabyasanaṃ āpādessāmi Vajjī” ti.
I will destroy the Vajjians, I will bring about the downfall and destruction of the Vajjians”.

¹⁸ cf. AN Bk. 7.22-23. Titles placed in square brackets do not occur in the discourse, but are included to help orientate the reader. BJT and ChS also supply titles, but the divisions and titles often differ from the ones given here.

²¹ The Kingdom of Magadha and the Vajjian Republic were neighbouring countries. According to the Commentary they seem to have been in dispute about control of the trade along the Ganges river. The period the Buddha was living in saw the gradual rise of the Monarchies to power, displacing the Republics until a couple of centuries later the whole of India was eventually united under King Asoka.

Atha kho Rājā Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto,

Then the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom,²²

Vassakāraṃ brāhmaṇaṃ Magadhamahāmattaṃ āmantesi:

addressed the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra, (saying):²³

“Ehi tvaṃ brāhmaṇa yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkama, “Go, brahmin, and approach the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā mama vacanena Bhagavato pāde sirasā vandāhi, and after approaching worship the Gracious One’s feet in my name, appābādhaṃ appātāṅkaṃ lahuṭṭhānaṃ balaṃ phāsuvihāraṃ puccha:

and ask whether he is free from sickness, free from illness, in good health, and living comfortably, (and say):

‘Rājā Bhante Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto Bhagavato pāde sirasā vandati,

‘The Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, reverend Sir, worships with his head at the Gracious One’s feet, appābādhaṃ appātāṅkaṃ lahuṭṭhānaṃ balaṃ phāsuvihāraṃ pucchati.’ ti and asks whether you are free from sickness, free from illness, in good health, and living comfortably.’

Evañ-ca vadehi:

And say this:

‘Rājā Bhante Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto Vajjī abhiyātukāmo.

‘The Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, reverend Sir, desires to attack the Vajjians.

So evam-āha: “Ahaṃ hime Vajjī evaṃmahiddhike evaṃmahānubhāve uccheccāmi,

He says this: “I will annihilate these Vajjians, who are so successful, so powerful,

vināsessāmi Vajjī, anayabyasanaṃ āpādessāmi Vajjī” ti.

I will destroy the Vajjians, I will bring about the downfall and destruction of the Vajjians.”

Yathā ca te Bhagavā byākaroti, taṃ sādhuṅkaṃ uggahetvā, mama āroceyyāsi,

And just what the Gracious One says to you, after learning it well, you must inform me, na hi Tathāgatā vitathaṃ bhaṇanti.” ti for the Realised Ones do not speak falsely.”

²² So the meaning of the phrase is interpreted by the Commentary (Vedehī ti pana paṇḍitādhivacanam-etaṃ). The lady in question was the daughter of a King of Kosala.

²³ We find later on in this discourse that there were two chief ministers under Ajātasattu: Sunīdha and Vassakāra.

“Evaṃ bho” ti kho Vassakāro brāhmaṇo Magadhamahāmatto, “Very well, dear Sir,” and the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra, Raṇṇo Māgadhasa Ajātasattussa Vedehiputtassa paṭissutvā, after replying to the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, bhaddāni bhaddāni yānāni yojāpetvā,²⁴ and having (many) great and august vehicles prepared,

bhaddaṃ bhaddaṃ yānaṃ abhiruhitvā,
and mounting (those) great and august vehicles,

bhaddehi bhaddehi yānehi Rājagahamhā niyyāsi, departed with those great and august vehicles from Rājagaha, yena Gijjhakūṭo Pabbato tena pāyāsi yāvatikā yānassa bhūmi yānena gantvā, and after approaching by vehicle to the Vultures’ Peak Mountain as far as the ground for vehicles (would allow),

yānā paccorohitvā pattiko va yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami, and descending from the vehicles, he approached the Gracious One by foot, upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavatā saddhiṃ sammodi,

and after approaching, he exchanged greetings with the Gracious One,

sammodanīyaṃ kathaṃ sārāṇīyaṃ vītisāretvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.
and after exchanging courteous talk and greetings, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho Vassakāro brāhmaṇo Magadhamahāmatto
While sitting on one side, the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra

Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:
said this to the Gracious One:

“Rājā bho Gotama Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto
“The Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, dear Gotama, bhoto Gotamassa pāde sirasā vandati, worships with his head at dear Gotama’s feet, appābādhaṃ appātaṅkaṃ lahuṭṭhānaṃ balaṃ phāsuvihāraṃ pucchati.

and asks whether you are free from sickness, free from illness, in good health, and living comfortably.²⁵

²⁴ Thai, ChS: yojetvā, which would mean that they prepared, rather than had them prepared.

²⁵ This is an example of what is called elsewhere: courteous talk and greetings (sammodanīyaṃ kathaṃ sārāṇīyaṃ). Notice he doesn’t wait for a reply because it is a formality, and a reply was not expected.

Rājā bho Gotama Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto Vajjī abhiyātukāmo.

The Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, dear Gotama, desires to attack the Vajjians.

So evam-āha: ‘Ahaṃ hime Vajjī evaṃmahiddhike evaṃmahānubhāve uccheccāmi,
He says this: ‘I will annihilate these Vajjians, who are so successful, so powerful,

vināsessāmi Vajjī, anayabyasanam āpādessāmi Vajjī.” ti

I will destroy the Vajjians, I will bring about the downfall and destruction of the Vajjians”.

[Seven Things which Prevent Decline in the Vajjians]²⁷

Tena kho pana समयena āyasmā Ānando

Now at that time venerable Ānanda

Bhagavato piṭṭhito ṭhito hoti Bhagavantam vījamāno.

was stood behind the Gracious One fanning the Gracious One.²⁸

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantam Ānandam āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):²⁹

1) “Kin-ti te Ānanda sutam: ‘Vajjī abhiñhasannipātā sannipātabahulā?’” ti

“Have you heard, Ānanda: ‘The Vajjians assemble regularly and assemble frequently?’”³⁰

“Sutam metam Bhante: ‘Vajjī abhiñhasannipātā sannipātabahulā.’” ti

“I have heard this, reverend Sir: ‘The Vajjians assemble regularly and assemble frequently.’”

²⁶ cf. AN Bk. 7.22-23.

²⁷ The seven things which prevent decline for the Vajjians are echoed later in the first of the seven things that prevent decline for the Saṅgha.

²⁸ For the past 25 years Ānanda had been the Buddha’s main attendant, upaṭṭhāka, which literally means: one who stands near.

²⁹ The Buddha doesn’t reply directly to Vassakāra, but speaks to Ānanda with Vassakāra within listening range, so he can hear and understand.

³⁰ The Commentary explains the importance of meeting regularly and frequently by saying when that is the case they will hear reports affecting the security of the country as they happen and will be able to deal with it there and then.

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda Vajjī abhiñhasannipātā sannipātabahulā bhavissanti

“For as long, Ānanda, as the Vajjians will assemble regularly and assemble frequently vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikañkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.

2) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutāṃ: ‘Vajjī samaggā sannipatanti, samaggā vuṭṭhahanti,

Have you heard, Ānanda: ‘The Vajjians assemble unanimously, rise unanimously, samaggā Vajjīkaraṇīyāni karontī?’” ti

and carry out their Vajjian duties unanimously?’”

“Sutaṃ metaṃ Bhante Vajjī samaggā sannipatanti samaggā vuṭṭhahanti,

“I have heard this, reverend Sir, that the Vajjians assemble unanimously, rise unanimously,

and carry out their Vajjian duties unanimously.”

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda Vajjī samaggā sannipatissanti samaggā vuṭṭhahissanti,

“For as long, Ānanda, as the Vajjians will assemble unanimously, rise unanimously, samaggā Vajjīkaraṇīyāni karissanti,

and carry out their Vajjian duties unanimously,

vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikañkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.

3) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutāṃ: ‘Vajjī apaññattaṃ na paññāpentī,

Have you heard, Ānanda: ‘The Vajjians do not establish (new) laws that were not established,

paññattaṃ na samucchindanti,

(or) cut off (old) laws that were established,

yathāpaññatte porāṇe Vajjīdhamme samādāya vattantī.” ti

and carry on with such laws as were accepted in the Ancient Vajjian Constitution?’” “Sutaṃ metaṃ Bhante: ‘Vajjī apaññattaṃ na paññāpentī,

“I have heard this, reverend Sir: ‘The Vajjians do not establish (new) laws that were not established,

paññattaṃ na samucchindanti,

(or) cut off (old) laws that were established,

yathāpaññatte porāṇe Vajjīdhamme samādāya vattantī.” ti

and they carry on with such laws as were accepted in the Ancient Vajjian Constitution.’”

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda Vajjī apaññattaṃ na paññāpessanti,

“For as long, Ānanda, as the Vajjians do not establish (new) laws that were not established, paññattaṃ na samucchindissanti,

(or) cut off (old) laws that were established,

yathāpaññatte porāṇe Vajjīdhamme samādāya vattissanti

and they carry on with such laws as were accepted in the Ancient Vajjian Constitution

vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.

4) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutam: ‘Vajjī ye te Vajjīnaṃ Vajjimahallakā te sakkaronti

Have you heard, Ānanda: ‘The Vajjians honour the elders of the Vajjians, garukaronti mānenti pūjenti tesañ-ca sotabbaṃ maññantī.” ti respect, revere, worship and think them worth listening to?”

“Sutam metam Bhante: ‘Vajjī ye te Vajjīnaṃ Vajjimahallakā te sakkaronti

“I have heard this, reverend Sir: ‘The Vajjians honour the elders of the Vajjians, garukaronti mānenti pūjenti tesañ-ca sotabbaṃ maññantī.” ti respect, revere, worship and think them worth listening to.”

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda Vajjī ye te Vajjīnaṃ Vajjimahallakā te sakkarissanti,

“For as long, Ānanda, as the Vajjians will honour the elders of the Vajjians, garukarissanti mānessanti pūjessanti tesañ-ca sotabbaṃ maññissanti,

respect, revere, worship and think them worth listening to,

vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.

5) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutam:

Have you heard, Ānanda:

‘Vajjī yā tā kulitthiyo kulakumāriyo tā na okkassa pasayha vāsentī?’” ti

‘The Vajjians do not coerce and force their women and girls to dwell (with them) against their will?’”³¹

“Sutam metam Bhante:

“I have heard this, reverend Sir:

³¹ The parallel to this in the following section reads: For as long as the monks do not come under the influence of craving which has arisen for continued existence; which seems a bit tenuous.

‘Vajjī yā tā kulitthiyo kulakumāriyo tā na okkassa pasayha vāsenti.’” ti
“The Vajjians do not coerce and force their women and girls to dwell (with them) against their will.”

‘Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda,
“For as long, Ānanda,

Vajjī yā tā kulitthiyo kulakumāriyo tā na okkassa pasayha vāsessanti, as the Vajjians will not coerce and force their women and girls to dwell (with them) against their will,

vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.

6) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutam:
Have you heard, Ānanda:

‘Vajjī yāni tāni Vajjīnaṃ Vajjicetiyaṇi,
* ‘The Vajjians honour the Vajjian shrines amongst the Vajjians,

abbhantarāni ceva bāhirāni ca tāni sakkaronti,
both within and without (the city),

garukaronti mānenti pūjenti,
respect, revere, and worship (them),

tesaṇ-ca dinnapubbaṃ katapubbaṃ dhammikaṃ baliṃ no parihāpentī?” ti and do not allow the righteous sacrifices that were formerly given, formerly made, to be neglected?”

‘Sutam metam Bhante:
“I have heard this, reverend Sir:

‘Vajjī yāni tāni Vajjīnaṃ Vajjicetiyaṇi,
* ‘The Vajjians honour the Vajjian shrines amongst the Vajjians,

abbhantarāni ceva bāhirāni ca tāni sakkaronti,
both within and without (the city),

garukaronti mānenti pūjenti,
respect, revere, and worship (them),

tesaṇ-ca dinnapubbaṃ katapubbaṃ dhammikaṃ baliṃ no parihāpentī.” ti
and do not allow the righteous sacrifices that were formerly given, formerly made, to be neglected.”

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda,
“For as long, Ānanda,

Vajjī yāni tāni Vajjīnaṃ Vajjicetiyaṇi,
* as the Vajjians will honour the Vajjian shrines amongst the Vajjians, abbhantarāni ceva bāhirāni ca tāni sakkarissanti,

both within and without (the city),

garukarissanti mānessanti pūjessanti,
respect, revere, and worship (them),

tesañ-ca dinnapubbaṃ katapubbaṃ dhammikaṃ baliṃ no parihāpessanti
and do not allow the righteous sacrifices that were formerly given, formerly made, to be neglected

vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.³²

7) Kin-ti te Ānanda sutam:
Have you heard, Ānanda:

‘Vajjīnaṃ Arahantesu dhammikā rakkhāvaraṇagutti susamvihitā,
‘The Vajjians have made good arrangements in regard to the lawful protection, safety,
and guarding of the Worthy Ones,

kin-ti anāgatā ca Arahanto vijitaṃ āgaccheyyū,
so that Worthy Ones in the future can enter the realm, āgatā ca Arahanto vijite phāsu³³ vihareyyun?’-ti and having entered the Worthy Ones can live comfortably in the realm?’

“Sutam metam Bhante:
“I have heard this, reverend Sir:

‘Vajjīnaṃ Arahantesu dhammikā rakkhāvaraṇagutti susamvihitā,
‘The Vajjians have made good arrangements in regard to the lawful protection, safety,
and guarding of the Worthy Ones,

kin-ti anāgatā ca Arahanto vijitaṃ āgaccheyyū,
and that the Worthy Ones in the future can enter the realm, ³² This gives the lie to the belief that the Buddha opposed all forms of sacrifice. It would seem he was only opposed to those that were against moral principles, like animal sacrifices and the like. Similarly with rites and rituals, it was clinging to them and the mistaken notion that these are sufficient in themselves that the Buddha opposed, not their performance entirely.

³³ ChS: phāsu, here and below, but we need an accusative.

āgatā ca Arahanto vijite phāsum vihareyyun.”-ti

and having entered the Worthy Ones can live comfortably in the realm.”

“Yāvakīvañ-ca Ānanda,

“For as long, Ānanda,

Vajjīnaṃ Arahantesu dhammikā rakkhāvaraṇagutti susaṃvihitā bhavissati, as the Vajjians will make good arrangements in regard to the lawful protection, safety, and guarding of the Worthy Ones, kin-ti anāgatā ca Arahanto vijitaṃ āgaccheyyum,

and that the Worthy Ones in the future can enter the realm,

āgatā ca Arahanto vijite phāsum vihareyyum,

and having entered, the Worthy Ones can live comfortably in the realm, vuḍḍhi yeva Ānanda Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihānī.” ti

surely growth, Ānanda, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.”

Atha kho Bhagavā Vassakāraṃ brāhmaṇaṃ Magadhamahāmattaṃ āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One addressed the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra, (saying):

“Ekam-idāhaṃ brāhmaṇa samayaṃ Vesāliyaṃ viharāmi Sārandaḍe Cetiye

“At one time, brahmin, I was living near Vesālī near to the Sārandaḍa Shrine

tatrāhaṃ Vajjīnaṃ ime satta aparihāniye dhamme desesiṃ.

and there I taught the Vajjians these seven things which prevent decline.”³⁴

Yāvakīvañ-ca brāhmaṇa ime satta aparihāniyā dhammā Vajjīsu ṭhassanti,

For as long, brahmin, as the Vajjians maintain these seven things which prevent decline, imesu ca sattasu aparihāniyesu dhammesu Vajjī sandississanti, and the Vajjians agree with these seven things which prevent decline, vuḍḍhi yeva brāhmaṇa Vajjīnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihānī.” ti surely growth, brahmin, is to be expected for the Vajjians not decline.”

Evam vutte Vassakāro brāhmaṇo Magadhamahāmatto Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

After this was said, the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra addressed the Gracious One, (saying):

³⁴ This discourse is preserved at AN Bk 7.21. The Buddha often seems to have stayed at or near Shrines, as we will see later in this discourse.

;“Ekam-ekena pi bho Gotama aparihāṇiyena dhammena samannāgatānaṃ Vajjīnaṃ, “If the Vajjians, dear Gotama, were endowed with even one or the other of these seven things which prevent decline, vuḍḍhi yeva pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāṇi, surely growth is to be expected not decline,

ko pana vādo sattahi aparihāṇiyehi dhammehi?
what to say about having seven things which prevent decline?

Akaraṇīyā va bho Gotama Vajjī Raññā Māgadhena Ajātasattunā Vedehiputtana,
The Vajjians cannot be overcome, dear Gotama, by the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, yad-idaṃ yuddhassa³⁵ aññatra upalāpanāya aññatra mithubhedāya.

by war, but only through diplomacy, or through the breaking of an alliance.³⁶

Handa ca dāni mayaṃ bho Gotama gacchāma bahukiccā mayaṃ bahukaraṇīyā.” ti
And now, dear Gotama, we shall go, as we have many duties, and there is much which ought to be done.”

“Yassa dāni tvaṃ brāhmaṇa kālaṃ maññasī.” ti
“Now is the time, brahmin, for whatever you are thinking.”³⁷

Atha kho Vassakāro brāhmaṇo Magadhamahāmatto,
Then the Magadhan chief minister the brahmin Vassakāra,

Bhagavato bhāsitaṃ abhinanditvā anumoditvā utthāyāsanaṃ pakkāmi.
after greatly rejoicing and gladly receiving this word of the Gracious One, rose from his seat and departed.

³⁶ According to the Commentary King Ajātasattu and his chief minister concocted an elaborate plan and did in fact manage to destroy the Vajjians three years after the Buddha’s parinibbāna, by sowing dissension and breaking up their unity.

³⁷ This is a polite way of giving permission to leave.

[Seven Things which Prevent Decline in the Community (1-7)]

Atha kho Bhagavā acirapakkante Vassakāre brāhmaṇe Magadhamahāmatte, Then the Gracious One, not long after the Magadhan chief minister, the brahmin Vassakāra, had gone,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Gaccha tvaṃ Ānanda yāvatikā bhikkhū Rājagahaṃ upanissāya viharanti, “Go, Ānanda, and whatever monks there are living in dependence on Rājagaha,³⁹

te sabbe Upaṭṭhānasālāyaṃ sannipātehi.” ti assemble them in the Attendance Hall.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paṭissutvā,
“Very well, reverend Sir,” said venerable Ānanda, and after replying to the Gracious One,

yāvatikā bhikkhū Rājagahaṃ upanissāya viharanti
* and assembling whatever monks there were living in dependence on Rājagaha te sabbe Upaṭṭhānasālāyaṃ sannipātetvā yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami, in the Attendance Hall, he approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantaṃ abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ aṭṭhāsi.
and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he stood on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ ṭhito kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:
While standing on one side venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Sannipatito Bhante Bhikkhusaṅgho,
“The Community of monks have assembled, reverend Sir, yassa dāni Bhante Bhagavā kālaṃ maññasī.” ti now is the time, Gracious One, for whatever you are thinking.”

Atha kho Bhagavā uṭṭhāyāsanaṃ yena Upaṭṭhānasālā tenupasaṅkami, Then the Gracious One after rising from his seat approached the Attendance Hall, upasaṅkamitvā paññatte āsane nisīdi.

and after approaching he sat down on the prepared seat.

³⁸ cf. AN Bk. 7.23.

³⁹ Living in dependence is an idiom which means subsisting on alms food (in the city).

Nisajja kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

While sitting the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Satta vo bhikkhave aparihāniye dhamme desessāmi,

“I will teach you seven things which prevent decline, taṃ suṇātha sādhukaṃ manasikarotha bhāsissāmi.” ti listen to it, apply your minds well, and I will speak.”⁴⁰

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho te bhikkhū Bhagavato paccassosum,

“Very well, reverend Sir,” those monks replied to the Gracious One,

Bhagavā etad-avoca:

and the Gracious One said this:

1) “Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū

“For as long, monks, as the monks

abhiṇhasannipātā sannipātabahulā bhavissanti, will assemble regularly and assemble frequently,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.”⁴¹

2) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū

For as long, monks, as the monks

samaggā sannipatissanti samaggā vuṭṭhahissanti, will assemble unanimously, rise unanimously,

samaggā Saṅghakaraṇīyāni karissanti, and carry out their Community duties unanimously,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.

surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

3) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū

For as long, monks, as the monks

apaññattaṃ na paññāpessanti paññattaṃ na samucchindissanti, do not establish (new) laws that were not established, (or) cut off (old) laws that were established,”⁴²

⁴¹ The Commentary explains that when they assemble regularly and frequently they will hear of faults in the Community and quickly correct them, and lax monks will soon leave the Community.

yathāpaññattesu sikkhāpadesu samādāya vattissanti, and they carry on with such training-rules as have been accepted,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

4) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū ye te bhikkhū therā,
* For as long, monks, as the monks will honour the elder monks, rattaññū cirapabbajitā Saṅghapitaro Saṅghaparināyakā te sakkarissanti those of long-standing, a long time gone-forth, the Fathers of the Community, the Leaders of the Community,

garukarissanti mānessanti pūjessanti tesañ-ca sotabbaṃ maññissanti,
respect, revere, worship and think them worth listening to,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

5) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū
For as long, monks, as the monks

uppannāya taṇhāya ponobhavikāya na vasaṃ gacchissanti, will not come under the influence of craving which has arisen for continued existence,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

6) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū
For as long, monks, as the monks

āraññakesu senāsanesu sāpekkhā bhavissanti, will have desire for forest dwellings,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

7) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū paccattañ-ñeva satim upaṭṭhapessanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks individually will attend to the ways of mindfulness, kin-ti anāgatā ca pesalā sabrahmacārī āgaccheyyum, so that their fellow celibates, who are well-behaved, in the future can come, ⁴² The Commentary gives as an example of the latter the 10 practices that the Vesālī monks tried to change which eventually caused the 2nd Council (see Vin. II, p. 293ff). However, later in the discourse the Buddha will allow the monks to abrogate the minor rules (see 39: The Final Advice, below).

āgatā ca pesalā sabrahmacārī phāsum vihareyyum, and having come to their fellow celibates, who are well-behaved, can live comfortably,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave ime satta aparihāniyā dhammā bhikkhūsu ṭhassanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks will maintain these seven things which prevent decline, imesu ca sattasu aparihāniyesu dhammesu bhikkhū sandissanti, and the monks will agree with these seven things which prevent decline,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho te bhikkhū Bhagavato paccassosum,
“Very well, reverend Sir,” those monks replied to the Gracious One,

Bhagavā etad-avoca:
and the Gracious One said this:

1) “Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na kammārāmā bhavissanti,
* “For as long, monks, as the monks are not devoted to the pleasure in work,

surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

⁴³ cf. AN Bk. 7.24. I believe this and the next four sections are additions. See the Introduction.

⁴⁴ The Commentary explains that the monks should, of course, do their duties at the proper time, and devote themselves to study and meditation at other times.

2) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na bhassārāmā bhavissanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks are not devoted to the pleasure in speech, na bhassaratā, na bhassārāmataṃ anuyuttā,

the delight in speech, and are not attached to speech,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.⁴⁵

3) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na niddārāmā bhavissanti
For as long, monks, as the monks are not devoted to the pleasure in sleep, na niddāratā na niddārāmataṃ anuyuttā,

the delight in sleep, and are not attached to sleep,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

4) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na saṅgaṇikārāmā bhavissanti
For as long, monks, as the monks are not devoted to the pleasure of company, na saṅgaṇikāratā na saṅgaṇikārāmataṃ anuyuttā,

the delight in company, and are not attached to company,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

5) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na pāpicchā bhavissanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks do not have evil wishes, na pāpikānaṃ icchānaṃ vasaṃ gatā,

do not go under the influence of evil wishes,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

6) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū na pāpamittā bhavissanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks do not have wicked friends, na pāpasahāyā na pāpasampavaṅkā,

do not have wicked companions, do not have wicked comrades, ⁴⁵ The sort of speech meant is frivolous talk. Talking about Dhamma is encouraged. In the Udāna the Buddha said monks should either talk about the Dhamma or maintain noble silence (e.g. Ud. 2-2).

surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.⁴⁶

7) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū
For as long, monks, as the monks

na oramattakena visesādhigamena antarā vosānaṃ āpajjissanti, do not achieve only mundane or incomplete attainment,⁴⁷

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave ime satta aparihāniyā dhammā bhikkhūsu ṭhassanti,
For as long, monks, as the monks will maintain these seven things which prevent decline,

imesu ca sattasu aparihāniyesu dhammesu bhikkhū sandississanti,
and the monks will agree with these seven things which prevent decline,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikaṅkhā no parihāni.

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikañkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.⁵⁶

⁵³ cf. AN Bk. 7.27.

⁵⁴ These are known as the Seven Perceptions (Sattasaññā), see Saṅgītisuttaṃ (DN 33). Compare it with the 10 perceptions that were taught to Ven. Girimānanda (AN 10.60), which include these seven, and add: the perception of non-delight in the whole world (sabbaloke anabhiratasaññā), the perception of impermanence in all processes (sabbasañkhāresu aniccaaññā), mindfulness while breathing (ānāpānasati).

⁵⁵ The teaching of non-self may be said to be the most characteristic thing about the Buddha’s teaching, which sets it apart from the other religions both then and now.

⁵⁶ The perception of the unattractive is defined as reflecting on the 32 parts of the body, such as the hairs of the head, body hairs, nails, teeth, skin.

4) Yāvakīvañ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhū ādīnavasaññaṃ bhāveṣanti,

For as long, monks, as the monks will maintain these seven things which prevent decline,

imesu ca sattasu aparihāniyesu dhammesu bhikkhū sandississanti,
and the monks will agree with these seven things which prevent decline,

vuḍḍhi yeva bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ pāṭikañkhā no parihāni.
surely growth, monks, is to be expected for the monks, not decline.

⁵⁷ The perception of danger means seeing how the body is subject to all sorts of diseases and other ailments.

⁵⁸ The perception of giving up means giving up wrong intention and establishing right intention (sammāsaṅkappa).

⁵⁹ The perception of dispassion and the following perception of cessation are defined as retiring to a quiet place and attaining nibbāna.

For as long, monks, as the monks (are endowed with) that which is Ariyan View, which leads out, niyyāti takkarassa sammādukkhakkhayāya, which leads to the complete destruction of suffering for one who acts thus,

⁶² The Commentary defines friendly acts by way of the body as referring to the rules of etiquette recorded in the Khandakas, such as the reciprocal duties between teachers and students, etc.; friendly acts by way of speech as giving instruction in the Discipline, meditation, and the Teaching; and friendly acts by way of the mind as developing friendliness meditation (mettabhāvanā).

⁶⁴ PTS inserts diṭṭhāsavā here and in similar places throughout. The original formula seems to have been three-fold, and including a fourth term seems to be a later addition (though already found in the discourses).

⁶⁵ The name means the Place of the Mango Sapling. The Buddha often stayed there while on tour, and on other occasions preached e.g. the Brahmajālasuttaṃ (DN 1), and Ambalaṭṭhika-Rāhulovādasuttaṃ (MN 61) there.

[Sāriputta’s Lion’s Roar]

Atha kho Bhagavā Ambalaṭṭhikāyaṃ yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā,

Then the Gracious One, after living near Ambalaṭṭhikā for as long as he liked,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena Nālandā tad-avasari.

Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Nālandā.

⁶⁶ cf. Nālandasuttaṃ (SN 47:12) and the beginning of Sampasādanīyasuttaṃ (DN 28). Rhys-Davids suggested that this passage may have been the one referred to in Asoka’s Bhabra Edict, and known as Upatissapucchā (Upatissa was ven Sāriputta’s given name, Sāriputta = Son of Sārī). If so, then the title means, not Upatissa’s Questions (a kammadhāraya compound), but Questions to Upatissa (a tappurisa compound).

⁶⁷ Nālandā was only a league away from Rājagaha (about 7 - 10 kilometres). At other times it was the setting for the Kevaṭṭasuttaṃ (DN 11) and Upālisuttaṃ (MN 56) amongst others. It became the seat of the largest Buddhist University in India.

Tatra sudam̐ Bhagavā Nāḷandāyaṃ viharati Pāvārikambavane.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho āyasmā Sāriputto Bhagavantam̐ etad-avoca:

While sitting on one side venerable Sāriputta said this to the Gracious One:

“Evaṃ pasanno ahaṃ Bhante Bhagavati:

Atha kiñ-cetarahi te ayam Sāriputta

Then how is it, Sāriputta, at present that you uḷārā āsabhivācā bhāsītā ekaṃso gahito sīhanādo nadito:

have spoken (such) a great and imposing speech, a definite, (well-)grasped, lion’s roar that was roared, (saying):

‘Evam pasanno ahaṃ Bhante Bhagavati:

‘I have confidence, reverend Sir, in the Gracious One in this way:

na cāhu na ca bhavissati na cetarahi vijjati that neither in the past, the future, or at present is there found

añño samaṇo vā brāhmaṇo vā

another ascetic or brahmin

Bhagavatā bhiyyobhiññataro yad-idaṃ Sambodhiyaṃ’?”-ti who has more deep knowledge in regard to Perfect Awakening than the Gracious One’?”

“Na kho me Bhante atītānāgatapaccuppannesu Arahantesu Sammāsambuddhesu

“I do not, reverend Sir, in regard to those past, future, and present Worthy and Perfect Sambuddhas cetopariyaññāṇaṃ atthi.

have full and exact knowledge with (my own) mind.

Api ca me Dhammanvayo vidito.

However, I understand (what I said) is in conformity with the Teaching.

Seyyathā pi Bhante Rañño paccantimaṃ nagaraṃ,

It is like a King’s city, reverend Sir, near the border areas, daḷhuddāpaṃ daḷhapākāratoraṇaṃ ekadvāraṃ, having strong foundations, strong walls and gateways, and a single door, tatrassa dovāriko paṇḍito viyatto medhāvī, and there is a watchman, wise, accomplished, and intelligent,

aññātānaṃ nivāretā ñātānaṃ pavesetā.

warding off those unknown, and letting through those well-known.

So tassa nagarassa samantā anupariyāyapathaṃ anukkamaṃāno

While going around the road on inspection through the whole of that city na passeyya pākārasandhiṃ vā pākāravivaraṃ vā

he may not see (such) fissures in the wall or openings in the wall antamaso biḷāranikkhamanamattam-pi, tassa evam-assa, that even a cat could go out through, it may be so,

‘Ye kho keci oḷārikā pāṇā imaṃ nagaraṃ pavisanti vā nikkhamanti vā

(but he knows): ‘Whatever grosser beings enter or depart from this city

sabbe te iminā va dvārena pavisanti vā nikkhamanti vā.’ ti all of them surely enter or depart through this door.’

Evam-eva kho me Bhante dhammanvayo vidito,

Similarly, reverend Sir, I understand it is in conformity with the Teaching, ye te Bhante ahesuṃ atītam-addhānaṃ Arahanto Sammāsambuddhā, that whoever, reverend Sir, in the past times, are Worthy Ones, Perfect Sambuddhas, sabbe te Bhagavanto, pañca nīvaraṇe pahāya,

all those Gracious Ones, after giving up the five hindrances,⁶⁹

cetaso upakkilese paññāya dubbalīkaṇe,

have penetrated with wisdom the corruptions of the mind that make one feeble,

cātūsu satipaṭṭhānesu supatīṭṭhitacittā,

have established their minds in the four ways of attending to mindfulness,⁷⁰

Sattabojjhaṅge yathābhūtaṃ bhāvetvā,

and after developing just as it is the Seven Factors of Awakening,⁷¹

anuttaraṃ Sammāsambodhiṃ abhisambujjhimsu.

have awakened to the unsurpassed and Perfect Awakening.

Ye pi te Bhante bhavissanti anāgataṃ-addhānaṃ Arahanto Sammāsambuddhā

That whoever, reverend Sir, in the future times, are Worthy Ones, Perfect Sambuddhas

sabbe te Bhagavanto, pañca nīvaraṇe pahāya,

all those Gracious Ones, after giving up the five hindrances,

cetaso upakkilese paññāya dubbalīkaṇe,

and penetrating with wisdom the corruptions of the mind that make one feeble,

cātūsu satipaṭṭhānesu supatīṭṭhitacittā,

and establishing their minds in the four ways of attending to mindfulness,

Sattabojjhaṅge yathābhūtaṃ bhāvetvā,

and developing just as it is the Seven Factors of Awakening, ⁶⁹ The five hinderances (pañcanīvaraṇa) are sensuality (kāmacchanda), ill-will (byāpāda), sloth and torpor (thīnamiddha), worry (kukkucca), and doubt (vicikicchā).

⁷⁰ Attending to mindfulness of the body (kāyānupassanā), feelings (vedanānupassanā), mind (cittānupassanā), and (the nature of various) things (dhammānupassanā). See my text and translation of Mahāsatipaṭṭhānasuttaṃ elsewhere on this website.

⁷¹ The Seven Factors of Awakening (sattabhojjāṅgā) are mindfulness (sati), investigation of (the nature of) things (dhammavicaya), energy (virīya), joyful-interest (pīti), calmness (passaddhi), concentration (samādhi), and equanimity (upekkhā).

anuttaram Sammāsambodhim abhisambujjhissanti.

will awaken to the unsurpassed and Perfect Awakening.

Bhagavā pi Bhante etarahi Araham Sammāsambuddho,

And the Gracious One, reverend Sir, in the present time, the Worthy One, the Perfect Sambuddha, pañca nīvaraṇe pahāya,

(also) after giving up the five hindrances,

cetaso upakkilese paññāya dubbalīkaṇe,

has penetrated with wisdom the corruptions of the mind that make one feeble, cetūsu satipaṭṭhānesu supatiṭṭhitacitto, has established his mind in the four ways of attending to mindfulness,

Sattabojjhaṅge yathābhūtaṁ bhāvetvā, and after developing just as it is the Seven Factors of Awakening, anuttaram Sammāsambodhim abhisambuddho.” ti has awoken to the unsurpassed and Perfect Awakening.”

Tatra pi sudam Bhagavā Nālandāyaṁ viharanto Pāvārikambavane,

There also the Gracious One, while living near Nālandā in Pāvārika’s Mango Wood, etad-eva bahulaṁ bhikkhūnaṁ Dhammiṁ kathaṁ karoti:

spoke frequently to the monks about the Teaching, (saying):

“Iti sīlaṁ, iti samādhi, iti paññā,

“Such is virtue, such is concentration, such is wisdom,

sīlaparibhāvito samādhi mahapphalo hoti mahānisaṁso,

when virtue is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to concentration,

samādhiparibhāvitā paññā mahapphalā hoti mahānisaṁsā,

when concentration is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to wisdom,

paññāparibhāvitam cittam sammad-eva āsavehi vimuccati,

when wisdom is well-developed the mind is completely liberated from the pollutants, seyyathīdam: kāmāsavā bhavāsavā avijjāsavā.” ti that is to say: the pollutant of sensuality, the pollutant of (craving for) continued existence, the pollutant of ignorance.”

[11: Sīlānisamsā]⁷²
[The Advantages of Virtue]

Atha kho Bhagavā Nālandāyaṃ yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā, Then the Gracious One, after living near Nālandā for as long as he liked,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāṃ’ Ānanda yena Pāṭaligāmo tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti “Come Ānanda let us approach Pāṭaligāma.”⁷³

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks yena Pāṭaligāmo tad-avasari.

arrived at Pāṭaligāma.

Assosum kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā: “Bhagavā kira Pāṭaligāmaṃ anuppatto.” ti
The laymen of Pāṭaligāma heard: “The Gracious One, it seems, had reached Pāṭaligāma.”

Atha kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkamiṃsu, Then the laymen of Pāṭaligāma approached the Gracious One, upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantaṃ abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdiṃsu.
and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, they sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinnā kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā Bhagavantaṃ etad-avocum:
While sitting on one side, the laymen of Pāṭaligāma said this to the Gracious One:

“Adhivāsetu no Bhante Bhagavā āvasathāgāran.”-ti
“May the Gracious One consent, reverend Sir, to (stay in) our rest house.”⁷⁴

⁷² cf. Pāṭaligāmiyasuttaṃ, Part One (Ud. 8-6); Bhessajjakkhandaṃ: Pāṭaligāmatthū, Vin. Mhv. 1.226-228.

⁷³ The modern Patna, it was also known as Pāṭaliputta and Pāṭaliputra. It became the capital of the Magadhan state some time after the Buddha’s Parinibbāna, and before King Asoka’s reign.

⁷⁴ The Commentary to the Udāna explains that this rest house had never been used before and they wanted the Buddha to bless it by being the first person to stay there. Even now in Buddhist countries it is quite common to ask monks to bless a new house by staying there first before the owners move in.

Adhivāsesi Bhagavā tuṇhībhāvena.

The Gracious One consented by maintaining silence.

Atha kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā Bhagavato adhivāsanam viditvā,

Then the laymen of Pāṭaligāma, having understood the Gracious One's consent, uṭṭhāyāsanā, Bhagavantam abhivādetvā padakkhiṇam katvā, after rising from their seats, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One,

yena āvasathāgāram tenupasaṅkamimsu, approached their rest house,

upasaṅkamitvā, sabbasantharim āvasathāgāram santharitvā, and after approaching, and spreading (the mats) so that the rest house was spread all over,

āsanāni paññāpetvā, udakamaṇikam patitṭhāpetvā, and preparing the seats, setting up the water-pot, telappadīpaṃ āropetvā, yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkamimsu, and lighting the oil-lamp, they approached the Gracious One, upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antam atṭham su.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, they stood on one side.

Ekam-antam thitā kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā Bhagavantam etad-avocum:

While standing on one side, the laymen of Pāṭaligāma said this to the Gracious One:

“Sabbasantharisanthataṃ Bhante āvasathāgāram,

“The rest house is spread with mats all over, reverend Sir, āsanāni paññattāni, udakamaṇiko patitṭhāpito, telappadīpo āropito, the seats are prepared, the water-pot is set up, and the oil-lamp is lit, yassa dāni Bhante Bhagavā kālam maññatī.” ti now is the time, reverend Sir, for whatever the Gracious One is thinking.”

Atha kho Bhagavā sāyanhasamayam nivāsetvā, pattacīvaram-ādāya,

Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the evening time, after picking up his bowl and robe, saddhim Bhikkhusaṅghena, yena āvasathāgāram tenupasaṅkami, together with the Community of monks, approached the rest house, upasaṅkamitvā, pāde pakkhāletvā, āvasathāgāram pavisitvā, and after approaching, washing his feet, and entering the rest house, majjhimam thambham nissāya puratthābhimukho nisīdi,

he sat down near to the middle pillar, facing the East,

Bhikkhusaṅgho pi kho pāde pakkhāletvā, āvasathāgāraṃ pavisitvā, and the Community of monks, after washing their feet, and entering the rest house, pacchimaṃ bhittiṃ nissāya puratthābhimukho nisīdi, sat down (behind the Gracious One) near the West wall, facing the East, Bhagavantaṃ yeva purakkhatvā.

having the Gracious One in front (of them).

Pāṭaligāmiyā pi kho upāsakā, pāde pakkhāletvā,
Also the laymen of Pāṭaligāma, after washing their feet, āvasathāgāraṃ pavisitvā, puratthimaṃ bhittiṃ nissāya and entering the rest house, sat down (in front of the Gracious One) near the East wall, pacchimābhimukhā nisīdiṃsu, Bhagavantaṃ yeva purakkhatvā.

facing the West, having the Gracious One in front (of them).

Atha kho Bhagavā Pāṭaligāmiye upāsake āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed the laymen of Pāṭaligāma, (saying):

“Pañcime gahapatayo ādīnavā dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.
“There are these five dangers, householders, for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

Katame pañca?
What are the five?

1) Idha gahapatayo dussīlo sīlavipanno,
Here, householders, one lacking in virtue, one who has lost his virtue, pamādādhikaraṇaṃ mahatiṃ bhogajāniṃ nigacchati.

because of being heedless undergoes a great loss of riches.

Ayaṃ paṭhamo ādīnavo dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.
This is the first danger for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

2) Puna caparaṃ gahapatayo dussīlassa sīlavipannassa, Furthermore, householders, for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue, pāpako kittisaddo abbhuggacchati.

a bad report goes round.

Ayaṃ dutiyo ādīnavo dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.
This is the second danger for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

3) Puna caparam gahapatayo dussīlo sīlavipanno,

Furthermore, householders, one lacking in virtue, one who has lost his virtue,

whatever assembly he approaches,

yadi Khattiyaparisam yadi brāhmaṇaparisam,

whether an assembly of Nobles, or an assembly of brahmins,

yadi gahapatiparisam yadi samaṇaparisam,

or an assembly of householders, or an assembly of ascetics, avisārado upasaṅkamati maṅkubhūto.

he approaches without confidence, with confusion.

Ayam tatiyo ādīnavo dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.

This is the third danger for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

4) Puna caparam gahapatayo dussīlo sīlavipanno,

Furthermore, householders, one lacking in virtue, one who has lost his virtue, sammūlho kālam karoti.

Ayam catuttho ādīnavo dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.

This is the fourth danger for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

5) Puna caparam gahapatayo dussīlo sīlavipanno,

Furthermore, householders, one lacking in virtue, one who has lost his virtue,

kāyassa bhedā, param-maraṇā, apāyam duggatiṃ vinipātam nirayam upapajjati.

at the break-up of the body, after death, arises in the lower world, in an unfortunate destiny, in the fall, in the nether regions.

Ayam pañcama ādīnavo dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.

This is the fifth danger for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

Ime kho gahapatayo pañca ādīnavā dussīlassa sīlavipattiyā.

These are the five dangers, householders, for one lacking in virtue, for one who has lost his virtue.

Pañcime gahapatayo ānisaṃsā sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

There are these five advantages, householders, for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.⁷⁵

⁷⁵ The dangers (ādīnavā) and advantages (ānisaṃsā) are often mentioned as antonyms in the discourses; what follows are the exact opposite of the dangers listed above.

Katame pañca?

What are the five?

1) Idha gahapatayo sīlavā sīlasampanno,

Here, householders, one who is virtuous, one accomplished in virtue, appamādādhikaraṇaṃ mahantaṃ bhogakkhandhaṃ adhigacchati.

because of being heedful obtains a great mass of riches.

Ayaṃ paṭhamo ānisaṃso sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

This is the first advantage for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.

2) Puna caparaṃ gahapatayo sīlavato sīlasampanna,

Furthermore, householders, of one who is virtuous, of one accomplished in virtue, kalyāṇo kittisaddo abbhugacchati.

Ayaṃ dutiyo ānisaṃso sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

This is the second advantage for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.

3) Puna caparaṃ gahapatayo sīlavā sīlasampanno,

Furthermore, householders, one who is virtuous, one accomplished in virtue,

yaññad-eva parisāṃ upasaṅkamati,

whatever assembly he approaches,

yadi Khattiyaparisāṃ yadi brāhmaṇaparisāṃ,

whether an assembly of Nobles, or an assembly of brahmins,

yadi gahapatiparisāṃ yadi samaṇaparisāṃ,

or an assembly of householders, or an assembly of ascetics,

visārado upasaṅkamati amaṅkubhūto.

he approaches with confidence, without confusion.

Ayaṃ tatiyo ānisaṃso sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

This is the third advantage for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.

4) Puna caparaṃ gahapatayo sīlavā sīlasampanno,

Furthermore, householders, one who is virtuous, one accomplished in virtue, asammūḷho kālaṃ karoti.

Ayaṃ catuttho ānisaṃso sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

This is the fourth advantage for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.

5) Puna caparam gahapatayo sīlavā sīlasampanno,

Furthermore, householders, one who is virtuous, one accomplished in virtue, kāyassa bhedā param-maraṇā sugatim Saggam lokam upapajjati.

at the break-up of the body, after death, arises in a fortunate destiny, in a Heavenly world.

Ayam pañcama ānisaṃso sīlavato sīlasampadāya.

This is the fifth advantage for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.

Ime kho gahapatayo pañca ānisaṃsā sīlavato sīlasampadāyā.” ti

These are the five advantages, householders, for one who is virtuous, for one accomplished in virtue.”

Atha kho Bhagavā, Pāṭaligāmiye upāsake, bahud-eva rattim Dhammiyā kathāya

* Then the Gracious One, after instructing, rousing, enthusing, and cheering the laymen of Pāṭaligāma sandassetvā samādapetvā samuttejetvā sampahaṃsetvā, uyyojesi:

for most of the night with a talk about the Teaching,⁷⁶ dismissed them, (saying):

“Abhikkantā kho gahapatayo ratti,

“The night has passed, householders, yassa dāni tumhe kālam maññathā.” ti

now is the time for whatever you are thinking.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho Pāṭaligāmiyā upāsakā Bhagavato paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir,” said those laymen of Pāṭaligāma, and after replying to the Gracious One, utthāyāsanaṃ Bhagavantam abhivādetvā padakkhiṇaṃ katvā, pakkamimsu.

rising from their seats, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One, they went away.

Atha kho Bhagavā, acirapakkantesu Pāṭaligāmiyesu upāsakesu,

Then the Gracious One, not long after the laymen of Pāṭaligāma had gone, suññāgāraṃ pāvisi.

entered an empty place.⁷⁷

⁷⁶ The Commentary explains that this was a teaching and a blessing that was not recorded by the elders at the First Council.

⁷⁷ The Commentary explains that the monks screened off an area of the rest house, and the Buddha lay down in the lion's posture (sīhāsana) to rest for a while.

[12: Pāṭaligāmaṃpanāṃ]⁷⁸
[Building up Pāṭaligāma]

Tena kho pana samayena Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā
Now at that time the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra⁷⁹

Pāṭaligāme nagaram māpenti Vajjīnaṃ paṭibāhāya.
were building up a city at Pāṭaligāma to ward off the Vajjians.⁸⁰

Tena kho pana samayena sambahulā Devatāyo, sahasasahasveva, Then at that time a great many Divinities, thousands upon thousands,

Pāṭaligāme vatthūni parigaṇhanti.
were taking possession of grounds at Pāṭaligāma.

Yasmiṃ padese mahesakkhā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,
In that place where the great Divinities took possession of grounds,

mahesakkhānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni
there the powerful rulers and great royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.
inclined to building up residences.

Yasmiṃ padese majjhimā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,
In that place where the middling Divinities took possession of grounds,

majjhimānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni
there the middling rulers and middling royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.
inclined to building up residences.

Yasmiṃ padese nīcā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,
In that place where the lower Divinities took possession of grounds, ⁷⁸ cf. Pāṭaligāmiyasuttaṃ, Part Two (Ud. 8-6); Bhessajjakkhandaṃ: Sunīdhavassakāravatthu, Vin. Mhv. 1.228-230.

⁷⁹ Other versions of this discourse do not mention Sunīdha. According to the Commentary they were both brahmins, not nobles, which shows that the class system was not strictly applied at this time.

⁸⁰ Remember the dispute between the Magadhans and the Vajjīs mentioned above was over control of the trade along the River Ganges. Pāṭaligāma stood just across the waters from the Vajjī territories, and was strategically placed on the bank of that great River. Later the capital of Magadha was to move from Rājagaha (which was somewhat inland) to Pāṭaligāma (a.k.a. Pāṭaliputta).

nīcānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni
there the lower rulers and lower royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.
inclined to building up residences.

Addasā kho Bhagavā Dibbena cakkhunā,
The Gracious One saw with his Divine-eye,

visuddhena atikkantamānusakena,
which is purified, and surpasses that of (normal) men,

tā Devatāyo sahasasahasveva Pāṭaligāme vatthūni parigaṇhantiyo.
that those Divinities, thousands upon thousands, were taking possession of grounds at Pāṭaligāma.

Atha kho Bhagavā rattiyaṃ paccūsasamaye paccuṭṭhāya, Then towards the time of dawn, having risen from his seat, the Gracious One

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Ko nu kho Ānanda Pāṭaligāme nagaraṃ māpetī?” ti
“Now who, Ānanda, is building a city at Pāṭaligāma?”

“Sunīdha-Vassakārā Bhante Magadhamahāmattā
“The Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra, reverend Sir, Pāṭaligāme nagaraṃ māpenti Vajjīnaṃ paṭibāhāyā.” ti are building up a city at Pāṭaligāma to ward off the Vajjians.”

“Seyyathā pi Ānanda Devehi Tāvatiṃsehi saddhiṃ mantetvā, “It is just as though, Ānanda, (they are building) after consulting with the Tāvatiṃsa Divinities, evam-eva kho Ānanda Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā

so, Ānanda, are the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra Pāṭaligāme nagaraṃ māpenti Vajjīnaṃ paṭibāhāyā.

building up a city at Pāṭaligāma to ward off the Vajjians.

Idhāhaṃ Ānanda addasaṃ Dibbena cakkhunā,

Here, Ānanda, I saw with my Divine-eye,

visuddhena atikkantamānusakena,

which is purified, and surpasses that of (normal) men,

sambahulā Devatāyo sahasasahasveva Pāṭaligāme vatthūni parigaṇhantiyo.

that a great many Divinities, thousands upon thousands, were taking possession of grounds at Pāṭaligāma.

Yasmiṃ padese mahesakkhā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,

In that place where the great Divinities took possession of grounds,

mahesakkhānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni

there the powerful rulers and great royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.

Yasmiṃ padese majjhimā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,

In that place where the middling Divinities took possession of grounds,

majjhimānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni

there the middling rulers and middling royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.

Yasmiṃ padese nīcā Devatā vatthūni parigaṇhanti,

In that place where the lower Divinities took possession of grounds,

nīcānaṃ tattha raññaṃ rājamahāmattānaṃ cittāni

there the lower rulers and lower royal ministers' minds

namanti nivesanāni māpetuṃ.

Yāvatā Ānanda Ariyaṃ āyatanam, yāvatā vaṇippatho,

For as long, Ānanda, as there is an Ariyan sphere (of influence), for as long as there is trade, idaṃ agganagaraṃ bhavissati Pāṭaliputtaṃ puṭabhedanam.

this basket-opening Pāṭaliputta will be the chief city.

Pāṭaliputtassa kho Ānanda tayo antarāyā bhavissanti:

For Pāṭaliputta, Ānanda, there will be three dangers:

aggito vā udakato vā mithubhedā vā.” ti from fire and from water and from the breaking of an alliance.”⁸¹

Atha kho Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā

Then the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra

yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkamimsu, upasaṅkamtivā Bhagavatā saddhim sammodimsu,

approached the Gracious One, and after approaching, they exchanged greetings with the Gracious One, sammodanīyaṃ kathaṃ sārāṇīyaṃ vītisāretvā, ekam-antaṃ aṭṭhaṃsu.

and after exchanging courteous talk and greetings, they stood on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ ṭhitā kho Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā

While standing on one side the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra

Bhagavantaṃ etad-avocuṃ:

said this to the Gracious One:

“Adhivāsetu no bhavaṃ Gotamo,

“May dear Gotama consent to us ajjatanāya bhattaṃ saddhim Bhikkhusaṅghenā.” ti (offering him) a meal today, together with the Community of monks.”

Adhivāsesi Bhagavā tuṇhībhāvena.

The Gracious One consented by maintaining silence.

Atha kho Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā

Then the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra

Bhagavato adhivāsanaṃ veditvā, yena sako āvasatho tenupasaṅkamimsu, having understood the Gracious One’s consent, approached their own dwelling, upasaṅkamtivā, sake āvasathe,

and after approaching, in their own dwellings,

⁸¹ The Commentary explains that vā here has the sense of and rather than the usual or meaning (ca-kārattho vā-saddo).

paṇītaṃ khādanīyaṃ bhojanīyaṃ paṭiyādāpetvā, having had excellent foodstuffs made ready,⁸²

Bhagavato kālaṃ ārocāpesuṃ: “Kālo bho Gotama niṭṭhitaṃ bhattan.”-ti had the time announced to the Gracious One, (saying): “It is time, dear Gotama, the meal is ready.”

Atha kho Bhagavā, pubbaṇhasamayāṃ nivāsetvā,
Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the morning time,

pattacīvaram-ādāya, saddhiṃ Bhikkhusaṅghena,
after picking up his bowl and robe, together with the Community of monks, yena Sunīdha-Vassakārānaṃ Magadhamahāmattānaṃ āvasatho tenupasaṅkami, approached the dwelling of the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra, upasaṅkamitvā, paññatte āsane nisīdi.

and after approaching, he sat down on the prepared seat.

Atha kho Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā
Then the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra

Buddhappamukhaṃ Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ paṇītena
* with their own hands served and satisfied the Community of monks with the Buddha at its head khādanīyena bhojanīyena sahatthā santappesuṃ sampavāresuṃ.

with excellent foodstuffs.

Atha kho Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā,
Then the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra,

Bhagavantaṃ bhuttāviṃ onītapattapāṇiṃ, when the Gracious One had eaten and washed his hand and bowl, aññataraṃ nīcaṃ āsanaṃ gahetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdiṃsu.

having taken a low seat, sat down on one side.

⁸² Using the plural foodstuffs to translate the two words in Pāli khādanīyaṃ and bhojanīyaṃ. We might say in English had excellent food and drink made ready, but that doesn't translate the Pāli accurately, and there is hardly a synonym for food in English that doesn't sound quaint these days. Ajahn Ṭhāṇissaro argues that the words mean staple and non-staple food, but it sounds awkward when used in these contexts.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinne kho Sunīdha-Vassakāre Magadhamahāmatte Bhagavā

* While sitting on one side the Gracious One rejoiced the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra imāhi gāthāhi anumodi:

with these verses:

“Yasmiṃ padese kappeti vāsaṃ, paṇḍitajātiyo

* “In that place where he makes his dwelling, having entertained

Sīlavantettha bhojetvā, saññate brahmacārino,

The wise and virtuous here, the restrained, who live the spiritual life,

Yā tattha Devatā āsum⁸³ tāsāṃ dakkhiṇam-ādise.

He should dedicate a gift (of merit) to those Divinities who were in that place.

Tā pūjitā pūjayanti mānitā mānayanti naṃ.

Honoured, they pay honour, revered, they revere him.

Tato naṃ anukampanti, mātā puttāṃ va orasaṃ,

Thereafter they have compassion on him, as a mother on her own son,

Devatānukampito poso sadā bhadraṇi passatī.” ti

A man whom the Divinities has compassion on always sees what is auspicious.”

Atha kho Bhagavā Sunīdha-Vassakāre Magadhamahāmatte

* Then the Gracious One after rejoicing the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra imāhi gāthāhi anumoditvā, uṭṭhāyāsanaṃ, pakkāmi.

with these verses, after rising from his seat, went away.

Tena kho pana samayena Sunīdha-Vassakārā Magadhamahāmattā

Now at that time the Magadhan chief ministers Sunīdha and Vassakāra

Bhagavantāṃ piṭṭhito piṭṭhito anubandhā honti:

were following close behind the Gracious One, (thinking):

“Yenajja samaṇo Gotamo dvārena nikkhamissati taṃ Gotamadvāraṃ nāma bhavissati,

“That gate by which the ascetic Gotama leaves will get the name the Gotama Gate, yena titthena Gaṅgaṃ nadiṃ tarissati taṃ Gotamatitthaṃ nāma bhavissatī.” ti and that ford by which he crosses the river Ganges will get the name the Gotama Ford.”

⁸³ PTS: assu. The translation would then be: who may be in that place.

Atha kho Bhagavā yena dvārena nikkhami taṃ Gotamadvāraṃ nāma ahosi.

Then that gate by which the Gracious One left got the name the Gotama Gate.

Atha kho Bhagavā yena Gaṅgā nadī tenupasaṅkami.

Then the Gracious One approached the river Ganges.

Tena kho pana samayena Gaṅgā nadī pūrā hoti samatittikā kākapeyyā.

Now at that time the river Ganges was full to the brim, and could be drunk from by crows (perched on the bank).

Appekacce manussā nāvaṃ pariyesanti, appekacce uḷumpaṃ pariyesanti,

Some of the people were seeking boats, some were seeking floats, appekacce kullaṃ bandhanti, apārāpāraṃ gantukāmā.

and some were binding rafts, desiring to go from this shore to the shore beyond.

Atha kho Bhagavā seyyathā pi nāma balavā puriso

Then the Gracious One, just as a strong man sammiñjitaṃ vā bāhaṃ pasāreyya, pasāritaṃ vā bāhaṃ sammiñjeyya,⁸⁴ might stretch out a bent arm, or bend in an outstretched arm, evam-eva Gaṅgāya nadiyā orimatīre antarahito, so did he vanish from the near bank of the river Ganges, pārimatīre paccuṭṭhāsi saddhiṃ Bhikkhusaṅghena.

and reappeared on the far bank,⁸⁵ together with the Community of monks.

Addasā kho Bhagavā te manusse, appekacce nāvaṃ pariyesante,
The Gracious One saw those people, some seeking boats, appekacce uḷumpaṃ pariyesante,

some seeking floats,

appekacce kullaṃ bandhante, apārāpāraṃ gantukāme.
and some binding rafts, desiring to go from this shore to the shore beyond.

Atha kho Bhagavā, etam-atthaṃ viditvā,
Then the Gracious One, having understood the significance of it,

tāyaṃ velāyaṃ imaṃ udānaṃ udānesi:
on that occasion uttered this exalted utterance:

“Ye taranti aṇṇavaṃ saraṃ,
“Those who cross over a sea or a river,⁸⁶

Setuṃ katvāna, visajja pallalāni.
(Do so) after making a bridge, and leaving the marshes behind.

Kullaṃ hi jano pabandhati,
(While) people are still binding together a raft,

Tiṇṇā medhāvino janā.” ti Intelligent people have crossed over.”

Paṭhamabhāṇavāraṃ

The First Chapter for Recital (is Finished)

⁸⁴ ChS: samiñjeyya, similarly throughout. Although there is no historical reason for the doubling of the consonant it appears this is the normal way the form is written in Pāli.

⁸⁵ This would have been in Vajjian territory probably near to Ukkācelā which was just across the waters from Pāṭaligāma.

⁸⁶ Comm: Saran-ti idha nadī adhippetā; sara here is a designation for a river. It normally means lake.

[Dutiyabhāṇavāraṃ] [The Second Chapter for Recitation]

[13: Cattāro Ariyasaccāni]⁸⁷ [The Four Noble Truths]

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāṃ’ Ānanda yena Koṭigāmo tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti
“Come Ānanda let us approach Koṭigāma.”⁸⁸

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena Koṭigāmo tad-avasari.
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Koṭigāma.

Tatra sudam Bhagavā Koṭigāme viharati.
There the Gracious One lived near Koṭigāma.

Tatra kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
There the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Catunnaṃ bhikkhave Ariyasaccānaṃ ananubodhā appaṭivedhā evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitāṃ saṃsaritāṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

Katamesaṃ catunnaṃ?
Which four?

Dukkassa bhikkhave Ariyasaccassa ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

⁸⁷ cf. Paṭhamakoṭigāmasuttaṃ (SN 56:21), Bessajjakkhandhakaṃ: Koṭigāme saccakathā, Vin. Mhv. 1.230-231.

⁸⁸ Koṭigāma literally means the village at the corner, explained by the Commentary as meaning at the corner of a palace built by Mahāpanāda, a former king of Mithilā.

⁸⁹ The Commentarial definition here is worth noting: Ariyasaccānan-ti Ariyabhāvakarānaṃ saccānaṃ; Noble Truths means Truths that produce a state of Nobility. Maybe we should translate: Four Ennobling Truths.

evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitaṃ saṃsaritaṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.
both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra) for a long time.

the Noble Truth of the Practice going to the Cessation of Suffering has been understood and penetrated.

Ucchinnā bhavataṇhā, khīṇā bhavanetti, natthi dāni punabbhavo.” ti

Craving for continued existence has been cut off, what leads to rebirth has been exhausted, there is no continuation in existence.”

Idam-avoca Bhagavā idaṃ vatvā Sugato athāparaṃ etad-avoca Satthā:

The Gracious One said this, and after saying this, the Fortunate One, the Teacher, said something more:⁹⁰

⁹⁰ Normally this phrase, as here, introduces a verse summary of whatever precedes.

“Catunnaṃ Arīyasaccānaṃ yathābhūtaṃ adassanā “Because of not seeing as it really is the Four Noble Truths sāmsitaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ tāsu tāsveva jātisu.

we have run along for a long time through various births.

Tāni etāni diṭṭhāni bhavanetti samūhatā,
(Now) these have been seen, what leads to rebirth is uprooted, ucchinnaṃ mūlaṃ dukkhassa natthi dāni punabbhavo ti.”

the root of suffering has been cut off, there is no continuation in existence.”

* * *

Tatra pi sudaṃ Bhagavā Koṭigāme viharanto,
There also the Gracious One, while living in Koṭigāma,

etad-eva bahulaṃ bhikkhūnaṃ Dhammiṃ kathaṃ karoti:
spoke frequently to the monks about the Teaching, (saying):

“Iti sīlaṃ, iti samādhi, iti paññā,
“Such is virtue, such is concentration, such is wisdom,

sīlāparibhāvito samādhi mahapphalo hoti mahānisaṃso,
when virtue is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to concentration,

samādhiparibhāvitā paññā mahapphalā hoti mahānisaṃsā,
when concentration is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to wisdom,

paññāparibhāvitaṃ cittaṃ sammad-eva āsavehi vimuccati,
when wisdom is well-developed the mind is completely liberated from the pollutants,

seyyathīdaṃ: kāmāsavā bhavāsavā avijjāsavā.” ti
that is to say: the pollutant of sensuality, the pollutant of (craving for) continued existence, the pollutant of ignorance.”

[14: Dhammādāso]⁹¹
[The Mirror of (the True Nature of) Things]

Atha kho Bhagavā Koṭigāme yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā, Then the Gracious One, after living near Koṭigāma for as long as he liked,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāma’ Ānanda yena Nādikā tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti “Come Ānanda let us approach the Nādikas.”⁹²

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena Nādikā tad-avasari.
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at the Nādikas.

Tatra sudam Bhagavā Nādi ke viharati Giṇṇakāvasathe.
There the Gracious One lived near (one of) the Nādikas in the Brick House.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,
Then venerable Ānanda approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantaṃ abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.
and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinna kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:
While sitting on one side venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Sāḷho nāma Bhante bhikkhu Nādi ke kālakato,

And what, Ānanda, is (this) presentation of the Teaching called the Mirror of (the True Nature of) Things, ⁹⁶ Thai: Dasātirekāni ... pañcasatāni = five-hundred and ten.

⁹⁷ The Commentary says cautiously: kāyakilamatho va ... cittavihesā pana Buddhānaṃ natthi; (would get) tired in body ... but for Buddhas there is no trouble in the mind.

yena samannāgato Ariyasāvako ākaṅkhamāno attanā va attānaṃ byākareyya:
endowed with which a Noble Disciple desiring to do so may declare about himself:

they are an unsurpassed field of merit for the world.’

[15: Ambapālī Gaṇikā]⁹⁹
[The Courtesan Ambapālī]

Atha kho Bhagavā Nādi ke yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā, Then the Gracious One, after living near Nādika for as long as he liked,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāmaṃ Ānanda yena Vesālī tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti “Come Ānanda let us approach Vesālī.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena Vesālī tad-avasari.
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Vesālī.

Tatra sudamā Bhagavā Vesāliyaṃ viharati Ambapālīvane.
There the Gracious One lived near Vesālī in Ambapālī’s Wood.

Tatra kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
There the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Sato bhikkhave bhikkhu vihareyya sampajāno ayaṃ vo amhākaṃ anusāsani.
“Mindfully and with full awareness, monks, a monk should live, this is our advice to you.¹⁰⁰

Kathaṃ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhu sato hoti?
And how, monks, is a monk mindful?¹⁰¹

Idha, bhikkhave, bhikkhu kāye kāyānupassī viharati, Here, monks, a monk dwells contemplating (the nature of) the body in the body, ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhiññhādomanassaṃ;

ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;

⁹⁹ cf. Satisuttaṃ SN 47:2; and Bhesajjakkhandaṃ: Ambapālīvattthu, Licchavīvattthu Vin. Mhv.1.231-233.

¹⁰⁰ Comm: sato bhikkhave ti Bhagavā Ambapālīdassane satipaccupaṭṭhānatthaṃ visesato idha satipaṭṭhānadesanaṃ ārabhi; mindful, monks, the Gracious One began the teaching of mindfulness specially here, so that they would be attending to mindfulness when they saw Ambapālī.

¹⁰¹ What follows is the summary of the ways of attending to mindfulness (satipaṭṭhāna), a translation of which is found elsewhere on this website.

vedanāsu vedanānupassī viharati,

he dwells contemplating (the nature of) feelings in feelings,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhijjhādomanassam;

ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;

citte cittānupassī viharati,

he dwells contemplating (the nature of) the mind in the mind,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhijjhādomanassam;

ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;

dhammesu dhammānupassī viharati,

he dwells contemplating (the nature of) things in (various) things,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhijjhādomanassam.

ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world.

Evaṃ kho bhikkhave bhikkhu sato hoti.

Thus, monks, a monk is mindful.

Kathaṃ-ca bhikkhave bhikkhu sampajāno hoti?

And how, monks, does a monk have full awareness?¹⁰²

Idha, bhikkhave, bhikkhu abhikkante paṭikkante sampajānakārī hoti,

Here, monks, a monk in going forwards, in going back, is one who practises with full awareness, ālokite vilokite sampajānakārī hoti, in looking ahead, or in looking around, he is one who practises with full awareness, sammiñjite pasārite sampajānakārī hoti,

in bending or in stretching, he is one who practises with full awareness, saṅghāṭipattacīvaradhāraṇe sampajānakārī hoti,

in bearing his double-robe, bowl, and (other) robes, he is one who practises with full awareness, asite pīte khāyite sāyite sampajānakārī hoti, in eating, in drinking, in chewing, in tasting, he is one who practises with full awareness, ¹⁰² This now forms of section in the Satipaṭṭhānasutta.

uccārapassāvakamme sampajānakārī hoti,

in passing stool and urine, he is one who practises with full awareness, gate ṭhite nisinne, sutte jāgarite, bhāsīte tuṇhībhāve sampajānakārī hoti.

in going, in standing, in sitting, in sleeping, in waking, in talking, and in maintaining silence, he is one who practises with full awareness.

Evam kho bhikkhave bhikkhu sampajāno hoti.

Thus, monks, a monk has full awareness.

Sato bhikkhave bhikkhu vihareyya sampajāno ayaṃ vo ambhākaṃ anusāsani.” ti Mindfully and with full awareness, monks, a monk should live, this is our advice to you.”

Assosi kho Ambapālī gaṇikā: “Bhagavā kira Vesālīm anuppatto

The courtesan Ambapālī heard: “The Gracious One, it seems, has reached Vesālī Vesāliyaṃ viharati mayhaṃ Ambavane.” ti and is living near Vesālī in my Mango Wood.”¹⁰³

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā bhaddāni bhaddāni yānāni yojāpetvā,

Then the courtesan Ambapālī, after having (many) great and august vehicles prepared,

bhaddaṃ bhaddaṃ yānaṃ abhiruhitvā,

and mounting (those) great and august vehicles,

bhaddehi bhaddehi yānehi Vesāliyā niyyāsi,

departed with those great and august vehicles from Vesālī,

yena sako ārāmo tena pāyāsi yāvatikā yānassa bhūmi yānena gantvā, and after approaching by vehicle to her pleasure garden as far as the ground for vehicles (would allow),

yānā paccorohitvā, pattikā va yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami, and descending from the vehicles, she approached the Gracious One by foot, upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantaṃ abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, she sat down on one side.

¹⁰³ Ambapālī’s name means ‘(daughter of the) Mango Keeper’, though according to the Commentary she was born spontaneously in a mango wood (perhaps this one?), and hence acquired the name. Courtesans like Ambapālī were often very rich as we can see from the description of her vehicles and pleasure garden.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinnaṃ kho Ambapālīṃ gaṇikaṃ Bhagavā

* While the courtesan Ambapālī was sitting on one side the Gracious One instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered her with a talk about the Teaching.

Dhammiyā kathāya sandassesī, samādapesī, samuttejesī, sampahaṃsesī.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā,

Then the courtesan Ambapālī,

Bhagavatā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassitā samādapitā samuttejitā sampahaṃsitā, having been instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered by the Gracious One with a talk about the Teaching,

Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

said to the Gracious One:

“Adhivāsetu me Bhante Bhagavā

“May the Gracious One consent, reverend Sir, to me

svātanāya bhattam saddhim bhikkhusaṅghenā.” ti

(offering him) a meal on the morrow, together with the Community of monks.”

Adhivāsesi Bhagavā tuṇhībhāvena.

The Gracious One consented by maintaining silence.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā Bhagavato adhivāsanam viditvā,

Then the courtesan Ambapālī, having understood the Gracious One’s consent, uṭṭhāyāsanaṃ, Bhagavantam abhivādetvā padakkhiṇam katvā pakkāmi.

after rising from her seat, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One, went away.

Assosum kho Vesālikā Licchavī: “Bhagavā kira Vesālīṃ anuppatto

The Licchavīs from Vesālī heard: “The Gracious One, it seems, had reached Vesālī Vesāliyam viharati Ambapālivanē.” ti and is living near Vesālī in Ambapālī’s Wood.”

Atha kho te Licchavī, bhaddāni bhaddāni yānāni yojāpetvā,

Then those Licchavīs, after having (many) great and august vehicles prepared,

bhaddam bhaddam yānam abhiruhitvā,

and mounting (those) great and august vehicles,

bhaddehi bhaddehi yānehi Vesāliyā niyyimsu.

departed with those great and august vehicles from Vesālī.

Tatra ekacce Licchavī nīlā honti nīlavaṇṇā nīlavatthā nīlālaṅkāṛā,

There some of the Licchavīs were blue, having a blue appearance, with blue clothes and blue decorations, ekacce Licchavī pītā honti pītavaṇṇā pītavatthā pītālaṅkāṛā, some of the Licchavīs were yellow, having a yellow appearance, with yellow clothes and yellow decorations, ekacce Licchavī lohita honti lohitavaṇṇā lohitavatthā lohitālaṅkāṛā, some of the Licchavīs were red, having a red appearance, with red clothes and red decorations, ekacce Licchavī odātā honti odātavaṇṇā odātavatthā odātālaṅkāṛā.

some of the Licchavīs were white, having a white appearance, with white clothes and white decorations.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā daharānaṃ daharānaṃ Licchavīnaṃ

Then the courtesan Ambapālī rolled alongside the Licchavī youths akkhena akkhaṃ cakkena cakkaṃ yugena yugaṃ paṭivaṭṭesi.

axle by axle, wheel by wheel, and yoke by yoke.

Atha kho te Licchavī Ambapālīm gaṇikaṃ etad-avocum:

Then those Licchavīs said this to the courtesan Ambapālī:

“Kiṃ je Ambapālī daharānaṃ daharānaṃ Licchavīnaṃ

“Why do you, Ambapālī, roll alongside the Licchavī youths akkhena akkhaṃ cakkena cakkaṃ yugena yugaṃ paṭivaṭṭesi?” ti axle by axle, wheel by wheel, and yoke by yoke?”

“Tathā hi pana me ayyaputtā Bhagavā nimantito,

“Because I have invited the Gracious One, noble sirs, svātanāya bhattaṃ saddhiṃ bhikkhusaṅghenā.” ti for a meal on the morrow, together with the Community of monks.”

“Dehi je Ambapālī etaṃ bhattaṃ sataṣaḥassenā.” ti

“Give (us) this meal, Ambapālī, for a hundred thousand (kahapanas).”

“Sace pi me ayyaputtā Vesālīm sāhāraṃ dassatha
“If, noble sirs, you would give Vesālī and its revenues¹⁰⁴

evam-ahaṃ taṃ bhattaṃ na dassāmī.” ti still I would not give this meal (to you).”

Atha kho te Licchavī aṅgulī poṭhesuṃ:
Then the Licchavīs snapped their fingers, (thinking):

“Jitamhā vata bho Ambakāya, jitamhā vata bho Ambakāyā.” ti
“We have surely been defeated by a woman, we have surely been defeated by a woman.”¹⁰⁵

Atha kho te Licchavī yena Ambapālivanam tena pāyimsu.
Then the Licchavīs entered Ambapālī’s Wood.

Addasā kho Bhagavā te Licchavī dūrato va āgacchante,
The Gracious One saw those Licchavīs coming from afar, disvā bhikkhū āmantesi:

and having seen (them), he addressed the monks, (saying):

“Yesaṃ bhikkhave bhikkhūnaṃ devā Tāvatimsā adiṭṭhā,
* “Let those monks who have not seen the Tāvatimsa Divinities, monks, oloketha bhikkhave Licchaviparisam, look at the Licchavī troupe, monks, apaloketha bhikkhave Licchaviparisam, look upon the Licchavī troupe, monks, upasamharatha bhikkhave Licchaviparisam Tāvatimsasadisaṃ.”-ti contemplate the Licchavī troupe, monks, who are like the Tāvatimsa (Divinities).”¹⁰⁶

Atha kho te Licchavī yāvatikā yānassa bhūmi yānena gantvā, Then after the Licchavīs had gone as far as the ground for vehicles (would allow),

yānā paccorohitvā, pattikā va yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkamimsu, and had descended from the vehicles, they approached the Gracious One by foot, ¹⁰⁴ Lit: with its means (of existence) (sāhāraṃ).

¹⁰⁵ This is a play on Ambapālī’s name. Ambaka, means a woman.

¹⁰⁶ The Commentary says that the Buddha urged the monks to look on the splendour of the Licchavī princes so that they would remember it and realise the nature of impermanence when they were destroyed by the Magadahan King Ajātasattu.

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antam nisīdimsu.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, they sat down at one side.

Ekam-antam nisinne kho te Licchavī Bhagavā

* While the Licchavīs were sitting on one side the Gracious One instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered them with a talk about the Teaching.

Dhammiyā kathāya sandassesi, samādapesi, samuttejesi, sampahaṁsesi.

Atha kho te Licchavī

Then the Licchavīs,

Bhagavatā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassitā samādapitā samuttejitā sampahaṁsitā, having been instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered by the Gracious One with a talk about the Teaching,

Bhagavantam etad-avocum:

said to the Gracious One:

“Adhivāsetu no Bhante Bhagavā svātanāya bhattam saddhim bhikkhusaṅghenā.” ti

“Please consent to us (offering) a meal on the morrow, together with the Community of monks.”

“Adhivuttham kho me Licchavī svātanāya Ambapāliya gaṇikāya bhattan.”-ti

“I have (already) consented to the courtesan Ambapālī’s meal on the morrow.”

Atha kho te Licchavī aṅgulī poṭhesum:

Then the Licchavīs snapped their fingers, (thinking):

“Jitamhā vata bho Ambakāya Jitamhā vata bho Ambakāyā.” ti

“We have surely been defeated by a woman, we have surely been defeated by a woman.”

Atha kho te Licchavī Bhagavato bhāsitaṃ abhinanditvā anumoditvā,

Then the Licchavīs, after greatly rejoicing and gladly receiving this word of the Gracious One,¹⁰⁷ uṭṭhāyāsanaṃ, Bhagavantam abhivādetvā padakkhiṇaṃ katvā pakkamimsu.

rising from their seats, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One, went away.

¹⁰⁷ This stock phrase seems out of place here, given the circumstances.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā tassā rattiyaṃ accayena,

Then the courtesan Ambapālī after the night had passed, sake ārāme paṇitaṃ khādanīyaṃ bhojanīyaṃ paṭiyādāpetvā, having had excellent foodstuffs made ready in her own pleasure park,

Bhagavato kālaṃ ārocāpesi: “Kālo Bhante niṭṭhitaṃ bhattan.”-ti had the time announced to the Gracious One, (saying): “It is time, reverend Sir, the meal is ready.”

Atha kho Bhagavā, pubbaṇhasamayam nivāsetvā,

Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the morning time,

pattacīvaram-ādāya, saddhiṃ Bhikkhusaṅghena,

after picking up his bowl and robe, together with the Community of monks, yena Ambapāliyaṃ gaṇikāya nivesanaṃ tenupasaṅkami, approached the courtesan Ambapālī’s residence,

upasaṅkamitvā paññatte āsane nisīdi.

and after approaching he sat down on the prepared seat.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā Buddhappamukhaṃ Bhikkhusaṅgham

Then the courtesan Ambapālī with her own hand served and satisfied the Community of monks paṇitena khādanīyena bhojanīyena sahatthā santappesi sampavāresi.

with the Buddha at its head with excellent foodstuffs.

Atha kho Ambapālī gaṇikā Bhagavantam bhuttāvim onītapattapāṇim,

Then the courtesan Ambapālī, when the Gracious One had eaten and washed his hand and bowl, aññataram nīcam āsanaṃ gahetvā ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

having taken a certain low seat, sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinnā kho Ambapālī gaṇikā Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

While sitting on one side the courtesan Ambapālī said this to the Gracious One:

“Imāhaṃ Bhante ārāmaṃ Buddhappamukhassa Bhikkhusaṅghassa dammī.” ti

“I donate this pleasure park, reverend Sir, to the Community of monks with the Buddha at its head.”¹⁰⁸

¹⁰⁸ Ārāma (from √ram) originally meant a pleasure park, but they were ideal places for monks, and many were given over for that purpose, and the name eventually came to mean monastery.

Paṭiggahesi Bhagavā ārāmaṃ.

The Gracious One accepted the pleasure park.

Atha kho Bhagavā Ambapālīṃ gaṇikaṃ Dhammiyā kathāya

* Then the Gracious One, after instructing, rousing, sandassetvā samādapetvā samuttejetvā sampahaṃsetvā utthāyāsanaṃ pakkāmi.

enthusing, and cheering the courtesan Ambapālī with a talk about the Teaching, having risen from the seat, went away.¹⁰⁹

Tatra pi sudamā Bhagavā Vesāliyaṃ viharanto Ambapālīvane,

There also the Gracious One, while living in Vesālī in Ambapālī's Wood,

etad-eva bahulaṃ bhikkhūnaṃ Dhammiṃ kathaṃ karoti:

spoke frequently to the monks about the Teaching, (saying):

“Iti sīlaṃ, iti samādhi, iti paññā,

“Such is virtue, such is concentration, such is wisdom,

sīlāparibhāvito samādhi mahapphalo hoti mahānisaṃso,

when virtue is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to concentration,

samādhiparibhāvitā paññā mahapphalā hoti mahānisaṃsā,

when concentration is well-developed it yields great fruit and brings great advantages in regard to wisdom,

paññāparibhāvitā cittaṃ sammā-eva āsavehi vimuccatī,

when wisdom is well-developed the mind is completely liberated from the pollutants,

seyyathīdaṃ: kāmāsavā bhavāsavā avijjāsavā.” ti

that is to say: the pollutant of sensuality, the pollutant of (craving for) continued existence, the pollutant of ignorance.”

¹⁰⁹ Unfortunately the Commentary gives us no idea what the Buddha taught to Ambapālī on this occasion.

[16: Bhagavato Ābādhō]¹¹⁰
[The Gracious One's Sickness]

Atha kho Bhagavā Ambapālivanē yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā, Then the Gracious One, after living near Ambapālī's Wood for as long as he liked,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāṃ' Ānanda yena Beluvagāmakō tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti
“Come Ānanda let us approach the little village of Beluva.”¹¹¹

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks yena Beluvagāmakō tad-avasari.

arrived at the little village of Beluva.

Tatra sudāṃ Bhagavā Beluvagāmake viharati.
There the Gracious One lived near the little village of Beluva.

Tatra kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
There the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Etha tumhe bhikkhave samantā Vesālīṃ
* “Go, monks, and undertake the Rains Retreat in the vicinity of Vesālī yathāmittaṃ yathāsandiṭṭhaṃ yathāsambhattaṃ Vassaṃ upetha, (living) like friends, like companions, like comrades,

ahaṃ pana idheva Beluvagāmake Vassaṃ upagacchāmī.” ti and I will spend the Rains Retreat right here at the little village of Beluva.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho te bhikkhū
“Very well, reverend Sir,” said those monks,

Bhagavato paṭissutvā, samantā Vesālīṃ
* and after replying to the Gracious One, they undertook the Rains Retreat in the vicinity of Vesālī

¹¹⁰ The Rains Retreat mentioned in this section started 10 months before the Parinibbāna according to the traditional reckoning.

¹¹¹ According to the Commentary the village was just south of Vesālī. The village is named after the Beluva tree (Aegle Marmelos).

yathāmittaṃ yathāsandiṭṭhaṃ yathāsambhattaṃ Vassaṃ upagacchimsu.
(living) like friends, like companions, like comrades.

Bhagavā pana tattheva Beluvagāmake Vassaṃ upagacchi.
But the Gracious One spent the Rains Retreat right there at the little village of Beluva.

Atha kho Bhagavato Vassūpagatassa kharo ābādho uppajji, Then while dwelling for the Rains Retreat, a heavy affliction arose for the Gracious One,

bālhaṃ vedanā vattanti maraṇantikā.
and continued with strong and death-like feelings.

Tā sudaṃ Bhagavā sato sampajāno adhiṇvāsesi avihaññaṃ māno.
There the Gracious One dwelt mindfully, with full awareness, and without being troubled.

Atha kho Bhagavato etad-ahosi:
Then this occurred to the Gracious One:

“Na kho me taṃ paṭirūpaṃ yohaṃ anāmantetvā upaṭṭhāke,
“It is not suitable that I, without having addressed my attendants, anapaloketvā Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ parinibbāyeyyaṃ.

without having given notice to the Community of monks, should attain Final Emancipation.

Yannūnāhaṃ imaṃ ābādhaṃ viriyena paṭipphaṇāmetvā, Having energetically dismissed this affliction,

jīvitasāṅkhāraṃ adhiṭṭhāya vihareyyaṃ.”-ti
I could live on after determining the lifespan.”

Atha kho Bhagavā taṃ ābādhaṃ viriyena paṭippanāmetvā,
Then the Gracious One having energetically dismissed that affliction jīvitasāṅkhāraṃ adhiṭṭhāya vihāsi.

lived on after determining¹¹² the lifespan.¹¹³

Atha kho Bhagavato so ābādho paṭippassambhi.
Then the Gracious One's affliction abated.

Atha kho Bhagavā gilānā vuṭṭhito,
Then, the Gracious One, having risen from that sickness, aciravuṭṭhito Gelaṇṇā Vihārā nikkhamma not long after rising, departed from the Sick Room

Vihārapacchāyāyaṃ paññatte āsane nisīdi.
and sat down on the prepared seat in front of that Room.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,
Then venerable Ānanda approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.
and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:
While sitting on one side venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Ditṭho me Bhante Bhagavato phāsu,
“I have seen, reverend Sir, the Gracious One comfortable,

¹¹² Comm: samāpattivikkhambhitā vedanā dasamāse na uppajji yeva; the feelings suppressed by the attainment did not arise again for a further 10 months. From the beginning of the Rains Retreat in July until just before his Final Emancipation in May the following year is 10 months, so we can infer that the Commentary believes the illness occurred at the beginning of the retreat.

¹¹³ Comm: ettha jīvitam-pi jīvitasāṅkhāro ... phalasamāpattidhammo pi jīvitasāṅkhāro, so idha adhippeto; here the lifespan means life ... the lifespan (can) also mean the attainment of fruition, this is the designation here. This seems contradictory, and I know of no other place where jīvitasāṅkhāra is defined as fruition attainment. The latter is probably meant to guard against the idea that the Buddha had determined the length of life, before the temptation by Māra, which comes later in the story, where he gives up the life-process (ayusaṅkhāra).

diṭṭhaṃ me Bhante Bhagavato khamanīyaṃ,

I have seen, reverend Sir, the Gracious One bearing up (while sick),¹¹⁴

api ca me Bhante madhurakajāto viya kāyo, and my body, reverend Sir, became faint as it were,

disā pi me na pakkhāyanti, dhammā pi maṃ na paṭibhanti, and although I could not see (straight), and things were not clear,¹¹⁵

Bhagavato gelaññena api ca me Bhante ahosi, it appeared to me, reverend Sir, that the Gracious One was sick, kācid-eva assāsamattā na tāva Bhagavā parinibbāyissati

(but) it was some small comfort that the Gracious One would not attain Final Emancipation na yāva Bhagavā Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ ārabba kiñcid-eva udāharatī.” ti until the Gracious One had spoken regarding the Community of monks.”

“Kiṃ pan’ Ānanda bhikkhusaṅgho mayi paccāsimati?

“But what, Ānanda, does the Community of monks expect of me?

Desito Ānanda mayā Dhammo anantaraṃ abāhiraṃ karitvā,

The Teaching has been taught by me, Ānanda, without having made (a distinction between) esoteric and exoteric, natth’ Ānanda Tathāgatassa Dhammesu ācariyamuṭṭhi.

for the Realised One there is nothing, Ānanda, of a (closed) teacher’s fist in regard to the Teaching.

Yassa nūna Ānanda evam-assa: ‘Ahaṃ Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ pariharissāmi’ ti vā

To whoever, Ānanda, this (thought) occurs: ‘I will lead the Community of monks’

‘mamuddesiko Bhikkhusaṅgho’ ti vā

or ‘I am the instructor of the Community of monks’

¹¹⁴ I am not sure about the translation here, it maybe that we should parse Bhagavato ’phāsu (= aphāsu), and translate: I have seen ... the Gracious One uncomfortable ... (and) bearing up (while sick). Neither the Commentary nor the Sub-commentary help here.

¹¹⁵ Comm: satipaṭṭhānādidhammā mayhaṃ pākaṭā na hontī ti dīpeti. Tantidhammā pana Therassa supagunā; he explains: (such) things as the ways of attending to mindfulness were not well-known to me. But the texts were still familiar to the Elder. This comment seems to guard against any doubt as to Ven. Ānanda’s ability to remember the texts, which might put their reliability into question.

so nūna Ānanda Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ ārabba kiñcid-eva udāhareyya.
let him speak, Ānanda, regarding the Community of monks.

Tathāgatassa kho Ānanda na evaṃ hoti:
But to the Realised One, Ānanda, this (thought) does not occur:

‘Ahaṃ kho Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ pariharissāmi’ ti vā
‘I will lead the Community of monks’

‘mamuddesiko Bhikkhusaṅgho’ ti vā.
or ‘I am the instructor of the Community of monks’.

Sa kiṃ Ānanda Tathāgato Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ ārabba kiñcid-eva udāharissati?
Then why, Ānanda, should the Realised One speak regarding the Community of monks?¹¹⁶

Ahaṃ kho pan’ Ānanda etarahi jiṇṇo vuḍḍho mahallako,
I, Ānanda, at present, am old, elderly, of great age, addhagato vayo-anuppatto asītiko me vayo vattati.

far gone, advanced in years, I am eighty years old.

Seyyathā pi Ānanda jarasakaṭaṃ veḷumissakena¹¹⁷ yāpeti,
It is like, Ānanda, an old cart, which (only) keeps going when shored up with bamboo, evam-eva kho Ānanda veḷumissakena maññe Tathāgatassa kāyo yāpeti.

just so, Ānanda, I think the Realised One’s body (only) keeps going when shored up with bamboo.

Yasmiṃ Ānanda samaye Tathāgato sabbanimittānaṃ amanasikārā,
When the Realised One doesn’t pay attention, Ānanda, to any of the signs, ekaccānaṃ vedanānaṃ nirodhā, animittaṃ cetosamādhim upasampajja viharati, when all feelings have ceased, he lives having established the signless mind-concentration,¹¹⁸

¹¹⁶ I cannot understand this section which seems so out of keeping with the discourses elsewhere. The Buddha was the recognised leader of the Community, and in the previous section, has himself said: It is not suitable that I, without having addressed my attendants, without having given notice to the Community of monks, should attain Final Emancipation, and yet here he is denying that he is their leader and declaring he has nothing to say to them!

¹¹⁷ BJT: jajjarasakaṭaṃ vekkhamissakena; ChS: jajjarasakaṭaṃ vethamissakena; PTS: veghamissakena, and similarly below. As can be seen there is a lot of confusion as to the correct reading here, and consequently there must be doubt about the translation.

¹¹⁸ In Paṭisambhidāmagga and Visuddhimagga this is known as animittācetovimutti, which is the fruition of Worthiness, it arises for one who applies his mind to impermanence as the predominant sign of existence.

phāsutaro¹¹⁹ Ānanda tasmim samaye Tathāgatassa kāyo hoti.
and at that time, Ānanda, the Realised One's body is most comfortable.

Tasmātiḥ' Ānanda attadīpā viharatha attasaraṇā anaññasaraṇā¹²⁰
Therefore, Ānanda, live with yourself as an island, yourself as a refuge, with no other refuge, Dhammadīpā Dhammasaraṇā anaññasaraṇā.

with the Teaching as an island, the Teaching as a refuge, with no other refuge.

Kathañ-c' Ānanda bhikkhu attadīpo viharati attasaraṇo anaññasaraṇo
And how, Ānanda, does a monk live with himself as an island, himself as a refuge, with no other refuge,

Dhammadīpo Dhammasaraṇo anaññasaraṇo?
with the Teaching as an island, the Teaching as a refuge, with no other refuge?

Idh' Ānanda, bhikkhu kāye kāyānupassī viharati, Here, Ānanda, a monk dwells contemplating (the nature of) the body in the body,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhiññhādomanassam;
ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;¹²¹

vedanāsu vedanānupassī viharati,
he dwells contemplating (the nature of) feelings in feelings,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhiññhādomanassam;
ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;

citte cittānupassī viharati,
he dwells contemplating (the nature of) the mind in the mind,

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhiññhādomanassam;
ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world;

dhammesu dhammānupassī viharati,
he dwells contemplating (the nature of) things in (various) things, ¹¹⁹ PTS: phāsukato, which would mean: (the Realised One's body) is made comfortable.

¹²⁰ This section from here to the end should be compared with Ukkācelasuttaṃ, SN Satipaṭṭhānasāmyuttaṃ, 49.14. See also the Extended Note which follows this section.

¹²¹ This is the summary of the ways of attending to mindfulness again (see above, section 15).

ātāpī sampajāno satimā, vineyya loke abhijjhādomanassam.

ardent, fully aware, and mindful, after removing avarice and sorrow regarding the world.

Evam kho Ānanda bhikkhu attadīpo viharati attasaraṇo anaññasaraṇo,

Thus, Ānanda, a monk lives with himself as an island, himself as a refuge, with no other refuge,

Dhammadīpo Dhammasaraṇo anaññasaraṇo.

with the Teaching as an island, the Teaching as a refuge, with no other refuge.

Ye hi keci Ānanda etarahi vā mama vā accayena,

For whoever, Ānanda, whether at present or after my passing,

attadīpā viharissanti attasaraṇā anaññasaraṇā lives with himself as an island, himself as a refuge, with no other refuge,

Dhammadīpā Dhammasaraṇā anaññasaraṇā,

with the Teaching as an island, the Teaching as a refuge, with no other refuge, tama-t-agge me te Ānanda bhikkhū bhavissanti - ye keci sikkhākāmā.” ti those monks of mine, Ānanda, will go from darkness to the highest¹²² - whoever likes the training.”

Dutiyabhāṇavāraṃ.

The Second Chapter for Recital (is Finished).

¹²² Commentary paraphrases: evam sabbam tamayogam chinditvā, ativiya agge uttamabhāve ete, Ānanda, mama bhikkhū bhavissanti; having in this way cut off all connection with the darkness, these monks of mine, Ānanda, will be at the absolute top of supreme existence.

[17: Ānandassa Vipatti]¹²⁴
[Ānanda's Failure]

Atha kho Bhagavā, pubbaṇhasamayam nivāsetvā,
 Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the morning time,

pattacīvaram-ādāya, Vesālīm piṇḍāya pāvisi.
 after picking up his bowl and robe, entered Vesālī for alms.

Vesāliyam piṇḍāya caritvā, pacchābhattaṃ piṇḍapātapaṭikkanto,
 After walking for alms in Vesālī, and returning from the alms-round after the meal,

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
 he addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Gaṇhāhi Ānanda nisīdanaṃ, “Take up the sitting mat, Ānanda, yena Cāpālaṃ Cetiyaṃ tenupasaṅkamissāma divā vihārāyā.” ti we will approach the Cāpāla shrine to dwell for the day.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paṭissutvā,
 “Very well, reverend Sir,” said venerable Ānanda, and after replying to the Gracious One,

nisīdanaṃ ādāya Bhagavantaṃ piṭṭhito piṭṭhito anubandhi.
 and taking the sitting mat, he followed along close behind the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā yena Cāpālaṃ Cetiyaṃ tenupasaṅkami,
 Then the Gracious One approached the Cāpāla shrine,

upasaṅkamitvā, paññatte āsane nisīdi,
 and after approaching, he sat down on the prepared seat,

āyasmā pi kho Ānando Bhagavantaṃ abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.
 and also venerable Ānanda, after worshipping the Gracious One, sat down on one side.

¹²³ There is a gap in the record here of 7 months, if the traditional date for the Final Emancipation is correct. This is discussed in the Introduction to the Texts and Translation of this discourse.

¹²⁴ cf. Āyusaṅkhāravossajanasuttaṃ, Part Two (Udāna 6.1); Cetiyaṣuttaṃ (SN 51:10); Bhūmicālasuttaṃ (Part One) (AN Bk. 8:70).

Ekam-antaṃ nisinnaṃ kho āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ Bhagavā etad-avoca:
While sitting on one side the Gracious One said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Ramaṇīyā Ānanda Vesālī, ramaṇīyaṃ Udenaṃ Cetiyaṃ, “Delightful, Ānanda, is Vesālī, delightful is the Udena shrine, ramaṇīyaṃ Gotamakaṃ Cetiyaṃ, ramaṇīyaṃ Sattambaṃ Cetiyaṃ, delightful is the Gotamaka shrine, delightful is the Sattamba shrine, ramaṇīyaṃ Bahuputtaṃ Cetiyaṃ, ramaṇīyaṃ Sārandaḍaṃ Cetiyaṃ, delightful is the Many Sons’ shrine, delightful is the Sārandaḍa shrine, ramaṇīyaṃ Cāpālaṃ Cetiyaṃ. delightful is the Cāpāla shrine.¹²⁵

Yassa kassaci Ānanda cattāro Iddhipādā bhāvitā,
* Whoever has developed, Ānanda,

lifespan.¹²⁷

Tathāgatassa kho Ānanda cattāro Iddhipādā bhāvitā,
* The Realised One has developed, Ānanda,

¹²⁵ All these Shrines were in the Vajjī Territories, and it very much looks like they were being used as (temporary) monasteries for samaṇas residing there. If this is correct then it throws some light on the 6th condition which prevents decline for the Vajjīs listed in Section 2 above. According to Pāthikasuttaṃ (DN 24), the Udena Shrine was to the east of Vesālī; Gotamaka to the south, Sattamba to the west, and Bahuputta to the north of the city.

¹²⁷ Commentary: Ettha ca kappan-ti āyukappam ... idam-eva aṭṭhakathāyaṃ niyamitam; herein span means life-span ... this is fixed by the Commentary. There has been some dispute about whether kappa here means life-span or aeon. However it seems quite incredible to me that the Buddha, when his body was already broken down and falling ill, should have made such a nonsensical claim as to be able to live for an aeon!

and teach the miraculous Teaching.

Parinibbātu dāni Bhante Bhagavā, Parinibbātu Sugato,
May the Gracious One attain Final Emancipation now, reverend Sir, may the Fortunate One attain Final Emancipation, Parinibbānakālo dāni Bhante Bhagavato.

now is the time, reverend Sir, for the Gracious One's Final Emancipation.

Bhāsītā kho panesā Bhante Bhagavatā vācā:
For these words, reverend Sir, were spoken by the Gracious One:

‘Na tāvāhaṃ Pāpima Parinibbāyissāmi,
‘I will not attain Final Emancipation, Wicked One,

yāva me idaṃ brahmacariyaṃ na iddhañ-ceva bhavissati phītañ-ca,
for as long as this spiritual life of mine has not become successful and prosperous, vitthārikaṃ bāhujaññaṃputhubhūtaṃ,

well spread-out, possessed by many, become great,

yāva devamanussehi¹³⁰ suppakāsitaṃ-ti’
until it is well-explained amongst Divinities and men.’

Etarahi kho pana Bhante Bhagavato brahmacariyaṃ
But at present, reverend Sir, the Gracious One's spiritual life

iddhañ-ceva phītañ-ca, vitthārikaṃ bāhujaññaṃputhubhūtaṃ is successful and prosperous, well spread-out, possessed by many, become great, yāva devamanussehi suppakāsitaṃ.

it is well-explained amongst Divinities and men.

Parinibbātu dāni Bhante Bhagavā, Parinibbātu Sugato,
May the Gracious One attain Final Emancipation now, reverend Sir, may the Fortunate One attain Final Emancipation, ¹³⁰ PTS always parses this as yāvad eva manussehi. The Commentary to Pāsādikasutta (DN 29) in defining the phrase yāva devamanussehi suppakāsitaṃ has this: devalokato yāva manussalokā suppakāsitaṃ; visible from the world of the Divinities to the world of men, making it clear that the words should be parsed as in the text.

Parinibbānakālo dāni Bhante Bhagavato.” ti

now is the time, reverend Sir, for the Gracious One’s Final Emancipation.”

Evaṃ vutte, Bhagavā Māraṃ Pāpimantaṃ etad-avoca:

When that was said the Gracious One said this to the Wicked Māra:

“Appossukko tvaṃ Pāpima hohi,

“You should have little concern, Wicked One,

na ciraṃ Tathāgatassa Parinibbānaṃ bhavissati,

in no long time the Realised One will be Finally Emancipated, ito tiṇṇaṃ māsānaṃ accayena, Tathāgato Parinibbāyissatī.” ti

after three months have passed from now, the Realised One will attain Final Emancipation.”

Atha kho Bhagavā Cāpāle cetiye sato sampajāno āyusaṅkhāraṃ ossaji.

Then at the Cāpāla shrine the Gracious One, mindfully, with full awareness, relinquished the life-process.

Ossaṭṭhe ca Bhagavatā āyusaṅkhāre mahābhūmicālo ahoṣi,

With the relinquishment of the life-process by the Gracious One there was a great earthquake, bhimsanako lomahaṃso, Devadundubhiyo ca phaliṃsu.

and a fearful, horrifying crash of the Divinities’ (thunder) drum.

Atha kho Bhagavā, etam-atthaṃ veditvā,

Then the Gracious One, having understood the significance of it,

tāyaṃ velāyaṃ imaṃ udānaṃ udānesi:

on that occasion uttered this exalted utterance:

“Tulam-atulañ-ca sambhavaṃ,

“Measurable and immeasurable continuity,

Bhavaṣaṅkhāraṃ-avassajī Muni.

And the continuation-process the Sage relinquished.

Ajjhattarato samāhito,

Content in himself, and concentrated,

Abhindi kavacam-ivattasambhavan.”-ti

He broke continuity of self like a coat of mail.”

[19: Aṭṭha Bhūmicālahetū]¹³¹
[Eight Reasons for Earthquakes]

Atha kho āyasmato Ānandassa etad-ahosi:

Then it occurred to venerable Ānanda:

“Acchariyaṃ vata bho abbhutaṃ vata bho mahā vatāyaṃ bhūmicālo,

“Surely it is wonderful, surely it is marvellous, this great earthquake, sumahā vatāyaṃ bhūmicālo bhimsanako lomahaṃso Devadundubhiyo ca phaliṃsu.

this very great earthquake, and (this) awful, hair-raising, crash of the Divinities’ (thunder) drum.

Ko nu kho hetu ko paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāyā?” ti

What was the reason, what was the cause, for the occurrence of this great earthquake?”

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,

Then venerable Ānanda approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down at one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

Sitting on one side venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Acchariyaṃ Bhante abbhutaṃ Bhante mahā vatāyaṃ Bhante bhūmicālo, “Surely it is wonderful, reverend Sir, surely it is marvellous, reverend Sir, this great earthquake, sumahā vatāyaṃ Bhante bhūmicālo,

this very great earthquake,

bhimsanako lomahaṃso Devadundubhiyo ca phaliṃsu.

and (this) awful, hair-raising, crash of the Divinities’ (thunder) drum.

Ko nu kho Bhante hetu ko paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāyā?” ti.

What was the reason, reverend Sir, what was the cause, for the occurrence of this great earthquake?”

“There are these eight reasons, eight causes, Ānanda, for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

¹³¹ cf. Bhūmicālasuttaṃ (Part Two) (AN Bk. 8:70). Rhys-Davids in his translation suggests that the narrative is interrupted by what follows, but it seems to me that this section about the earthquakes follows quite naturally in the course of the narrative. The sections that follow this however appear to be foreign to the text, perhaps inserted through association with this section. See the Introduction.

Katame aṭṭha?

Which eight?

Ayaṃ Ānanda Mahāpaṭhavī udake patiṭṭhitā,

This great Earth, Ānanda, stands in the water, udakaṃ vāte patiṭṭhitam, vāto ākāsaṭṭho.

the water stands in the atmosphere, the atmosphere stands in space.¹³²

1) Hoti so kho Ānanda samayo yaṃ mahāvātā vāyanti, mahāvātā vāyantā,

There comes a time, Ānanda, when great winds blow, with the great winds blowing, udakaṃ kampenti, udakaṃ kampitam, Paṭhaviṃ kampeti.

the waters move, the waters having moved, the Earth moves.

Ayaṃ paṭhamo hetu paṭhamo paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.

This is the first reason, the first cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

2) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda samaṇo vā hoti brāhmaṇo vā

Furthermore, Ānanda, when an ascetic or a brahmin iddhimā cetovasippatto Devo vā mahiddhiko mahānubhāvo, or a Divinity, one of great power, one of great majesty, has, through spiritual power, attained (complete) mastery of the mind, tassa parittā Paṭhavisaññā bhāvitā hoti appamāṇā āposaññā, and has then developed even a trifling perception of the Earth, or an unlimited perception of water, so imaṃ Paṭhaviṃ kampeti saṅkampeti sampakampeti sampavedheti.

this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ dutiyo hetu dutiyo paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.

This is the second reason, the second cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

3) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Bodhisatto Tusitā kāyā cavitvā,

Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Buddha-to-be falls away from the Tusita hosts,¹³³

¹³² I interpret vāta (normally wind) here as atmosphere. This is quite an accurate description of the facts, especially given the time it was made.

¹³³ A Buddha-to-be is said to always spend his penultimate life amongst the Gods in Tusita Heaven, and from there to descend to Earth for the last time.

sato sampajāno mātukucchiṃ okkamati, and mindfully, with full awareness, enters his mother's womb,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.
this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ tatiyo hetu tatiyo paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.
This is the third reason, the third cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

4) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Bodhisatto Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Buddha-to-be sato sampajāno mātukucchimhā nikkhamati, mindfully, with full awareness, exits his mother's womb,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.
this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ catuttho hetu catuttho paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.
This is the fourth reason, the fourth cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

5) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Tathāgato
Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Realised One

anuttaraṃ Sammāsambodhiṃ abhisambujjhati, perfectly awakens to the unsurpassed and Perfect Awakening,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.
this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ pañcama hetu pañcama paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.
This is the fifth reason, the fifth cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

6) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Tathāgato anuttaraṃ Dhammacakkaṃ pavatteti, Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Realised One sets the unsurpassed wheel of the Teaching rolling,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.
this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ chaṭṭho hetu chaṭṭho paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.
This is the sixth reason, the sixth cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

7) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Tathāgato
Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Realised One

sato sampajāno āyusaṅkhāraṃ ossajati, mindfully, with full awareness gives up the life-process,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.

this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ sattamo hetu sattamo paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.

This is the seventh reason, the seventh cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

8) Puna caparaṃ Ānanda yadā Tathāgato

Furthermore, Ānanda, when the Realised One

anupādisesāya Nibbānadhātuyā parinibbāyati, is Finally Emancipated in the Emancipation-element which has no basis for attachment remaining,

tadāyaṃ Paṭhavī kampati saṅkampati sampakampati sampavedhati.

this Earth moves, wavers, flutters, and shakes.

Ayaṃ aṭṭhamo hetu aṭṭhamo paccayo mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāya.

This is the eighth reason, the eighth cause for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

Ime kho Ānanda aṭṭha hetū aṭṭha paccayā mahato bhūmicālassa pātubhāvāyā ti.

These are the eight reasons, the eight causes, Ānanda, for the occurrence of a great earthquake.

[20: Aṭṭha Parisā]¹³⁴
[The Eight Assemblies]

Aṭṭha kho imā Ānanda parisā.

There are, Ānanda, eight assemblies.

Katamā aṭṭha?

Which eight?

Khattiyaparisā brāhmaṇaparisā gahapatiparisā samaṇaparisā

The assembly of Nobles, the assembly of brahmins, the assembly of householders, the assembly of ascetics, Cātummahārājikaparisā Tāvatiṃsaparisā Māraparisā Brahmaparisā.

the assembly of the Four Great Kings, the assembly of the Tāvatiṃsa (Divinities), the assembly of Māra, the assembly of the Brahmā Divinities.¹³⁵

1) Abhijānāmi kho panāhaṃ Ānanda anekasataṃ Khattiyaparisāṃ upasaṅkamitvā,

I know, Ānanda, after approaching countless hundreds of assemblies of Nobles, tatra pi mayā sannisinnapubbañ-ceva sallapitapubbañ-ca,

that there, before settling down, before conversing,

sākacchā ca samāpajjitapubbā,

and before entering upon discussion,

tattha yādisako tesāṃ vaṇṇo hoti tādisako mayhaṃ vaṇṇo hoti, whatever their appearance was, my appearance would become,¹³⁶

yādisako tesāṃ saro hoti tādisako mayhaṃ saro hoti, whatever their voice was, my voice would become,¹³⁷

Dhammiyā ca kathāya sandassemi samādapemi samuttejemi sampahaṃsemi, and I instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered them with a talk about the Teaching, ¹³⁴ cf. Parisasuttaṃ (AN Bk. 8:69). They are also listed in Saṅgītisutta (DN 33).

¹³⁶ Comm: na pana Bhagavā milakkhusadiso hoti nāpi āmuttamaṇikuṇḍalo, Buddhaveseneva nisīdati, te pana attano samānasaṇṭhānam-eva passanti; it is not that the Gracious One (looks) like a barbarian, or is adorned with jewelled earrings, he is surely sitting in the Buddha's clothes, but they see him having the same features as themselves.

¹³⁷ Comm: idaṃ ... bhāsantaraṃ sandhāya kathitaṃ; this is said in regard to the different languages (he is able to speak).

Imā kho Ānanda aṭṭha parisā.

These, Ānanda, are the eight assemblies.

[21: Aṭṭha Abhibhāyatanāni]¹³⁸
[The Eight Means of (Mind) Mastery]

Aṭṭha kho imāni Ānanda abhibhāyatanāni.

There are, Ānanda, eight means of (mind) mastery.¹³⁹

Katamāni aṭṭha?

Which eight?

1) Ajjhataṃ rūpasaññi eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati parittāni suvaṇṇadubbaṇṇāni, Perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally, limited, beautiful or ugly, tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti¹⁴⁰ evaṃsaññi hoti.

and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ paṭhamaṃ abhibhāyatanam.

This is the first means of (mind) mastery.¹⁴¹

2) Ajjhataṃ rūpasaññi eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati appamāṇāni suvaṇṇadubbaṇṇāni,

Perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally, unlimited, beautiful or ugly, tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññi hoti.

and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ dutiyaṃ abhibhāyatanam

This is the second means of (mind) mastery.

3) Ajjhataṃ arūpasaññi eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati parittāni suvaṇṇadubbaṇṇāni,
Without perceiving forms internally,¹⁴² someone sees forms externally, limited, beautiful or ugly, ¹³⁸ cf. Saṅgītisuttaṃ (DN 33); Abhibhāyatanasuttaṃ (AN Bk. 8:65); Mahāsakuludāyisuttaṃ (MN 77); a very different six Spheres of Mastery are mentioned elsewhere, see Parihānadhammasuttaṃ (SN 35:96).

¹³⁹ The Commentary to MN 77 paraphrases this with abhibhavanakāraṇāni, which gives the translation here.

¹⁴² Comm: alābhitāya vā anattikāya vā ajjhatarūpe parikammasaññāviraṇṇito; without perception of the preliminary object on an internal form, either because he did not obtain it or because he did not need it.

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.

and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ tatiyaṃ abhibhāyatanam.

This is the third means of (mind) mastery.

4) Ajjhataṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati appamāṇāni suvaṇṇadubbaṇṇāni,

Without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally, unlimited, beautiful or ugly,

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.

and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ catuttham abhibhāyatanam.

This is the fourth means of (mind) mastery.

5) Ajjhataṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,

Without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,¹⁴³

nīlāni nīlavaṇṇāni nīlanidassanāni nīlanibhāsāni,

blue, blue-coloured, of blue appearance, shiny blue,

seyyathā pi nāma Ummāpuppham nīlam nīlavaṇṇam nīlanidassanam nīlanibhāsam

just as the flower called Ummā is blue, blue-coloured, of blue appearance, shiny blue, seyyathā vā pana tam vattham Bārāṇaseyyakam ubhatobhāgavimaṭṭham or just as there is Banaras cloth smoothed on both sides that nīlam nīlavaṇṇam nīlanidassanam nīlanibhāsam, is blue, blue-coloured, of blue appearance, shiny blue,

evam-eva ajjhataṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,

so, without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

nīlāni nīlavaṇṇāni nīlanidassanāni nīlanibhāsāni,

blue, blue-coloured, of blue appearance, shiny blue,

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.

and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ pañcamam abhibhāyatanam.

This is the fifth means of (mind) mastery.

¹⁴³ This and what follows refers to the kasiṇa excercises, whereby one focuses on a specific colour and obtains absorption that way.

6) Ajjhattaṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
Without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

pītāni pītavaṇṇāni pītanidassanāni pītanibhāsāni,

just as the flower called Kaṇikāra is yellow, yellow-coloured, of yellow appearance, shiny yellow,

seyyathā vā pana taṃ vatthaṃ Bārāṇaseyyakaṃ ubhatobhāgavimaṭṭhaṃ
or just as there is Banaras cloth smoothed on both sides that pītaṃ pītavaṇṇaṃ pītanidassanaṃ pītanibhāsaṃ, is yellow, yellow-coloured, of yellow appearance, shiny yellow,

evam-eva ajjhataṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
so, without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

pītāni pītavaṇṇāni pītanidassanāni pītanibhāsāni,
yellow, yellow colour, of yellow appearance, shiny yellow,

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.
and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ chaṭṭhaṃ abhibhāyatanam.
This is the sixth means of (mind) mastery.

7) Ajjhattaṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
Without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

lohitāni lohitavaṇṇāni lohitanidassanāni lohitanibhāsāni,
red, red-coloured, of red appearance, shiny red,

seyyathā pi nāma Bandhujīvaka-pupphaṃ

seyyathā vā pana taṃ vatthaṃ Bārāṇaseyyakaṃ ubhatobhāgavimaṭṭhaṃ
or just as there is Banaras cloth smoothed on both sides that lohitaṃ lohitavaṇṇaṃ lohitanidassanaṃ lohitanibhāsaṃ, is red, red-coloured, of red appearance, shiny red,

evam-eva ajjhattaṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
so, without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

lohitāni lohitavaṇṇāni lohitanidassanāni lohitanibhāsāni,
red, red-coloured, of red appearance, shiny red,

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.
and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ sattamaṃ abhibhāyatanam.
This is the seventh means of (mind) mastery.

8) Ajjhattaṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
Without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

odātāni odātavaṇṇāni odātanidassanāni odātanibhāsāni,
white, white-coloured, of white appearance, shiny white,

seyyathā pi nāma osadhitārakā odātā odātavaṇṇā odātanidassanā odātanibhāsā, just as the Osadhī star, is white, white-coloured, of white appearance, shiny white,

seyyathā vā pana taṃ vatthaṃ Bārāṇaseyyakaṃ ubhatobhāgavimaṭṭhaṃ
or just as there is Banaras cloth smoothed on both sides that odātaṃ odātavaṇṇaṃ odātanidassanaṃ odātanibhāsaṃ, is white, white-coloured, of white appearance, shiny white,

evam-eva ajjhattaṃ arūpasaññī eko bahiddhā rūpāni passati,
so, without perceiving forms internally, someone sees forms externally,

odātāni odātavaṇṇāni odātanidassanāni odātanibhāsāni,
white, white-coloured, of white appearance, shiny white,

tāni abhibhuyya: ‘jānāmi passāmī’ ti evaṃsaññī hoti.
and having mastered them, he is one who perceives thus: ‘I know, I see’.

Idaṃ aṭṭhamaṃ abhibhāyatanam.
This is the eighth means of (mind) mastery.

Imāni kho Ānanda aṭṭha abhibhāyatanāni.
These, Ānanda, are the eight means of (mind) mastery.

[22: Aṭṭha Vimokkhā]¹⁴⁴
[The Eight Liberations]

Aṭṭha kho ime Ānanda vimokkhā.

There are, Ānanda, eight liberations.

Katame aṭṭha?

Which eight?

1) Rūpī rūpāni passati.

One having form sees forms.

Ayaṃ paṭhamo vimokkho.

This is the first liberation.¹⁴⁵

2) Ajjhataṃ arūpasaññī bahiddhā rūpāni passati.

Not perceiving forms internally, he sees forms externally.

Ayaṃ dutiyo vimokkho.

This is the second liberation.¹⁴⁶

3) Subhanteva adhimutto hoti.

One is intent on endless beauty.¹⁴⁷

Ayaṃ tatiyo vimokkho.

This is the third liberation.

4) Sabbaso rūpasaññānaṃ samatikkamā, paṭighasaññānaṃ atthaṅgamā,

Having completely transcended perceptions of form, with the disappearance of perceptions of (sensory) impact, nānattasaññānaṃ amanasikārā: ‘Ananto ākāso’ ti, not attending to perceptions of variety, (understanding): ‘This is endless space’, ākāsānañcāyatanam upasampajja viharatī.

he abides in the sphere of endless space.¹⁴⁸

¹⁴⁴ cf. Mahānidānasuttaṃ (DN 15); Saṅgītisuttaṃ (DN 33); Dasuttarasuttaṃ (DN 34); Vimokkhasuttaṃ (AN Bk. 8:66); Mahāsakuludāyisuttaṃ (MN 77).

¹⁴⁵ These liberations refer to the progress through the states of meditative absorption (jhāna). The first three listed are attained through developing the first four meditative absorptions.

¹⁴⁶ These first two are like a summary of the Abhibhāyatanā.

¹⁴⁷ Through developing one of the Brahmāvihāra (mettā, karuṇā, muditā, upekkhā) meditations to absorption level.

¹⁴⁸ This and the three that follow are the spheres of concentration developed through refinement of the fourth absorption.

Ayaṃ catuttho vimokkho.

This is the fourth liberation.

5) Sabbaso ākāsaṇācāyatanam samatikkamma: ‘Anantaṃ viññāṇaṃ’-ti

Having completely transcended the sphere of endless space, (understanding): ‘This is endless consciousness’, viññāṇaṇcāyatanam upasampajja viharati.

he abides in the sphere of endless consciousness.

Ayaṃ pañcama vimokkho.

This is the fifth liberation.

6) Sabbaso viññāṇaṇcāyatanam samatikkamma: ‘Natthi kiñcī’ ti

Having completely transcended the sphere of endless consciousness, (understanding): ‘This is nothing’, ākāsaññāyatanam upasampajja viharati.

he abides in the sphere of nothingness.

Ayaṃ chaṭṭho vimokkho.

This is the sixth liberation.

7) Sabbaso ākiñcaññāyatanam samatikkamma,

Having completely transcended the sphere of nothingness, nevasaññānāsaññāyatanam upasampajja viharati.

he abides in the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception.

Ayaṃ sattamo vimokkho.

This is the seventh liberation.

8) Sabbaso nevasaññānāsaññāyatanam samatikkamma,

Having completely transcended the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception, saññāvedayitanirodham upasampajja viharati.

he abides in the cessation of perception and feeling.

Ayaṃ aṭṭhamo vimokkho.

This is the eighth liberation.

Ime kho Ānanda aṭṭha vimokkhā.

These, Ānanda, are the eight liberations.

[23: Ānandassa Aparaddham]¹⁴⁹
[Ānanda's Fault]

Ekam-idāhaṃ Ānanda samayaṃ Uruvelāyaṃ viharāmi,
At one time Ānanda I was living at Uruvelā, najjā nerañjarāya tīre Ajapālanigrodhamūle paṭhamābhisambuddho.

on the bank of the river Nerañjarā, at the root of the Goatherd's Banyan tree, in the first (period) after attaining Awakening.¹⁵⁰

Atha kho Ānanda Māro Pāpimā yenāhaṃ tenupasaṅkami, Then, Ānanda, the Wicked Māra approached me,

upasaṅkamitvā ekam-antaṃ aṭṭhāsi.
and after approaching he stood on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ ṭhito kho Ānanda Māro Pāpimā maṃ etad-avoca:
While standing to one side, Ānanda, the Wicked Māra said this to me:

“Parinibbātu dāni Bhante Bhagavā, Parinibbātu Sugato,
“May the Gracious One attain Final Emancipation now, reverend Sir, may the Fortunate
One attain Final Emancipation,

Parinibbānakālo dāni Bhante Bhagavato.” ti
now is the time, reverend Sir, for the Gracious One's Final Emancipation.”

Evaṃ vutte ahaṃ Ānanda Māraṃ Pāpimantaṃ etad-avocaṃ:
After this was said, Ānanda, I said this to the Wicked Māra:

“Na tāvāhaṃ Pāpima Parinibbāyissāmi,
“I will not attain Final Emancipation, Wicked One,

yāva me bhikkhū na sāvakā bhavissanti,
for as long as my monks are not (true) disciples,

viyattā vinītā visāradā bahussutā, accomplished, disciplined, confident, learned,

Dhammadharā Dhammānudhammapaṭiṇṇā, bearers of the Teaching, practising in conformity with the Teaching, sāmīcipaṭiṇṇā anudhammacārino, correct in their practice, living in conformity with the Teaching, ¹⁴⁹ For the beginning see 17: Giving up the Life Process above.

and teach the miraculous Teaching.

Na tāvāhaṃ Pāpima Parinibbāyissāmi,
I will not attain Final Emancipation, Wicked One,

yāva me idaṃ brahmacariyaṃ na iddhañ-ceva bhavissati phītañ-ca,
for as long as this spiritual life of mine has not become successful and prosperous,

until it is well-explained amongst Divinities and men.”

Idāneva kho Ānanda ajja Cāpāle cetiye Māro Pāpimā yenāhaṃ tenupasaṅkami, Now today, Ānanda, at the Cāpāla Shrine the Wicked Māra approached me,

upasaṅkamitvā ekam-antaṃ aṭṭhāsi.
and after approaching he stood on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ ṭhito kho Ānanda Māro Pāpimā maṃ etad-avoca:

and teach the miraculous Teaching.

Parinibbātu dāni Bhante Bhagavā, Parinibbātu Sugato,

May the Gracious One attain Final Emancipation now, reverend Sir, may the Fortunate One attain Final Emancipation, Parinibbānakālo dāni Bhante Bhagavato.

now is the time, reverend Sir, for the Gracious One's Final Emancipation.

Bhāsītā kho panesā Bhagavato vācā:

For the Gracious One has said these words:

“Na tāvāham Pāpima Parinibbāyissāmi,

“I will not attain Final Emancipation, Wicked One,

yāva me idam brahmacariyam na iddhañ-ceva bhavissati phītañ-ca,

for as long as this spiritual life of mine has not become successful and prosperous, vitthārikam bāhujaññaṃ puthubhūtaṃ,

well spread-out, possessed by many, become great,

yāva devamanussehi suppakāsitan.”-ti

until it is well-explained amongst Divinities and men.”

Etarahi kho pana Bhante Bhagavato brahmacariyam iddhañ-ceva phītañ-ca,

But at present, reverend Sir, the Gracious One's spiritual life is successful and prosperous, vitthārikam bāhujaññam puthubhūtam

well spread-out, possessed by many, become great,

yāva devamanussehi suppakāsitam.

it is well-explained amongst Divinities and men.

Parinibbātu dāni Bhante Bhagavā, Parinibbātu Sugato,

May the Gracious One attain Final Emancipation now, reverend Sir, may the Fortunate One attain Final Emancipation,

Parinibbānakālo dāni Bhante Bhagavato.’ ti

now is the time, reverend Sir, for the Gracious One’s Final Emancipation.’

Evam vutte aham, Ānanda, Māram Pāpimantam etad-avoca:

When that was said, Ānanda, I said this to the Wicked Māra:

‘Appossukko tvam Pāpima hohi,

‘You should have little concern, Wicked One,

na ciraṃ Tathāgatassa Parinibbānam bhavissati,

in no long time the Realised One will be Finally Emancipated, ito tiṇṇaṃ māsānaṃ accayena, Tathāgato Parinibbāyissati.’ ti

after three months have passed from now, the Realised One will attain Final Emancipation.’

Idāneva kho Ānanda ajja Cāpāle Cetiye Tathāgatena

Now today, Ānanda, at the Cāpāla Shrine the Realised One satena sampajānena āyusañkhāro ossaṭṭho.” ti mindfully, with full awareness, gave up the life-process.”

Evam vutte āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

When this was said venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Tiṭṭhatu Bhante Bhagavā kappaṃ tiṭṭhatu Sugato kappaṃ,

“Let the Gracious One remain, reverend Sir, for the lifespan, let the Fortunate One remain for the lifespan,

bahujanahitāya bahujanasukhāya lokānukampāya

for the benefit of many people, for the happiness of many people, having compassion on the world, atthāya hitāya sukhāya Devamanussānaṃ.”-ti

for the welfare, benefit, and happiness of Divinities and men.”

“Alaṃ dāni Ānanda mā Tathāgataṃ yāci, “Enough, Ānanda, do not beg the Realised One,

akālo dāni Ānanda Tathāgataṃ yācanāyā.” ti
now is the wrong time, Ānanda, for begging the Realised One.”

Dutiyam-pi kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:
For a second time venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Tiṭṭhatu Bhante Bhagavā kappam tiṭṭhatu sugato kappam
“Let the Gracious One remain, reverend Sir, for the lifespan, let the Fortunate One remain for the lifespan,

bahujanahitāya bahujanasukhāya lokānukampāya

atthāya hitāya sukhāya Devamanussānan.”-ti
for the welfare, benefit, and happiness of Divinities and men.”

“Alaṃ dāni Ānanda mā Tathāgataṃ yāci, “Enough, Ānanda, do not beg the Realised One,

akālo dāni Ānanda Tathāgataṃ yācanāyā.” ti
now is the wrong time, Ānanda, for begging the Realised One.”

Tatiyam-pi kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:
For a third time venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Tiṭṭhatu Bhante Bhagavā kappam tiṭṭhatu sugato kappam
“Let the Gracious One remain, reverend Sir, for the lifespan, let the Fortunate One remain for the lifespan,

bahujanahitāya bahujanasukhāya lokānukampāya

atthāya hitāya sukhāya Devamanussānan.”-ti
for the welfare, benefit, and happiness of Divinities and men.”

“Saddhasi tvam Ānanda Tathāgatassa bodhin?”-ti
“Do you, Ānanda, have faith in the Realised One’s Awakening?”

“Evaṃ Bhante.”

“Yes, reverend Sir,”

“Atha kiñ-carahi tvaṃ Ānanda Tathāgataṃ yāvatatīyakam abhinippīṣe?” ti

“Then why do you, Ānanda, harrass the Realised One up and till the third time?”

“Sammukhā me taṃ Bhante Bhagavato sutaṃ sammukhā paṭiggahitaṃ:

“Face to face with me, reverend Sir, face to face I have heard (you say):

‘Yassa kassaci Ānanda cattāro Iddhipādā bhāvitā,

“Saddahasi tvaṃ Ānandā?” ti

“Do you have faith, Ānanda?”

“Evaṃ Bhante.”

“Yes, reverend Sir,”

“Tasmātiḥ’ Ānanda tuyhevetam dukkaṭam tuyhevetam aparaddham,

¹⁵¹ Most editions write out the first section (Gijjhakūṭe) in full, then the next section (Gotamanigrodhe) as ellipsis, and the rest without ellipsis. When we get to the repetition though, just below, it appears that it is summarising the whole sequence at one go, which implies that the way I have edited it here must be correct. The same applies to the Vesālī section below.

¹⁵² This is where this discourse began, but it does not appear to have been on that occasion as there are many other places mentioned subsequently which do not appear earlier, therefore it must be referring to a period more than one year before the parinibbāna.

Na nu etam Ānanda mayā paṭikacceva akkhātam:

Were you not warned by me when I declared:

'Sabbeheva piyehi manāpehi nānābhāvo vinābhāvo aññathābhāvo'?

'There is alteration in, separation from, and changeability in all that is dear and appealing'?'¹⁵⁴

Tam kutettha Ānanda labbhā yaṁ tam,

How can it be otherwise, Ānanda, for that which is obtained, jātam bhūtam saṅkhatam palokadhammam?

born, become, conditioned, subject to dissolution?

'Tam vata mā palujjī' ti netam thānam vijjati.

It is not possible (to say) this: 'It should not dissolve'.

Yaṁ kho panetam Ānanda Tathāgatena cattam vantam muttam pahīnam,

But this has been relinquished, cast out, let loose, abandoned by the Realised One, paṭinissaṭṭham ossaṭṭho āyusaṅkhāro:

forsaken, the life-process that has been given up.

Ekamsena vācā Tathāgatena bhāsītā:

For sure this word was spoken by the Realised One:

'Na ciraṁ Tathāgatassa Parinibbānam bhavissati,

'Not long now there will be the Realised One's Final Emancipation, after the passing of three months the Realised One will attain Final Emancipation.'

Taṁ-ca Tathāgato jīvitaḥetu puna paccāgamissatī ti netam thānam vijjati.

The Realised One cannot for the sake of life go back on that, it is not possible.

¹⁵⁴ As far as I can see outside of this context this warning only appears in two other places, once towards the end of the Mahāsuddasanasuttaṁ (DN 17), and also in the Abhiṇhapaccavekkhitabbathānasuttaṁ (AN Bk 5.57).

Seyyathīdam:
They are as follows:¹⁵⁷

¹⁵⁶ This is a funny way to begin a Teaching, it looks like it has been extracted from a longer section somewhere, where Therefore... might be more in place.

Cattāro Satipaṭṭhānā,

The Four Ways of Attending to Mindfulness,¹⁵⁸

Cattāro Iddhipādā,

the Five Faculties,¹⁶¹

Pañca Balāni,

the Five Strengths,¹⁶²

Satta Bojjhaṅgā,

the Seven Factors of Awakening,¹⁶³

Ariyo Aṭṭhaṅgiko Maggo.

the Noble Eight-Fold Path.¹⁶⁴

¹⁵⁷ These are collectively known as the 37 Things on the Side of Awakening (Bodhipakkhiyadhammā). They are mentioned in many places, e.g. Sampasādanīyasuttaṃ (DN 28); Kintisuttaṃ (MN 103); Pahārādasuttaṃ (AN 8:19), etc. etc.

¹⁶¹ Faith (saddhā), energy (virīya), mindfulness (sati), concentration (saṃādhi), and wisdom (paññā).

¹⁶³ Mindfulness (satisambojjhaṅga), investigation of the (nature of) things (dhammavicaya-), energy (virīya-), joyful-interest (pīti-), tranquillity (passaddhi-), concentration (saṃādhi-), and equanimity (upekkhā-).

after the passing of three months the Realised One will attain Final Emancipation.”

Idam-avoca Bhagavā idam vatvā Sugato athāparam etad-avoca Satthā:

The Gracious One said this, and after saying this, the Fortunate One, the Teacher, said something more:¹⁶⁵

[“Daharā pi ca ye vuḍḍhā ye bālā ye ca paṇḍitā, [“Youths and also the old, fools and also the wise,

Aḍḍhā ceva daḷiddā ca - sabbe maccuparāyaṇā.

Rich and also the poor - all end in death.

¹⁶⁵ The lines within square brackets only appear in the Thai edition. These lines look like variations of the verses now found in the Sallāsuttaṃ of the Suttanipāta (Sn. 3.8 v. 5 & 4).

Yathā pi kumbhakārassa kataṃ mattikabhājanam
Like an earthen vessel made by a potter

Khuddakañ-ca mahantañ-ca yañ-ca pakkam yañ-ca āmakam
Small and great, that which is baked and unbaked,

Sabbam bhedapariyantam evam maccāna' jīvitam."
All end in breakage, just so life (ends) in death."

Athāparam etad-avoca Satthā:]
Then the Teacher, said something more:]

"Paripakko vayo mayham parittam mama jīvitam,
"Well-matured, decayed, with little of my life remaining,

Pahāya vo gamissāmi kataṃ me sar^aṇam-attano.
Having abandoned (rebirth) I will go, having made myself a refuge.

Appamattā satīmanto susīlā hotha bhikkhavo,
Be heedful, mindful, and virtuous, monks,

Susamāhitasāṅkappā sacittam-anurakkhatha.
With well-reasoned thoughts, protect your minds.

Yo imasmiṃ Dhammavinaye appamatto vihassati,
Whoever in this Teaching and Discipline will live heedful,¹⁶⁶

Having given up the round of rebirths, he will put an end to suffering."

[Catutthabhāṇavāraṃ] [The Fourth Chapter for Recitation]

[27: Cattāro Ariyadhammā] [The Four Noble Things]

Atha kho Bhagavā pubbaṇhasamayam nivāsetvā,
Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the morning time,

pattacīvaram-ādāya Vesālīm piṇḍāya pāvisi.
after picking up his bowl and robe, entered Vesālī for alms.

Vesāliyam piṇḍāya caritvā, pacchābhattam piṇḍapātapaṭikkanto,
After walking for alms in Vesālī, when he was returning from the alms-round after the meal, nāgāpalokitam Vesālīm apaloketvā, after looking at Vesālī with an elephant's look,¹⁶⁷

āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
he addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Idam pacchimakam Ānanda Tathāgatassa Vesāliyā dassanam bhavissati.
“This is the last time, Ānanda, there will be sight of Vesālī for the Realised One.

Āyāma’ Ānanda yena Bhaṇḍagāmo tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti Come Ānanda let us approach Bhaṇḍagāma.”¹⁶⁸

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā Bhikkhusaṅghena saddhim yena Bhaṇḍagāmo tad-avasari.

Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Bhaṇḍagāma.

Tatra sudam Bhagavā Bhaṇḍagāme viharati.
There the Gracious One lived near Bhaṇḍagāma.

¹⁶⁸ Bhaṇḍa means goods, wares, merchandise, so the village was probably a market-town.

Tatra kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

There the Gracious One said this to the monks:

“Catunnaṃ, bhikkhave, dhammānaṃ ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

“Because of a lack of understanding and a lack of penetration, monks, of four things

evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitāṃ saṃsaritaṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra) for a long time.¹⁶⁹

Katamesaṃ catunnaṃ?

Which four?

Ariyassa, bhikkhave, Sīlassa ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

Because of a lack of understanding and a lack of penetration of Noble Virtue¹⁷⁰

evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitāṃ saṃsaritaṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra)¹⁷¹ for a long time.

Ariyassa, bhikkhave, Samādhissa ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

Because of a lack of understanding and a lack of penetration of Noble Concentrated (Development)¹⁷²

evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitāṃ saṃsaritaṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra) for a long time.

Ariyāya, bhikkhave, Paññāya ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

Because of a lack of understanding and a lack of penetration of Noble Wisdom

evam-idaṃ dīgham-addhānaṃ sandhāvitāṃ saṃsaritaṃ mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra) for a long time.

¹⁶⁹ Compare this with section 13 above, which is almost identical, but the four things there are the Four Noble Truths. Compare also with the summary of the teaching given at the end of most sections.

¹⁷⁰ The Commentary doesn't comment on this section and this and the next 3 terms do not seem to have been defined elsewhere either. Perhaps Ariyasīla would mean the Virtue section of the Eightfold Noble Path (Right Speech, Action and Livelihood); Ariyasamādhī the Concentrated (Development) section (Right Endeavour, Mindfulness and Concentration), Ariyapaññā the Wisdom section (Right View and Thought). Then Ariyavimutti would refer to Right Freedom (Sammāvimutti) and Right knowledge and Insight into Freedom (Sammāvimuttiñāṇadassana) in the extended Tenfold formula.

¹⁷¹ Saṃsarita and Saṃsāra are both derived from the verb saṃsarati, to run on, run along. Saṃsāra implies running on from birth to birth.

¹⁷² If the note above is correct then Ariyasamādhī refers to Right Endeavour, Mindfulness and Concentration, which means that Samādhī here must mean something more than simply concentration, being a concentrated development of the mind in various spheres.

Ariyāya, bhikkhave, Vimuttiyā ananubodhā appaṭivedhā

Because of a lack of understanding and a lack of penetration of Noble Freedom evam-idam dīgham-addhānam sandhāvitam saṃsaritam mamañ-ceva tumhākañ-ca.

both you and I have been wandering and running along (in Saṃsāra) for a long time.

Ta-y-idam, bhikkhave, Ariyam Sīlam anubuddham paṭividdham,

(But now) this Noble Virtue has been understood and penetrated, Ariyo Samādhi anubuddho paṭividdho,

this Noble Concentrated (Development) has been understood and penetrated,

Ariyā Paññā anubuddhā paṭividdhā,

this Noble Wisdom has been understood and penetrated,

Ariyā Vimutti anubuddhā paṭividdhā.

this Noble Freedom has been understood and penetrated.

Ucchinnā bhavataṇhā khīṇā bhavanetti natthi dāni punabbhavo.” ti

Craving for continued existence has been cut off, what leads to rebirth has been exhausted, there is no continuation in existence.”

Idam-avoca Bhagavā idam vatvā Sugato athāparam etad-avoca Satthā:

The Gracious One said this, and after saying this, the Fortunate One, the Teacher, said something more:

“Sīlam Samādhi Paññā ca Vimutti ca anuttarā, “Virtue, Concentration, Wisdom, and unsurpassed Freedom,

Anubuddhā ime dhammā Gotamena yasassinā,

These things have been understood by the Famous Gotama,¹⁷³

Iti Buddho abhiññāya Dhammam-akkhāsi bhikkhunam

Thus after knowing it deeply the Buddha declared the Teaching to the monks, Dukkassantaṅkaro Satthā Cakkhumā parinibbuto.” ti

The Suffering-Ender, the Teacher, the Visionary One¹⁷⁴ who is Emancipated.”

¹⁷³ This verse seems to have been spoken about the Buddha, not by him (it also occurs, however, with the same ascription, at AN Bks. 4.1 and 7.66).

¹⁷⁴ Cakkhumā, the Buddha has the physical-eye (maṃsacakkhu), the divine-eye (dibbacakkhu), the wisdom-eye (paññācakkhu), the Buddha-eye, and the All-Round-eye (samantacakkhu).

Tatra pi sudam̐ Bhagavā Bhaṇḍagāme viharanto,
There also the Gracious One, while living in Bhaṇḍagāma,

[The Four Great Referalls]

Atha kho Bhagavā Bhaṇḍagāme yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā,

Jambugāma (Rose-Apple Village), Bhoganagara (Wealthy Village).”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

¹⁷⁵ cf. Mahāpadesasuttaṃ (AN Bk. 4:180).

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhim yena Bhoganagaram tad-avasari.
Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Bhoganagara.

Tatra sudam Bhagavā Bhoganagare viharati Ānande Cetiye.
There the Gracious One lived near Bhoganagara at the Joyous Shrine.

Tatra kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
There the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Cattārome bhikkhave Mahāpadese desessāmi, “I will teach these Four Great Referrals,¹⁷⁶ monks, listen to it, apply your minds well, and I will speak.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho te bhikkhū Bhagavato paccassosum,
“Very well, reverend Sir,” those monks, replied to the Gracious One,

Tassa bhikkhave bhikkhuno bhāsitaṃ neva abhinanditabbaṃ na paṭikkositabbaṃ.
That monk’s speech, monks, is not to be rejoiced over, not to be scorned at.

Without having rejoiced over it, without having scorned it, after learning those words and syllables well, ¹⁷⁶ Parse as mahā + apadesa. It should not be translated as authority, the authorities are actually stated below to be the Teaching and the Discipline (Dhammavinaya).

Sutte osāretabbāni¹⁷⁷ Vinaye sandassetabbāni.

they should be laid alongside the Discourses, they should be compared with the Discipline.¹⁷⁸

Tāni ce Sutte osāriyamānāni Vinaye sandassiyamānāni,

If, when these are laid alongside the Discourses, compared with the Discipline, na ceva Sutte osaranti na ca Vinaye sandissanti, they do not fit in with the Discourses, they do not compare (well) with the Discipline, niṭṭham-ettha gantabbaṃ: ‘Addhā idaṃ na ceva tassa Bhagavato vacanaṃ, you may here come to this conclusion: ‘Certainly this is not the Gracious One’s word, imassa ca bhikkhuno duggahitaṃ’-ti iti hetam bhikkhave chaḍḍeyyātha.

it is not well learned by that monk,’ and, monks, you should abandon it.

Tāni ce Sutte osāriyamānāni Vinaye sandassiyamānāni,

If when these are laid alongside the Discourses, compared with the Discipline,

it is well-learned by that monk.’

Idaṃ bhikkhave paṭhamam Mahāpadesam dhāreyyātha.

This, monks, is the first Great Referral you should bear in mind.

¹⁷⁷ BJT, PTS: otāretabbāni, and similarly throughout. The (ChS) Commentary gives these laconic definitions: “Sutte osāretabbāni” ti sutte otāretabbāni. “Vinaye sandassetabbāni” ti vinaye saṃsandetabbāni. This reading rules out taking otāretabbāni in the text. Without taking this interpretation into account the natural meaning would be admitted into the Discourses, instructed in the Discipline. As it is hard to make sense of this in the context, I follow the Commentary.

¹⁷⁸ The Commentary has a hard time here explaining what is comprehended by Sutta and Vinaya, because the Abhidhamma is not mentioned explicitly. Eventually it settles on the following definition: Sutte ti Tepiṭake Buddhavacane otāretabbāni. Vinaye ti etasmim rāgādivinayakāraṇe saṃsandetabbāni ti; alongside the Discourses, they should be laid alongside the Buddha’s word in the Three Baskets. With the Discipline, they should be compared with the means of disciplining passion.

Idha pana bhikkhave bhikkhu evaṃ vadeyya:

Here, monks, a monk might speak like this:

‘Amukasmim nāma āvāse Saṅgho viharati sathero sapāmokkho,

Those monks’ speech, monks, is not to be rejoiced over, not to be scorned at.

Anabhinanditvā appaṭikkositvā tāni padabyañjanāni sādhu kaṃ uggahetvā,

Without having rejoiced over it, without having scorned it, after learning those words and syllables well,

Idaṃ bhikkhave dutiyaṃ Mahāpadesaṃ dhāreyyātha.

This, monks, is the second Great Referral you should bear in mind.

Idha pana bhikkhave bhikkhu evaṃ vadeyya:

Here, monks, a monk might speak like this:

‘Amukasmim nāma āvāse sambahulā therā bhikkhū viharanti, tesaṃ-ca therānaṃ duggahitaṃ’ti iti hetuṃ bhikkhave chaḍḍeyyātha.

it is not well learned by those elders,’ and, monks, you should abandon it.

¹⁷⁹ Commenting on this phrase the Commentary to AN (PTS 2:189) says: Dhammadharā ti Suttantapiṭakadharā, Vinayadharā ti Vinayapiṭakadharā, Mātikādhārā ti Dvematikādhārā. The last item is defined therefore as being bearers of both the Bhikkhu- and Bhikkhūṇī-Pātimokkhā.

Tāni ce Sutte osāriyamānāni Vinaye sandassiyamānāni

If when these are laid alongside the Discourses, compared with the Discipline

Sutte ceva osaranti Vinaye ca sandissanti,

[The Last Meal]

Atha kho Bhagavā Bhoganagare yathābhirantaṃ viharitvā,

addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāṃ’ Ānanda yena Pāvā tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti

“Come Ānanda let us approach Pāvā.”¹⁸¹

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.

“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ yena Pāvā tad-avasari.

Then the Gracious One together with a great Community of monks arrived at Pāvā.

Tatra sudam Bhagavā Pāvāyaṃ viharati Cundassa Kammāraputtassa Ambavane.

There the Gracious One lived near Pāvā in Cunda the Smith’s¹⁸² mango wood.

Assosi kho Cundo Kammāraputto:

Cunda the Smith heard:

“Bhagavā kira Pāvāṃ anupatto,

“The Gracious One, it seems, has arrived at Pāvā, Pāvāyaṃ viharati mayhaṃ ambavane.” ti and is dwelling near Pāvā, in my mango wood.”

Atha kho Cundo Kammāraputto yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,

Then Cunda the Smith approached the Gracious One,

¹⁸⁰ cf. Cundasuttaṃ (Ud. 8:5) Part One.

¹⁸² Comm: Suvaṇṇakāraputtassa, the Gold Smith, I take -putta here as pleonastic, otherwise it would mean son of the (Gold-)Smith.

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Bhagavā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassesi samādapesi samuttejesi sampahaṃsesi.

the Gracious One instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered him with a talk about the Teaching.

Atha kho Cundo Kammāraputto,

* Then Cunda the Smith,

Bhagavatā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassito samādapito samuttejito sampahaṃsito,

having been instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered by the Gracious One with a talk about the Teaching,

Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

said this to the Gracious One:

“Adhivāsetu me Bhante Bhagavā

“May the Gracious One consent, reverend Sir, to me

svātanāya bhattam saddhim Bhikkhusaṅghenā.” ti

(offering him) a meal on the morrow, together with the Community of monks.”

Adivāsesi Bhagavā tuṇhībhāvena.

The Gracious One consented by maintaining silence.

Atha kho Cundo Kammāraputto Bhagavato adhivāsanam veditvā,

Then Cunda the Smith, having understood the Gracious One's consent, after rising from his seat, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One, went away.

Atha kho Cundo Kammāraputto tassā rattiyā accayena,

Then the Gracious One, having dressed in the morning time,

pattacīvaram-ādāya, saddhiṃ Bhikkhusaṅghena,
after picking up his bowl and robe, together with the Community of monks, yena Cundassa Kammāraputtassa nivesanaṃ tenupasaṅkhami, approached Cunda the Smith’s residence,

upasaṅkhamitvā, paññatte āsane nisīdi.
and after approaching, he sat down on the prepared seat.

Nisajja kho Bhagavā Cundaṃ Kammāraputtaṃ āmantesi:
Having sat down, the Gracious One addressed Cunda the Smith, (saying):

“Yaṃ te Cunda sūkaramaddavaṃ paṭiyattaṃ tena maṃ parivisa, “Serve me with the tender pork you have prepared, Cunda, yaṃ panaññaṃ khādanīyaṃ bhojanīyaṃ paṭiyattaṃ

* but serve the Community of monks with the other foodstuffs

tena Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ parivisa.” ti which have been prepared.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho Cundo Kammāraputto Bhagavato paṭissutvā,
“Very well, reverend Sir”, said Cunda the Smith, and after replying to the Gracious One, yaṃ ahosi sūkaramaddavaṃ paṭiyattaṃ, tena Bhagavantaṃ parivisi, he served the Gracious One with the tender pork that had been prepared,

yaṃ panaññaṃ khādanīyaṃ bhojanīyaṃ paṭiyattaṃ tena Bhikkhusaṅghaṃ parivisi.
but served the Community of monks with the other foodstuffs which had been prepared.

¹⁸³ Sūkaramaddavan-ti nātitaruṇassa nātijiṇṇassa ekajeṭṭhakasūkarassa pavattamaṃsaṃ; tender pork means fresh meat from a great pig that is not too young nor too old. Elsewhere in the Commentaries there are some further suggestions: that it was made of soft rice cooked with the five products of a cow; an elixir of life (rasāyanavidhi); bamboo shoots trampled by pigs; or mushrooms.

Atha kho Bhagavā Cundaṃ Kammāraputtam āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One addressed Cunda the Smith, (saying):

“Yaṃ te Cunda sūkaramaddavaṃ avasiṭṭhaṃ taṃ sobbhe nikhaṇāhi, “Throw that left over tender pork into a pit, Cunda, nāhaṃ taṃ Cunda passāmi,

(for) I do not see, Cunda, sadevake loke samārake sabrahmake,

in the world with its Divinities, Māra, and Brahmā, sassamaṇabrāhmaṇiyā pajāya sadevamanussāya,

in this generation with its ascetics and brahmins, princes and men, yassa taṃ paribhuttaṃ sammā pariṇāmaṃ gaccheyya,

one who, having eaten it, could completely digest it,

aññatra Tathāgatassā.” ti except for a Realised One.”¹⁸⁴

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho Cundo Kammāraputto Bhagavato paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir”, said Cunda the Smith, and after replying to the Gracious One,

yaṃ ahosi sūkaramaddavaṃ avasiṭṭhaṃ taṃ sobbhe nikhaṇitvā, and throwing what was left over of that tender pork into a pit, yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,

he approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinnaṃ kho Cundaṃ Kammāraputtam

While sitting on one side Cunda the Smith

Bhagavā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassetvā samādapetvā, samuttejetvā sampahaṃsetvā,

having been instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered by the Gracious One with a talk about the Teaching, uṭṭhāyāsanā, pakkāmi.

having risen from the seat, went away.

¹⁸⁴ It is presumably this passage which makes people think that the last meal was the cause of the Buddha's illness, however the Commentary denies this: bhuttassa udapādi, na pana bhuttapaccayā; it occurred when he had eaten, but not because he had eaten.

Atha kho Bhagavato, Cundassa Kammāraputtassa bhattam bhuttāvissa, Then for the Gracious One, after eating Cunda the Smith's food, kharo ābādho uppajji, lohitapakkhandikā,

a painful affliction arose, bloody dysentery,

pabāḷhā vedanā vattanti maraṇantikā.
and strong feelings occurred, such as end in death.

Tā sudam Bhagavā sato sampajāno adhvāsesi avihaññamāno.
There the Gracious One, mindfully, with full awareness, bore (those pains) without being troubled.

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Āyāmaṃ Ānanda yena Kusinārā tenupasaṅkamissāmā.” ti “Come, Ānanda, let us approach Kusinārā.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
“Very well, reverend Sir”, venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

“Cundassa bhattam bhuñjivā Kammārassā ti me sutam, “Having eaten Cunda the Smith's food, so I have heard,

Ābādham samphusī Dhīro pabāḷham maraṇantikam.
The Firm One experienced a very strong affliction, such as ends in death.

Bhuttassa ca sūkaramaddavena,
* For the Teacher, who had eaten tender pork,

Byādhīpabāḷho udapādi Satthuno.
A very strong sickness arose.

Viriccamāno Bhagavā avoca:
While (still) purging the Gracious One said:

‘Gacchāmahaṃ Kusināraṃ nagaran’.”-ti
‘I (will) go to the town of Kusinārā.’”¹⁸⁵

¹⁸⁵ The Commentary notes: Imā gāthāyo Saṅgītikāle saṅgītikārakehi vuttā - these verses were spoken by the recitors at the time of the (first) Council.

[Bringing Drinking Water]

Atha kho Bhagavā maggā okkamma,

Then the Gracious One, having gone down from the road,

yena aññataraṃ rukkhamūlaṃ tenupasaṅkami, approached the root of a certain tree,

upasaṅkamitvā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

and after approaching, he addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ Ānanda catugguṇaṃ saṅghāṭiṃ paññāpehi,

“Come now, Ānanda, prepare the outer robe folded in four for me, kilantosmi Ānanda nisīdissāmī.” ti

I am weary, Ānanda, and will sit down.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir”, said venerable Ānanda, and after replying to the Gracious One,

catugguṇaṃ saṅghāṭiṃ paññāpesi, nisīdi Bhagavā paññatte āsane.

he prepared the outer robe folded in four, and the Gracious One sat down on the prepared seat.¹⁸⁷

Nisajja kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

While sitting the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ Ānanda pāṇīyaṃ āhara,

“Come now, Ānanda, bring drinking water,

pipāsitosmi Ānanda pivissāmī.” ti

I am thirsty, Ānanda, and will drink.”

Evaṃ vutte, āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantāṃ etad-avoca:

After that was said, venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Idāni Bhante pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni atikkantāni,

“Just now, reverend Sir, five hundred wagons have passed by,

¹⁸⁶ cf. Cundasuttaṃ (Ud. 8:5) Part Two.

¹⁸⁷ The Commentary tells us that the Buddha had to sit down like this 25 times on the way from Pāvā to Kusinārā.

taṃ cakkacchinnam udakam parittam luḷitam āvilam sandati.

and the little water that flows, having been churned by the wheels, is stirred up and disturbed.

Ayam Bhante Kakutthā nadī¹⁸⁸ avidūre,

The Kakutthā river is not far away,

acchodakā sātodakā sītodakā setodakā supatitthā ramaṇīyā,

with transparent water, agreeable water, cool water, pure water, with beautiful banks, a delightful (place),

ettha Bhagavā pāṇīyaṃ-ca pivissati gattāni ca sītīkarissatī.” ti

there the Gracious One can drink drinking water, and can cool his limbs.”

Dutiyam-pi kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

For a second time the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ Ānanda pāṇīyaṃ āhara,

“Come now, Ānanda, bring drinking water,

pipāsitosmi Ānanda pivissāmī.” ti

I am thirsty, Ānanda, and will drink.”

Dutiyam-pi kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

For a second time venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Idāni Bhante pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni atikkantāni,

“Just now, reverend Sir, five hundred wagons have passed by,

taṃ cakkacchinnam udakam parittam luḷitam āvilam sandati.

and the little water that flows, having been churned by the wheels, is stirred up and disturbed.

Ayam Bhante Kakutthā nadī avidūre,

The Kakutthā river is not far away,

acchodakā sātodakā sītodakā setodakā supatitthā ramaṇīyā,

with transparent water, agreeable water, cool water, pure water, with beautiful banks, a delightful (place),

ettha Bhagavā pāṇīyaṃ-ca pivissati gattāni ca sītīkarissatī.” ti

there the Gracious One can drink drinking water, and can cool his limbs.”

¹⁸⁸ BJT: Kukuttha; Thai: Kakudhanadī; ChS: Kakudhā nadī, and similarly throughout. The correct spelling of the name is uncertain.

Tatīyam-pi kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

For a third time the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ Ānanda pānīyaṃ āhara,

“Come now, Ānanda, bring drinking water,

pipāsitosmi Ānanda pivissāmi.” ti

I am thirsty, Ānanda, and will drink.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir”, said venerable Ānanda, and after replying to the Gracious One,

pattaṃ gahetvā, yena sā nadikā tenupasaṅkami.

and taking the bowl, he approached the little river.

Atha kho sā nadikā cakkacchinnā parittā luḷitā āvilā sandamānā,

Then that little river that was flowing, which had been churned by the wheels, and was stirred up and disturbed, āyasmante Ānande upasaṅkamante, acchā vipprasannā anāvilā sandittha.

as venerable Ānanda was approaching, flowed transparent, clear, and undisturbed.

Atha kho āyasmato Ānandassa etad-ahosi:

Then it occurred to venerable Ānanda:

“Acchariyaṃ vata bho, abbhutaṃ vata bho,

“Surely it is wonderful, surely it is marvellous,

Tathāgatassa mahiddhikatā mahānubhāvatā,

the Realised One’s great power and great majesty,

ayaṇhi sā nadikā cakkacchinnā parittā luḷitā āvilā sandamānā,

in that that little river that is flowing, which has been churned by wheels, and is stirred up and disturbed,

mayi upasaṅkamante, acchā vipprasannā anāvilā sandatī.” ti

as I was approaching, flowed transparent, clear, and undisturbed.”

Pattena pānīyaṃ ādāya yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,

After taking a bowl of drinking water he approached the Gracious One, upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:

and after approaching, he said this to the Gracious One:

“Acchariyaṃ Bhante, abbhutaṃ Bhante,

“It is wonderful, reverend Sir, it is marvellous, reverend Sir,

Tathāgatassa mahiddhikatā mahānubhāvatā,
the Realised One's great power and great majesty,

idāni sā Bhante nadikā cakkacchinnā parittā luḍitā āvilā sandamānā,
in that that little river that is flowing, which has been churned by wheels, and is stirred up and disturbed, mayi upasaṅkamante, acchā vipprasannā anāvilā sandittha.

as I was approaching, flowed transparent, clear, and undisturbed.

Pivatu Bhagavā pāṇīyaṃ! Pivatu Sugato pāṇīyaṃ!"-ti Please drink the drinking water, Gracious One! Please drink the drinking water, Fortunate One!"

Atha kho Bhagavā pāṇīyaṃ apāyi.
Then the Gracious One drank the water.

[31: Pukkusa-Mallaputtakathā]¹⁸⁹
[The Story concerning Pukkusa Mallaputta]

Tena kho pana samayena Pukkuso Mallaputto Ājārassa Kālāmassa sāvako,
Now at that time Pukkusa Mallaputta, a disciple of Ājāra Kālāma, Kusinārāya Pāvāṃ addhānamaggapaṭipanno hoti.

was travelling along the highway from Pāvā to Kusinārā.

Addasā kho Pukkuso Mallaputto Bhagavantam aññatarasmim rukkhamūle nisinnam.

Pukkusa Mallaputta saw the Gracious One sitting at the root of a certain tree.

Disvā yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,
And having seen (him) he approached the Gracious One,

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.
and after approaching and worshipping the Gracious One, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho Pukkuso Mallaputto Bhagavantam etad-avoca:
While sitting on one side Pukkusa Mallaputta said this to the Gracious One:

"Acchariyaṃ Bhante abbhutaṃ Bhante,
"It is wonderful, reverend Sir, it is marvellous, reverend Sir, santena vata Bhante pabbajitā vihārena viharanti.

that those who have gone forth, reverend Sir, live such a peaceful living.

¹⁸⁹ This section doesn't appear in the Udāna, or elsewhere as far as I can see.

Bhūtapubbaṃ Bhante Āḷāro Kālāmo addhānamaggapaṭipanno maggā okkamma, Formerly, reverend Sir, Āḷāra Kālāma¹⁹⁰ descended from the highway he was travelling along,

avidūre aññatarasmiṃ rukkhamaṇe divāvihāraṃ nisīdi.
and was dwelling for the day sat not far away at the root of a certain tree.

Atha kho Bhante pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni
Then, reverend Sir, about five hundred waggons

Āḷāraṃ Kālāmaṃ nissāya nissāya atikkamimsu.
passed by very close to Āḷāra Kālāma.

Atha kho Bhante aññataro puriso
Then, reverend Sir, a certain man

tassa sakaṭasatthassa piṭṭhito piṭṭhito āgacchanto who was traveling along behind those waggons yena Āḷāro Kālāmo tenupasaṅkami, approached Āḷāra Kālāma,

upasaṅkamitvā Āḷāraṃ Kālāmaṃ etad-avoca:
and after approaching he said this to Āḷāra Kālāma:

‘Api Bhante pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni atikkantāni addasā?’ ti ‘Did you not see, reverend Sir, about five hundred waggons pass by?’

‘Na kho ahaṃ āvuso addasan’-ti
‘I did not see, friend.’

‘Kim-pana Bhante saddaṃ assosī?’ ti
‘But, reverend Sir, did you not hear the sound?’

‘Na kho ahaṃ āvuso saddaṃ assosin’-ti
‘I did not hear the sound, friend.’

‘Kim-pana Bhante sutto ahoṣī?’ ti
‘But, reverend Sir, were you sleeping?’

‘Na kho ahaṃ āvuso sutto ahoṣin’-ti
‘I was not sleeping, friend.’

¹⁹⁰ Āḷāra Kālāma had been one of the Gotama’s early teachers, who taught him the attainment of the sphere of nothingness (ākāṅkamaññāyatana). The Bodhisatta wasn’t satisfied with this though, and sought out another teacher, Udaka Rāmaputta. Nothing more is known about Āḷāra, but he was evidently an adept at absorption (jhāna), as the following story shows.

‘Kim-pana Bhante saññī ahoṣī?’ ti

‘But, reverend Sir, were you conscious?’

‘Evam-āvuso.’ ti

‘Yes, friend.’

‘So tvaṃ Bhante saññī samāno jāgaro,

‘So you, reverend Sir, though conscious and awake,

pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni nissāya nissāya atikkantāni

when about five hundred waggons passed by very close neva addasa na pana saddaṃ assosi!

neither saw (them) nor heard a sound!

Apissu te Bhante saṅghāṭi rajena okiṇṇā!’ ti

Why, reverend Sir, even your double-robe is covered with dust!’

‘Evam-āvuso’ ti

‘Yes, friend.’

Atha kho Bhante tassa purisassa etad-ahosi:

Then this occurred to that man:

‘Acchariyaṃ vata bho abbhutaṃ vata bho,

‘Surely it is wonderful, surely it is marvellous,

santena vata bho pabbajitā vihārena viharanti.

that those who have indeed gone forth live such a peaceful living.

Yatra hi nāma saññī samāno jāgaro,

Because though conscious and awake,

pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni nissāya nissāya atikkantāni

when about five hundred waggons passed by very close

neva dakkhiti na pana saddaṃ sossatī’ ti

he did not see (them) or hear a sound!’¹⁹¹

Āḷāre Kālāme uḷāraṃ pasādaṃ pavedetvā, pakkāmī.” ti

¹⁹¹ Comm: neva dakkhiti ti na addasa. Yatra saddayuttattā panetaṃ anāgatavasena vuttaṃ; he did not see, he didn’t see. He used the future (tense) because of the connection with yatra. However, it appears dakkhiti is also used as a present tense verb. See PED Dassati* p. 316 where examples are given.

“Taṃ kiṃ maññasi Pukkusa, “Now what do you think, Pukkusa, katamaṃ nu kho dukkarataraṃ vā durabhisambhavataraṃ vā:

which is the more difficult to do or the more difficult to come by:

yo vā saññī samāno jāgaro,
that someone though conscious and awake,

pañcamattāni sakaṭasatāni nissāya nissāya atikkantāni
when about five hundred waggons passed by very close neva passeyya na pana saddaṃ suṇeyya, should neither see (them) nor hear a sound, yo vā saññī samāno jāgaro Deve vassante Deve gaḷagaḷāyante or that someone, though conscious and awake, when the Divinities rain down, when the Divinities throw it down,

vijjutāsu niccharantīsu asaniyā phalantiyā,
and the lightning flashes, and the thunder crashes forth,

neva passeyya na pana saddaṃ suṇeyyā?” ti
should neither see (it) nor hear a sound?”

“Kiṃ hi Bhante karissanti pañca vā sakaṭasatāni, “Why, reverend Sir, what to make of five-hundred waggons, cha vā sakaṭasatāni, satta vā sakaṭasatāni, aṭṭha vā sakaṭasatāni, six-hundred waggons, seven-hundred waggons, eight-hundred waggons, nava vā sakaṭasatāni, sakaṭasahassaṃ vā, sakaṭasahasahassaṃ vā?

nine-hundred waggons, one thousand waggons, or one-hundred thousand waggons?

Atha kho etad-eva dukkarataraṇ-ceva durabhisambhavataraṇ-ca:
This is the more difficult to do or the more difficult to come by:

yo saññī samāno jāgaro deve vassante deve gaḷagaḷāyante that someone, though conscious and awake, when the Divinities rain down, when the Divinities throw it down,

vijjutāsu niccharantīsu asaniyā phalantiyā,
and the lightning flashes, and the thunder crashes forth,

neva passeyya na pana saddaṃ suṇeyyā.” ti
should neither see (it) nor hear a sound.”

‘Ekam-idāhaṃ Pukkusa samayaṃ Ātumāyaṃ viharāmi Bhūsāgāre.
‘One day, Pukkusa, I was living near Ātumā at the Decorated House.

Tena kho pana samayena Deve vassante Deve gaḷagaḷāyante
Now at that time the Divinities rained down, the Divinities threw it down,

vijjutāsu niccharantīsu asaniyā phalantiyā,
and the lightning flashed, and the thunder crashed forth, avidūre Bhūsāgārassa dve kassakā bhātaro hatā cattāro ca balivaddā.

and not far away from the Decorated House two brothers who were farmers died, along with four oxen.

Atha kho Pukkusa Ātumāya mahājanakāyo nikkhamitvā,
Then, Pukkusa, a great crowd of people having departed from Ātumā, yena te dve kassakā bhātaro hatā cattāro ca balivaddā tenupasaṅkami.

went to the place where the brothers who were farmers and the four oxen had died.

Tena kho panāhaṃ Pukkusa samayena Bhūsāgārā nikkhamitvā,
Then, Pukkusa, at that time, after leaving the Decorated House,

Bhūsāgāradvāre abbhokāse caṅkamāmi.
I was walking in the open air near the gate to the Decorated House.

Atha kho Pukkusa aññataro puriso tamhā mahājanakāyā yenāhaṃ tenupasaṅkami,
Then, Pukkusa, a certain man from that crowd approached me, upasaṅkamitvā maṃ abhivādetvā ekam-antaṃ aṭṭhāsi.

and after approaching and worshipping me, he stood on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ ʈhitam kho ahaṃ Pukkusa taṃ purisaṃ etad-avocaṃ:
While standing there, Pukkusa, I said to that man:

‘Kin-nu kho so āvuso mahājanakāyo sannipatito?’ ti
‘Why, friend, has that great crowd of people assembled?’

‘Idāni Bhante Deve vassante Deve gaḷagaḷāyante, and two brothers who were farmers died, along with four oxen, ettha so mahājanakāyo sannipatito.

and that great crowd of people assembled here.

Tvaṃ pana Bhante kva ahoṣī' ti?
But where were you, reverend Sir?

'Idheva kho ahaṃ āvuso ahoṣin.'-ti
'I was right here, friend.'

'Kim-pana Bhante addasā?' ti¹⁹²
'But, reverend Sir, did you see (it)?'

'Na kho ahaṃ āvuso addaṣan.'-ti

'But, reverend Sir, were you sleeping?'

'Na kho ahaṃ āvuso sutto ahoṣin.'-ti
'I was not sleeping, friend.'

'Kim-pana Bhante saññī ahoṣī?' ti
'But, reverend Sir, were you conscious?'

'Evam-āvuso.' ti
'Yes, friend.'

'So tvaṃ Bhante saññī samāno jāgaro Deve vassante Deve gaḷagaḷāyante
'So, reverend Sir, though conscious and awake when the Divinities rained down, when the Divinities threw it down, you neither saw (it), nor heard a sound!'

'Evam-āvuso.' ti
'Yes, friend.'

¹⁹² BJT: na addasā ti; which would mean: did you not see (it)?

Atha kho Pukkusa tassa purisassa etad-ahosi:

Then, Pukkusa, this occurred to that man:

‘Acchariyaṃ vata bho abbhutaṃ vata bho,

‘Surely it is wonderful, surely it is marvellous, worshipping and circumambulating me, he left.”

Evam vutte Pukkuso Mallaputto Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:

After this was said, Pukkusa Mallaputta said this to the Gracious One:

‘Esāhaṃ Bhante yo me Āḷāre Kālāme pasādo,

‘That faith, reverend Sir, I have in Āḷāra Kālāma, taṃ mahāvāte vā opuṇāmi, sīghasotāya vā nadiyā pavāhemi:

I clear away as with a great wind, I wash (it) away as with a fast-flowing river:

Abhikkantaṃ Bhante! Abhikkantaṃ Bhante!

Excellent, reverend Sir! Excellent, reverend Sir!

Seyyathā pi Bhante nikkujjitaṃ vā ukkujjeyya,

Just as, reverend Sir, one might set upright what has been overturned, paṭicchannaṃ vā vivareyya, mūḷhassa vā maggaṃ ācikkheyya, or open up what has been closed, or show a path to one who is lost, andhakāre vā telapajjotaṃ dhāreyya cakkhumanto rūpāni dakkhinti, or bear an oil lamp in the darkness so that one who has eyes can see forms, evam-evam̐ Bhagavatā anekapariyāyena Dhammo pakāsito.

just so has the Teaching been made clear by the Gracious One in more than one way.

Esāham̐ Bhante Bhagavantam̐ saraṇam̐ gacchāmi,

I go to the Gracious One, reverend Sir, for refuge,

Dhammañ-ca Bhikkhusaṅghañ-ca.

and to the Teaching, and to the Community of monks.

Upāsakam̐ maṃ Bhagavā dhāretu

Please bear it in mind, Gracious One, that I am a lay disciple who has gone for refuge from today forward for as long as I am furnished with life.”

Atha kho Pukkuso Mallaputto aññataram̐ purisam̐ āmantesi:

Then Pukkusa Mallaputta addressed a certain man, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ bhaṇe siṅgivaṇṇam̐ yugamaṭṭham̐ dhāraṇīyam̐ āharā.” ti

“Come, my man, bring me a pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho so puriso Pukkusassa Mallaputtassa paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir,” said that man, and after replying to Pukkusa Mallaputta, taṃ siṅgivaṇṇam̐ yugamaṭṭham̐ dhāraṇīyam̐ āhari.

he brought a pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear.

Atha kho Pukkuso Mallaputto

Then Pukkusa Mallaputta

taṃ siṅgivaṇṇam̐ yugamaṭṭham̐ dhāraṇīyam̐ Bhagavato upanāmesī:

offered that pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear, to the Gracious One, (saying):

“Idaṃ Bhante siṅgivaṇṇam̐ yugamaṭṭham̐ dhāraṇīyam̐

* “Please accept, reverend Sir, this pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear

taṃ me Bhagavā paṭiggaṇhātu anukampaṃ upādāyā.” ti out of compassion for me, Gracious One.”

“Tena hi Pukkusa ekena maṃ acchādehi ekena Ānandan.”-ti
“Then, Pukkusa, clothe me with one, and Ānanda with the other.”¹⁹³

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho Pukkuso Mallaputto Bhagavato paṭissutvā, “Very well, reverend Sir,” said Pukkusa Mallaputta, and after replying to the Gracious One ekena Bhagavantam acchādesi ekena āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ.

he clothed the Gracious One with one, and Ānanda with the other.

Atha kho Bhagavā Pukkusaṃ Mallaputtaṃ Dhammiyā kathāya sandassesi
* Then the Gracious One instructed Pukkusa Mallaputta roused, enthused, and cheered (him) with a talk about the Teaching.

Atha kho Pukkuso Mallaputto,
Then Pukkusa Mallaputta,

Bhagavatā Dhammiyā kathāya sandassito samādapito samuttejito sampahaṃsito
having been instructed, roused, enthused, and cheered by the Gracious One with a talk about the Teaching, utthāyāsanā Bhagavantam abhivādetvā padakkhiṇaṃ katvā, pakkāmi.

after rising from his seat, worshipping and circumambulating the Gracious One, departed.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando acirapakkante Pukkuse Mallaputte, Then, venerable Ānanda, not long after Pukkusa Mallaputta had departed, taṃ siṅgīvaṇṇaṃ yugamaṭṭhaṃ dhāraṇīyaṃ Bhagavato kāyaṃ upanāmesī, offered that pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear, to the Gracious One,

taṃ Bhagavato kāyaṃ upanāmitaṃ vītaccikaṃ viya khāyati.
and when placed on the Gracious One’s body they appeared to have lost their gleam.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:
Then venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Acchariyaṃ Bhante abbhutaṃ Bhante
“It is wonderful, reverend Sir, it is marvellous, reverend Sir,

¹⁹³ This is curious as Ānanda had made it a condition of his serving as attendant to the Buddha that he would not receive robes from him. The Commentary, quite embarrassed, has a weak explanation of the event, saying that his service to the Buddha had now come to an end.

yāva parisuddho Bhante Tathāgatassa chavivaṇṇo pariyodāto!
how pure and clean is the Realised One's skin-colour, reverend Sir!

Idaṃ Bhante siṅgivaṇṇaṃ yugamaṭṭhaṃ dhāraṇīyaṃ
This pair of polished gold-coloured (robes), ready to wear, reverend Sir, Bhagavato kāyaṃ upanāmitaṃ vītaccikaṃ viya khāyatī!" ti when placed on the Gracious One's body have lost their gleam!"

"Evam-etaṃ Ānanda dvīsu kho Ānanda kālesu
"Just so, Ānanda, on two occasions, Ānanda, ativiya Tathāgatassa kāyo parisuddho hoti chavivaṇṇo pariyodāto.

the Realised One's skin-colour becomes exceedingly pure and clean.

Katamesu dvīsu?
On which two occasions?

Yaṇ-ca Ānanda rattiṃ Tathāgato anuttaraṃ Sammāsambodhiṃ abhisambujjhati, That night, Ānanda, the Realised One perfectly awakens to the unsurpassed and Perfect Awakening, yaṇ-ca Tathāgato rattiṃ anupādisesāya nibbānadhātuyā parinibbāyati.

and that night the Realised One is Finally Emancipated in the Emancipation-element which has no basis for attachment remaining.

Imesu kho Ānanda dvīsu kālesu
On these two occasions

ativiya Tathāgatassa kāyo parisuddho hoti chavivaṇṇo pariyodāto.
the Realised One's skin-colour is exceedingly pure and clean.

Ajja kho pan' Ānanda rattiyaṃ pacchime yāme,
Today, Ānanda, during the last watch of the night,

Kusinārāyaṃ Upavattane Mallānaṃ Sālavane, near to Kusinārā, in the Mallas' Sal Wood at Upavattana, antarena yamakasālānaṃ Tathāgatassa Parinibbānaṃ bhavissati.

between a pair of Sal trees will be the Realised One's Final Emancipation.

"Āyāma' Ānanda yena Kakutthā nadī tenupasaṅkamissāma." ti
"Come Ānanda let us approach River Kakutthā."

"Evaṃ Bhante," ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.
"Very well, reverend Sir," venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

“Siṅgīvaṇṇaṃ yugaṃ maṭṭhaṃ Pukkuso abhihārayi,
“A pair of polished gold-coloured (robes) was offered by Pukkusa, Tena acchādito Satthā hemavaṇṇo asobhathā” ti.

Once clothed with it the Teacher’s golden (skin) colour shone forth.”¹⁹⁴

[32: Cundassa Mahānisaṃso]¹⁹⁵
[Cunda’s Great Gain]

Atha kho Bhagavā mahatā Bhikkhusaṅghena saddhim
Then the Gracious One with a great Community of monks yena Kakutthā nadī tenupasaṅkami, went to the river Kakutthā, upasaṅkamitvā, Kakutthaṃ nadim ajjhogāhetvā,

and after going, and entering into the river Kakutthā, nahātvā ca pivitvā ca paccuttaritvā yena ambavanaṃ tenupasaṅkami, bathing, and drinking, and coming back out, he approached the mango wood, upasaṅkamitvā, āyasmantaṃ Cundakaṃ āmantesi:

and after approaching, he addressed venerable Cundaka, (saying):

“Iṅha me tvaṃ Cundaka catugguṇaṃ saṅghāṭim paññāpehi, “Come now, Cundaka, prepare the outer robe folded in four for me, kilantosmi Cundaka nipajjissāmī.” ti

I am weary, Cundaka, and will lie down.”¹⁹⁶

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Cundako Bhagavato paṭissutvā, “Very well, reverend Sir”, said venerable Cundaka, and after replying to the Gracious One, catugguṇaṃ saṅghāṭim paññāpesi.

he prepared the outer robe folded in four.

¹⁹⁴ Comm: Siṅgīvaṇṇan-ti gāthā Saṅgītikāle ṭhapitā; gold-coloured, this verse was placed (here) at the time of the (First) Council.

¹⁹⁵ cf. Cundasuttaṃ (Ud. 8:5) Part Three.

¹⁹⁶ The Commentary explains that Ānanda was still wringing out his bathing robe (udakasāṭakaṃ), so the Buddha asked Cundaka to help. We can see from this and other references that it was normal for the monks to spread their robes on the floor and to sit or lie down on them.

Atha kho Bhagavā dakkhiṇena passena sīhaseyyaṃ kappesi,

Then the Gracious One, lay down on his right side in the lion's posture, pāde pādaṃ accādhāya sato sampajāno uṭṭhānasaññaṃ manasikarivā.

after placing one foot on the top of the other, mindfully, with full awareness, having applied his mind to the thought of rising.

Āyasmā pana Cundako tattheva Bhagavato purato nisīdi.

And venerable Cundaka sat down right there in front of the Gracious One.

“Gantvāna Buddho nadikaṃ Kakuttham,

“The Awakened One, having gone to the little river Kakutthā,

Acchodakaṃ sātodakaṃ vipprasannaṃ,

the Realised One, who is unmatched here in the world.

N^ahātvā ca pītvā cudatāri Satthā

After washing and drinking, the Teacher came out,

Purakkhato bhikkhugaṇassa majjhe,

And in the middle of the Community of monks, at the front,

Satthā pavattā Bhagavādha Dhamme,

The Teacher, the Gracious One, having taught the Teaching here,

Upāgamī ambavanaṃ Mahesi.

The Great Sage went to the mango wood.

Āmantayī Cundakaṃ nāma bhikkhum:

He addressed the monk called Cundaka, (saying):

“Catugguṇaṃ patthara me nipajjaṃ,”

“Spread out (the robe) folded in four for me to lie down on,”

¹⁹⁷ Thai, ChS: akilanta-, which reverses the meaning.

So codito¹⁹⁸ Bhāvitattena Cundo, Cunda, urged by the One with Developed Mind,

Catugguṇaṃ patthari khippam-eva.
Very quickly spread (the robe) folded in four.

Nipajji Satthā sukilantarūpo,¹⁹⁹
The Teacher, very weary, lay down,

Cundo pi tattha pamukhe nisīdī.” ti
With Cunda sat right there at the front.”²⁰⁰

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Siyā kho pan’ Ānanda,
“It may be, Ānanda,

²¹⁵ ChS: sāratthe, throughout, which would mean (live striving for) the essential good.

²¹⁶ This seems to record a different tradition to the one just below, which is presumably inserted here to give authority for the cremation procedure that follows later.

“Katham pana Bhante Tathāgatassa sarīre paṭipajjitabban.”-ti
“How should we act, reverend Sir, in regard to the Realised One’s body?”

“Yathā kho Ānanda Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjanti, so you should act in regard to the Realised One’s body.”

“Katham pana Bhante Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjantī?” ti
“But how do they act, reverend Sir, in regard to the Universal Monarch’s body?”

“Rañño Ānanda Cakkavattissa sarīraṃ ahatena vatthena veṭhenti,

²¹⁷ The Commentary defines iron as gold here: āyasāyā ti sovaṇṇāya, sovaṇṇañ-hi idha ayasan-ti adhippetam; made of iron means made of gold, because here gold is meant when iron (is said). It may be, as Rhys-Davids believes (p. 155 n.4), that iron was not thought of as being a sufficiently valuable metal by the time the Commentaries were being written. I can find nowhere else where āyasa is defined as gold, and so let the translation as iron stand.

who are devoted to the Realised One, and will worshipfully (dispose of) the Realised One’s body.”

²²⁶ cf. the opening of Mahāsudassanasuttam (DN 17). According to Yang-Gyu An (p. 167) in the other versions of this discourse the whole of Mahāsudassanasuttam is included at this point.

²²⁷ PTS: kuḍḍa-, throughout, which Rhys-Davids derives from Sanskrit kuḍya and translates as wattle-and-daub. However, the explanation in the Commentary (ChS): khuddakanagarake ti nagarapatirūpake sambādhe khuddakanagarake shows that this cannot be correct. The unnecessary repetition of khuddaka- in the definition, however, indicates we should probably take khudda- as the reading. PTS has this as a variant, but none of the texts consulted have it as the reading.

[38: Mallā Bhagavato Vandanā]
[The Mallas Worship the Gracious One]

“Gaccha tvaṃ Ānanda Kusināraṃ pavisitvā, Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ ārocehi:

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paṭissutvā,

[39: Subhaddo Pacchimo Sakkhisāvako]
[Subhaddha, the Last Direct Disciple]

Tena kho pana samayena Subhaddo nāma paribbājako Kusinārāyaṃ paṭivasati.
Now at that time a wanderer named Subhadda²³⁴ had arrived at Kusinārā.

Assosi kho Subhaddo paribbājako:
The wanderer Subhadda heard:

“Ajja kira rattiyā pacchime yāme,
“Today, it seems, in the last watch of the night, samaṇassa Gotamassa Parinibbānaṃ bhavissatī.” ti will be the ascetic Gotama’s attainment of Final Emancipation.”

Atha kho Subhaddassa paribbājakassa etad-ahosi:
Then this occurred to the wanderer Subhadda:

“Sutaṃ kho pana metaṃ paribbājakānaṃ vuḍḍhānaṃ mahallakānaṃ,
“I have heard this from old, elderly wanderers,

²³⁴ The Commentary says he was a clothed wanderer (channaparibbājaka) born into a brāhmaṇa family, and gives an interesting story telling how there were two brothers in a previous life who made offerings (to Paccekabuddhas, it seems, though it is not stated). The elder brother gave offerings 9 times from each crop and was reborn as the person who became Aññaṭṭha Koṇḍañña (the first disciple to attain), and the younger one also gave an offering and was later reborn as Subhadda (the last direct disciple to attain).

Atha kho Subhaddo paribbājako yena Upavattanaṃ Mallānaṃ Sālavanaṃ,

Then the wanderer Subhadda approached the Mallas' Sal Wood at Upavattana, yen' Āyasmā Ānando tenupasaṅkami, and approached venerable Ānanda, upasaṅkamitvā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ etad-avoca:

and after approaching he said to venerable Ānanda:

“Sutaṃ metaṃ bho Ānanda paribbājakānaṃ vuḍḍhānaṃ mahallakānaṃ,

It would be well, dear Ānanda, if I was allowed to see the ascetic Gotama.”

Evaṃ vutte āyasmā Ānando Subhaddaṃ paribbājakaṃ etad-avoca:
After this was said, venerable Ānanda said this to the wanderer Subhadda:

“Alaṃ āvuso Subhadda mā Tathāgataṃ viheṭhesi kilanto Bhagavā.” ti
“Enough, friend Subhadda, do not trouble the Realised One, the Gracious One is exhausted.”

Dutiyam-pi kho Subhaddo paribbājako āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ etad-avoca:
For a second time the wanderer Subhadda said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Sutaṃ metaṃ bho Ānanda paribbājakaṇaṃ vuḍḍhānaṃ mahallakānaṃ,
“I have heard this from old, elderly wanderers, dear Ānanda, Sādhāhaṃ bho Ānanda labheyyaṃ samaṇaṃ Gotamaṃ dassaṇāyā.” ti

It would be well, dear Ānanda, if I was allowed to see the ascetic Gotama.

Dutiyam-pi kho āyasmā Ānando Subhaddaṃ paribbājakaṃ etad-avoca:

For a second time venerable Ānanda said this to the wanderer Subhadda:

“Alaṃ āvuso Subhadda mā Tathāgataṃ viheṭhesi kilanto Bhagavā.” ti

“Enough, friend Subhadda, do not trouble the Realised One, the Gracious One is exhausted.”

Tatīyam-pi kho Subhaddo paribbājako āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ etad-avoca:

For a third time the wanderer Subhadda said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Sutaṃ metaṃ bho Ānanda paribbājakānaṃ vuḍḍhānaṃ mahallakānaṃ,

“I have heard this from old, elderly wanderers, dear Ānanda,

Ajjeva rattiyaṃ pacchime yāme samaṇassa Gotamassa Parinibbānaṃ bhavissati.

Today, in the last watch of the night, will be the ascetic Gotama’s attainment of Final Emancipation.

in such a way that I will be able to abandon that doubt’.

Sādhāhaṃ bho Ānanda labheyyaṃ samaṇaṃ Gotamaṃ dassanāyā.” ti
It would be well, dear Ānanda, if I was allowed to see the ascetic Gotama.”

Tatiyaṃ-pi kho āyasmā Ānando Subhaddaṃ paribbājakaṃ etad-avoca:
For a third time venerable Ānanda said this to the wanderer Subhadda:

“Alaṃ āvuso Subhadda mā Tathāgataṃ viheṭhesi kilanto Bhagavā.” ti
“Enough, friend Subhadda, do not trouble the Realised One, the Gracious One is exhausted.”

Assosi kho Bhagavā āyasmato Ānandassa
The Gracious One heard venerable Ānanda

having this conversation with the wanderer Subhadda.

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Alaṃ Ānanda mā Subhaddaṃ vāresi “Enough, Ānanda, do not obstruct Subhadda

Whatever question is put I will answer, and he will quickly understand it.”

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando Subhaddaṃ paribbājakaṃ etad-avoca:
Then venerable Ānanda said this to the wanderer Subhadda:

“Gacchāvuso Subhadda karoti te Bhagavā okāsaṃ.”-ti “Go, friend Subhadda, the Gracious One has given you permission.”

Atha kho Subhaddo paribbājako yena Bhagavā tenupasaṅkami,
Then the wanderer Subhadda approached the Gracious One,

²³⁵ It is curious that the Buddha has to intervene here as he has just been praising Ānanda for knowing the right time for letting people see him!

upasaṅkamitvā Bhagavatā saddhiṃ sammodi,

and after approaching, he exchanged greetings with the Gracious One,

sammodanīyaṃ kathaṃ sārāṇīyaṃ vītisāretvā, ekam-antaṃ nisīdi.

and after exchanging courteous talk and greetings, he sat down on one side.

Ekam-antaṃ nisinno kho Subhaddo paribbājako Bhagavantaṃ etad-avoca:

While sitting on one side the wanderer Subhadda said this to the Gracious One:

“Yeme bho Gotama samaṇabrāhmaṇā saṅghino gaṇino gaṇācariyā,

²³⁶ These are six famous teachers of Lord Buddha’s time. The Nigaṇṭha Nāṭaputta at least had died some time before this.

²³⁷ The Commentary notes that it was neither profitable nor opportune for the Buddha to refute the various sectarians at this point in time, so he simply taught his own Teaching.

Udāhu ekacce abbhaññīmsu?

Or, have some understood?

Udāhu ekacce na abbhaññīmsu?’ ti

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho Subhaddo paribbājako Bhagavato paccassosi,

“Very well, reverend Sir,” the wanderer Subhadda replied to the Gracious One,

Bhagavā etad-avoca:

and the Gracious One said this:

“Yasmiṃ kho Subhadda Dhammavinaye Ariyo Aṭṭhaṅgiko Maggo na upalabbhati cakkhumanto rūpāni dakkhinti, so that one who has eyes can see forms,

evam-evam Bhagavatā anekapariyāyena Dhammo pakāsito.
just so has the Teaching been made clear by the Gracious One in more than one way.

Esāhaṃ Bhante Bhagavantaṃ saraṇaṃ gacchāmi,
I go to the Gracious One for refuge, reverend Sir,

Dhammañ-ca Bhikkhusaṅghañ-ca.
and to the Teaching, and to the Community of monks.

Labheyāhaṃ Bhante Bhagavato santike pabbajjāṃ May I receive the going-forth, reverend Sir, in the presence of the Gracious One,

labheyyaṃ upasampadan.”-ti may I receive the full ordination.”

“Yo kho Subhadda aññatitthiyapubbo imasmiṃ Dhammavinaye “Those who were formerly of another sect who in this Teaching and Discipline ākaṅkhati pabbajjāṃ ākaṅkhati upasampadaṃ so cattāro māse parivasati, desire the going-forth, who desire full ordination, live on probation for four months,

catunnaṃ māsānaṃ accayena,
and at the end of four months,

āraddhacittā bhikkhū pabbājenti upasampādentī bhikkhubhāvāya.
the minds of the monks being satisfied, they give the going-forth and the full ordination into the monkhood.

Api ca-m-ettha puggalavemattatā veditā.” ti
But I understand there is a distinction between persons in this case.”

“Sace Bhante aññatitthiyapubbā imasmiṃ Dhammavinaye, “If, reverend Sir, those who were formerly of another sect who in this Teaching and Discipline, ākaṅkhantā pabbajjāṃ ākaṅkhantā upasampadaṃ cattāro māse parivasanti, desire the going-forth, who desire full ordination, live on probation for four months,

catunnaṃ māsānaṃ accayena,
and at the end of four months,

āraddhacittā bhikkhū pabbājenti upasampādentī bhikkhubhāvāya,

the minds of the monks being satisfied, they give the going-forth and the full ordination into the monkhood,

aham cattāri vassāni parivasissāmi, catunnam vassānam accayena, then I will live on probation for four years, and at the end of four years, āraddhacittā bhikkhū pabbājentu upasampādentu bhikkhubhāvāyā.” ti the minds of the monks being satisfied, they can give the going-forth and the full ordination into the monkhood.”

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Tena h’ Ānanda Subhaddaṃ pabbājehī.” ti

“Then, Ānanda, give the going-forth to Subhadda.”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavato paccassosi.

“Very well, reverend Sir,” venerable Ānanda replied to the Gracious One.

Atha kho Subhaddo paribbājako āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ etad-avoca:

Then the wanderer Subhadda said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Lābhā te āvuso Ānanda suladdhaṃ te āvuso Ānanda,

“There are certainly gains for you, friend Ānanda, it is certainly a good gain for you, friend Ānanda, ye ettha Satthārā sammukhā antevāsikābhisekena abhisittā.” ti that here, face to face with the Teacher, you have been consecrated with an attendant’s consecration.”²⁴⁵

Alattha kho Subhaddo paribbājako

The wanderer Subhadda received the going forth in the presence of the Gracious One, received full ordination.

Bhagavato santike pabbajjāṃ, alattha upasampadaṃ.

Acirūpasampanno kho pan’ Āyasmā Subhaddo,

Then not long after ordination, venerable Subhadda, eko vūpakaṭṭho appamatto ātāpī pahitatto viharanto,

while dwelling solitary, secluded, heedful, ardent, and resolute,

²⁴⁵ Or: you have been sanctified with an attendant’s sanctification, meaning: you have been blessed with the blessing of being an attendant.

na cirasseva yassatthāya kulaputtā sammad-eva after no long time (attained) that good for which young gentlemen agārasmā anagāriyaṃ pabbajanti, rightly go forth from the house to the houseless life,

tad-anuttaraṃ brahmacariyapariyosānaṃ,

that unsurpassed conclusion to the spiritual life,

diṭṭhe va dhamme sayāṃ abhiññā sacchikatvā upasampajja vihāsi.

and dwelt having known, experienced, and attained it himself in this very life.

Khīṇā jāti

Destroyed is (re)birth

vusitaṃ brahmacariyaṃ accomplished is the spiritual life

kataṃ karaṇīyaṃ

done is what ought to be done

nāparaṃ itthattāyā ti abbhaññāsi.

there is no more of this mundane state - this he knew.

Aññataro kho pan' Āyasmā Subhaddo Arahataṃ ahosi.

And venerable Subhadda became another of the Worthy Ones.

So Bhagavato pacchimo sakkhisāvako ahoṣi ti.

He was the last direct disciple of the Gracious One.²⁴⁶

[Chaṭṭhabhāṇavāraṃ] [The Sixth Chapter for Recitation]

[40: Tathāgatassa Pacchimā Anusāsanā] [The Last Instructions of the Realised One]

Atha kho Bhagavā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Siyā kho pan’ Ānanda tumhākaṃ evam-assa:
“It may be, Ānanda, that some of you may think in this way:

‘Atītasatthukaṃ pāvacaṇaṃ natthi no Satthā.’ ti ‘Past is the Teacher’s word, there is now no Teacher for us.’

Na kho panetaṃ Ānanda evaṃ daṭṭhabbaṃ,
But it should not be seen like that, Ānanda, yo vo Ānanda mayā Dhammo ca Vinayo ca desito paññatto

At present, Ānanda, the monks address each other with the word ‘friend’, na kho mamaccayena evaṃ samudācaritabbaṃ.

(but) after my passing away they are not to address (one another) thus.

Theratarena Ānanda bhikkhunā navakataro bhikkhu
* The elder monk, Ānanda, should address the younger monk nāmena vā gottena vā āvusovādena vā samudācaritabbo.

by his name or by his clan (name) or by the word ‘friend’.

Navakatarena bhikkhunā therataro bhikkhu
(But) the younger monk should address the elder monk

Bhante ti vā āyasmā ti vā samudācaritabbo.
as reverend Sir or venerable Sir.

* * *

Ākaṅkhamāno Ānanda Saṅgho mamaccayena,

Desiring (to do so), Ānanda, the Community after my passing away, khuddānukhuddakāni sikkhāpadāni samūhanatu.

The highest penalty, Ānanda, after my passing away, is to be handed out to the monk Channa.”

“Katamo pana Bhante brahmadāṇḍo?” ti

“But what is the highest penalty, reverend Sir?”

“Channo Ānanda bhikkhu yaṃ iccheyya taṃ vadeyya

“The monk Channa, Ānanda, may say whatever he wishes

so bhikkhūhi neva vattabbo na ovaḍḍitabbo na anusāsitaḍḍo.” ti but he is not to be spoken to or advised or instructed by the monks.”²⁴⁸

Atha kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Siyā kho pana bhikkhave ekabhikkhussa pi kaṅkhā vā vimati vā

“It may be, monks, that for one of the monks there is doubt or confusion

Buddhe vā Dhamme vā Saṅghe vā Magge vā paṭipadāya vā.

about the Buddha, or about the Teaching, or about the Community, or about the Path, or about the practice.

Pucchatha bhikkhave mā pacchā vipaṭṭisārino ahuvattha:

Ask, monks, do not be regretful later (thinking):

“Sammukhībhūto no Satthā ahosi

“The Teacher was face to face with us na mayaṃ sikkhimhā Bhagavantam sammukhā paṭipucchitun.”-ti and we didn’t ask the Gracious One directly about the training.”

²⁴⁷ Ānanda was greatly blamed at the First Council for not asking the Buddha what the minor and subsidiary training rules were. As there was no agreement as to the range of rules included here the decision was made at the Council not to abolish any of them.

²⁴⁸ When he found out the Brahmaḍaṇḍa punishment had been decreed by the Buddha before he died, Channa was humbled, and later, striving in solitude, he became a Worthy One, at which point the penalty lapsed.

Evam vutte te bhikkhū tuṇhī ahesuṃ.

After this was said those monks were silent.

Dutiyam-pi kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

For a second time the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Siyā kho pana bhikkhave ekabhikkhussa pi kaṅkhā vā vimati vā

“It may be, monks, that for one of the monks there is doubt or confusion

Buddhe vā Dhamme vā Saṅghe vā Magge vā paṭipadāya vā.

about the Buddha, or about the Teaching, or about the Community, or about the Path, or about the practice.

Pucchatha bhikkhave mā pacchā vippaṭisārino ahuvattha:

and we didn’t ask the Gracious One directly about the training.”

Dutiyam-pi kho te bhikkhū tuṇhī ahesuṃ.

For a second time those monks were silent.

Tatiyam-pi kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

For a third time the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Siyā kho pana bhikkhave ekabhikkhussa pi kaṅkhā vā vimati vā

“It may be, monks, that for one of the monks there is doubt or confusion

Buddhe vā Dhamme vā Saṅghe vā Magge vā paṭipadāya vā.

and we didn’t ask the Gracious One directly about the training.”

Tatīyam-pi kho te bhikkhū tuṇhī ahesuṃ.

For a third time those monks were silent.

Atha kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:

Then the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Siyā kho pana bhikkhave Satthu gāravena pi na puccheyyātha,

“It may be, monks, that out of respect for the Teacher you do not ask,

sahāyako pi bhikkhave sahāyakassa āroacetū.” ti then one friend, monks, can inform another friend (about his doubts).”

Evam vutte te bhikkhū tuṇhī ahesuṃ.

After this was said those monks were silent.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando Bhagavantam etad-avoca:

Then venerable Ānanda said this to the Gracious One:

“Acchariyam Bhante abbhutam Bhante,

“It is wonderful, reverend Sir, it is marvellous, reverend Sir,

evam pasanno aham Bhante imasmiṃ bhikkhusaṅhe

I am confident, reverend Sir, that in this Community of monks

about the Buddha, or about the Teaching, or about the Community, or about the Path, or about the practice.”

“Pasādā kho tvam Ānanda vadesi,

“Out of confidence, Ānanda, you speak,

ñāṇam-eva hettha Ānanda Tathāgatassa

but the Realised One, Ānanda, has knowledge that about the Buddha, or about the Teaching, or about the Community, or about the Path, or about the practice.

Imesaṃ hi Ānanda pañcannaṃ bhikkhusatānaṃ,
For amongst these five hundred monks, Ānanda,

he who is the last monk, is a Stream-Enterer, no longer subject to falling (into the lower realms), niyato sambodhiparāyano.” ti and has a fixed destiny ending in Final Awakening.”²⁴⁹

* * *

Atha kho Bhagavā bhikkhū āmantesi:
Then the Gracious One addressed the monks, (saying):

“Handa dāni bhikkhave āmantayāmi vo veyadhammā saṅkhārā, “Come now, monks, for I tell you (all) conditioned things are subject to decay, appamādena sampādetthā!” ti strive on with heedfulness!”

Ayaṃ Tathāgatassa pacchimā vācā.
These were the last words of the Realised One.²⁵⁰

[41: Parinibbānaṃ] [The Final Emancipation]

Atha kho Bhagavā paṭhamajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
Then the Gracious One attained the first absorption,

paṭhamajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, dutiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the first absorption he attained the second absorption,

dutiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, tatiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the second absorption he attained the third absorption,

tatiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, catutthajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the third absorption he attained the fourth absorption,²⁵¹ catutthajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, ākāsaṇācāyatanaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the fourth absorption he attained the sphere of endless space, ²⁴⁹ According to the Commentary the last monk the Buddha was referring to was Ānanda himself, and this was said to encourage his efforts.

²⁵⁰ Commentary: Saṅgītikāraṇāṃ vacanaṃ; the words of those who held the (First) Council.

²⁵¹ The first 4 absorptions are referred to as the form absorptions (rūpajjhāna), the next 4 are called formless absorptions (arūpajjhāna).

ākāsānañcāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, viññāṇañcāyatanam samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of endless space he attained the sphere of endless consciousness, viññāṇañcāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, ākiñcaññāyatanam samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of endless consciousness he attained the sphere of nothingness, ākiñcaññāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, and after emerging from the sphere of nothingness,

nevasaññānāsaññātayanam samāpajji,
he attained the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception, nevasaññānāsaññāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, and after emerging from the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception, saññāvedayitanirodham samāpajji.

he attained the cessation of perception and feeling.

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando āyasmantaṃ Anuruddham etad-avoca:
Then venerable Ānanda said this to venerable Anuruddha:

“Parinibbuto Bhante Anuruddha Bhagavā?” ti
“(Has) the Gracious One, reverend Anuruddha, attained Final Emancipation?”²⁵²

“Nāvuso Ānanda Bhagavā parinibbuto saññāvedayitanirodham samāpanno.” ti
“The Gracious One, reverend Ānanda, has not attained Final Emancipation, he has attained the cessation of perception and feeling.”²⁵³

Atha kho Bhagavā saññāvedayitanirodhasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā,
Then the Gracious One, after emerging from the cessation of perception and feeling, nevasaññānāsaññāyatanam samāpajji, attained the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception, nevasaññānāsaññāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, ākiñcaññāyatanam samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of neither-perception-nor-non-perception he attained the sphere of nothingness, ²⁵² From here onwards until the arrival of Ven. Mahākassapa, Ven. Anuruddha is the monk everyone turns to for guidance.

²⁵³ The difference between being in this state and being dead is described in Mahāvedallasuttaṃ (MN 43), where it says in both the bodily, verbal, and mental processes (kāya-, vacī-, cittasaṅkhārā) have stopped and subsided; but in one who is dead the lifespan (āyu) has ended, the vital heat (usmā) has cooled down, and the faculties (indriya) have dispersed. Not so in one with this attainment, though from the outside it must be difficult to tell the difference.

ākiñcaññāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, viññāṇañcāyatanaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of nothingness he attained the sphere of endless consciousness, viññāṇañcāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, ākāsānañcāyatanaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of endless consciousness he attained the sphere of endless space, ākāsānañcāyatanasamāpattiyaṃ vuṭṭhahitvā, catutthajjhānaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the sphere of endless space he attained the fourth absorption, catutthajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, tatiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the fourth absorption he attained the third absorption, tatiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, dutiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the third absorption he attained the second absorption, dutiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, paṭhamajjhānaṃ samāpajji, and after emerging from the second absorption he attained the first absorption,

paṭhamajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, dutiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the first absorption he attained the second absorption,

dutiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, tatiyajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the second absorption he attained the third absorption,

tatiyajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, catutthajjhānaṃ samāpajji,
and after emerging from the third absorption he attained the fourth absorption, catutthajjhānā vuṭṭhahitvā, samanantarā Bhagavā parinibbāyi.

and after emerging from the fourth absorption, immediately the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation.

Parinibbute Bhagavati saha Parinibbānā mahābhūmicālo ahoṣi,
When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation along with the Emancipation there was a great earthquake, bhimsanako lomahaṃso Devadundubhiyo ca phalimsu.

and an awful, horrifying crash of the Divinities' (thunder) drum.

Parinibbute Bhagavati saha Parinibbānā
When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation along with the Emancipation

Brahmā Sahampati imaṃ gātham abhāsi:

Brahmā Sahampati spoke this verse.²⁵⁴

“Sabbe va nikkhipissanti bhūtā loke samussayaṃ,
“All beings in the world will surely lay aside the body,

Yathā²⁵⁵ Etādiso Satthā loke appaṭipuggalo,
In the same way the Teacher, Such-like, unmatched in the world,

Tathāgato balappatto Sambuddho parinibbuto.” ti the Realised One, attained to (the ten) strengths, the Sambuddha, has attained Final Emancipation.”

Parinibbute Bhagavati saha Parinibbānā

When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation along with the Emancipation

Sakko Devānamindo imaṃ gātham abhāsi:

Sakka, the Lord of the Divinities, spoke this verse:

“Aniccā vata saṅkhārā uppādavayadhammino “Impermanent, indeed, are (all) processes, arisen they have the nature to decay, Uppajjitvā nirujjhanti tesam vūpasamo sukho.” ti

After arising they come to cessation, the stilling of them is blissful.”²⁵⁶

Parinibbute Bhagavati saha Parinibbānā

When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation along with the Emancipation

āyasmā Anuruddho imā gāthāyo abhāsi:

venerable Anuruddha spoke these verses:

“Nāhu assāsapassāso ʈhitacittassa Tādino,
“There is no more breathing for that Such-like one of steady mind, Anejo santim-ārabbha yaṃ kālam-akarī Muni.

Freed from lust, the Sage who has died, has entered the peace (of Nibbāna).

Asallīnena cittena vedanaṃ ajjhavāsaya,
With an unshaken heart, he endured the painful feelings,

Pajjotasseva Nibbānaṃ vimokkho cetaso ahū.” ti
Like a flame (when it goes out) so his mind was liberated in Nibbāna.”²⁵⁷

²⁵⁴ It was Brahmā Sahampati who had requested the newly Awakened Buddha to preach some 45 years previously.

²⁵⁵ ChS, Thai: Yattha; where, wherever, which does not have a good meaning.

²⁵⁶ This famous verse is normally chanted by monks at a funeral.

²⁵⁷ In Aggivacchasuttam (MN 72) the Buddha tells Vaccha that as with a fire that has gone out you cannot say it has gone to the East, West, North or South, similarly with the mind of someone

Parinibbute Bhagavati saha Parinibbānā

When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation along with the Emancipation

āyasmā Ānando imaṃ gātham abhāsi:

venerable Ānanda spoke this verse:

“Tad-āsi yaṃ bhīṃsanakam tad-āsi lomahaṃsanam,

“With that there was fear, with that there was horror, Sabbākāravārūpete Sambuddhe Parinibbute.” ti

When the Sambuddha, endowed with all noble qualities, attained Emancipation.”

Parinibbute Bhagavati ye tattha bhikkhū avītarāgā

When the Gracious One attained Final Emancipation those monks there who were not free from passion, appekacce bāhā paggayha kandanti, chinnaṃpātāṃ papatanti āvaṭṭanti vivaṭṭanti:

throwing up their arms, falling down (as though) cut down, rolling backwards and forwards as though with their feet cut off, were crying:

‘Atikhippaṃ Bhagavā parinibbuto,

‘Too quickly the Gracious One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Sugato parinibbuto,

too quickly the Fortunate One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Cakkhumā loke antarahito!’ ti

too quickly the Visionary in the world has disappeared!’

Ye pana te bhikkhū vītarāgā te satā sampajānā adhivāseṇti:

But those monks who were free from passion, mindfully, with full awareness, endured, (thinking):

“Aniccā saṅkhārā taṃ kutettha labbhā?” ti

“Impermanent are (all) processes, how can it be otherwise?”

Atha kho āyasmā Anuruddho bhikkhū āmantesi:

Then venerable Anuruddha said this to the monks:

“Alaṃ āvuso mā socittha mā paridevittha,

“Enough, friends, do not grieve, do not lament,

na nu etaṃ āvuso Bhagavatā paṭikacceva akkhātaṃ:

were you not warned by the Gracious One when he declared:

‘Sabbeheva piyehi manāpehi nānābhāvo vinābhāvo aññathābhāvo.’

Taṃ kutettha āvuso labbhā yaṃ taṃ,

How can it be otherwise, friends, for that which is obtained, jātaṃ bhūtaṃ saṅkhataṃ palokadhammaṃ?

born, become, in process, subject to dissolution?

‘Taṃ vata mā palujjī’ ti netam̐ thānam̐ vijjati.

It is not possible (to say) this: ‘It should not dissolve’.

Devatā āvuso ujjhāyanti.” ti

The Divinities, friends, are complaining.”

“Katham̐bhūtā pana Bhante āyasmā Anuruddho Devatā manasikarotī?” ti

“But what beings and Divinities is the venerable Anuruddha thinking of?”

“Santāvuso Ānanda Devatā ākāse Paṭhavisaññiniyo kese pakiriya kandanti

“There are, friend Ānanda, Divinities in the sky, perceiving the Earth, who, having dishevelled hair, are weeping,

bāhā paggayha kandanti chinnapātaṃ papatanti āvaṭṭanti vivaṭṭanti

throwing up their arms, falling down (as though) cut down, rolling backwards and forwards as though with their feet cut off, crying:

‘Atikhippaṃ Bhagavā parinibbuto,

‘Too quickly the Gracious One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Sugato parinibbuto,

too quickly the Fortunate One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Cakkhumā loke antarahito!’ ti

too quickly the Visionary in the world has disappeared!’

Santāvuso Ānanda Devatā Paṭhaviyā Paṭhavisaññiniyo kese pakiriya kandanti

There are, friend Ānanda, Divinities on the Earth, perceiving the Earth, who, having dishevelled hair, are weeping, bāhā paggayha kandanti chinnapātāṃ papatanti āvaṭṭanti vivaṭṭanti throwing up their arms, falling down (as though) cut down, rolling backwards and forwards as though with their feet cut off, crying:

too quickly the Visionary in the world has disappeared!’

Yā pana tā Devatā vītarāgā tā satā sampajānā adhivāseṇti:

But those Divinities, who have cut off passion, they mindfully, with full awareness, endure, (thinking):

‘Aniccā saṅkhārā taṃ kutettha labbhā?’ ti

‘Impermanent are (all) processes, how can it be otherwise?’”

[42: Sarīrapaṭipajjanaṃ] [The Preparation of the Body]

Atha kho āyasmā ca Anuruddho āyasmā ca Ānando

Then venerable Anuruddha and venerable Ānanda

taṃ rattāvasesaṃ Dhammiyā kathāya vītināmesuṃ.

spent the rest of the night in talk about the Teaching.

Atha kho āyasmā Anuruddho āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ āmantesi:

Then venerable Anuruddha addressed venerable Ānanda, (saying):

“Gacchāvuso Ānanda Kusināraṃ pavisitvā,

“Go, Ānanda, and after entering Kusinārā

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ ārocehi:

inform the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

‘Parinibbuto Vāseṭṭhā Bhagavā yassa dāni kālāṃ maññathā.’ ti

‘The Gracious One has attained Emancipation, Vāseṭṭhas, now is the time for whatever you are thinking.’”

“Evaṃ Bhante,” ti kho āyasmā Ānando āyasmato Anuruddhassa paṭissutvā,

“Very well, reverend Sir,” said venerable Ānanda, and after replying to venerable Anuruddha, pubbaṇhasamayam nivāsetvā, pattacīvaram-ādāya, attadutiyo Kusināram pāvisi.

dressing in the morning time, and taking his robes and bowl, he entered Kusinārā with a companion.

Tena kho pana samayena Kosinārakā Mallā

Now at that time the Mallas from Kusinārā

Santhāgāre sannipatitā honti teneva karaṇīyena.

were assembled in the Council Hall having some business (or other).

Atha kho āyasmā Ānando

Then venerable Ānanda

yena Kosinārakānam Mallānam Santhāgāram tenupasaṅkami, approached the Mallas from Kusinārā in the Council Hall, upasaṅkamitvā Kosinārakānam Mallānam ārocesi:

and after approaching he informed the Mallas of Kusinārā (saying):

“Parinibbuto Vāseṭṭhā Bhagavā yassa dāni kālam maññathā.” ti

“The Gracious One has attained Emancipation, Vāseṭṭhas, now is the time for whatever you are thinking.”

Idam-āyasmato Ānandassa vacanam sutvā,

After hearing this word from venerable Ānanda,

Mallā ca Mallaputtā ca Mallasuṇisā ca Mallapajāpatiyo ca

the Mallas, the sons of the Mallas, the daughters-in-law of the Mallas, and the wives of the Mallas became miserable, depressed, with their minds given over to suffering.

Appekacce kese pakiriya kandanti,

Some, having dishevelled hair, were weeping,

bāhā paggayha kandanti, chinnapātaṃ papatanti, āvaṭṭanti vivaṭṭanti

throwing up their arms, falling down (as though) cut down, rolling backwards and forwards as though with their feet cut off, they were crying:

“Atikhippaṃ Bhagavā parinibbuto,

“Too quickly the Gracious One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Sugato parinibbuto,

too quickly the Fortunate One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Cakkhumā loke antarahito!” ti

too quickly the Visionary in the world has disappeared!”

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā purise āṇāpesuṃ:

Then the Mallas from Kusinārā ordered (their) men, (saying):

“Tena hi bhaṇe Kusinārāyaṃ gandhamālaṇ-ca,

* “Now, friends, gather together perfume and flowers, sabbañ-ca tālāvacaraṃ sannipātethā.” ti and all the musicians in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā gandhamālaṇ-ca sabbañ-ca tālāvacaraṃ,

* Then the Mallas of Kusinārā, having taken perfumes and garlands, and all the musicians, pañca ca dussayugasatāni ādāya, and five-hundred pairs of clothes,

yena Upavattanaṃ Mallānaṃ Sālavanaṃ, approached the Mallas’ Sal Wood at Upavattana,

yena Bhagavato sarīraṃ tenupasaṅkamīsu,

and making cloth canopies, and preparing circular pavillions,

evaṃ taṃ divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ.

they made the day pass.

Atha kho Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ etad-ahosi:

Then this occurred to the Mallas of Kusinārā:

“Ativikālo kho ajja Bhagavato sarīraṃ jhāpetuṃ,

“Today it is too late to burn the Gracious One’s body, svedāni mayāṃ Bhagavato sarīraṃ jhāpessāmā.” ti tomorrow we will burn the Gracious One’s body.”

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā,

Bhagavato sarīraṃ naccehi gītehi vāditehi mālehi gandhehi,

* through honouring, respecting, revering, and worshipping the Gracious One's body, sakkarontā garukarontā mānentā pūjentā,

and making cloth canopies, and preparing circular pavillions,

dutiyam-pi divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ,

they made the second day pass,

tatiyam-pi divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ,

they made the third day pass,

catuttham-pi divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ,

they made the fourth day pass,

pañcamam-pi divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ,

they made the fifth day pass,

chaṭṭham-pi divasaṃ vītināmesuṃ.

they made the sixth day pass.²⁵⁸

Atha kho sattamam-pi divasaṃ Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ etad-ahosi:

Then on the seventh day this occurred to the Mallas of Kusinārā:

“Mayaṃ Bhagavato sarīraṃ naccehi gītehi vāditehi mālehi gandhehi

* “While honouring, respecting, revering, and worshipping the Gracious One's body, after taking it out of the city by the South, bāhirena bāhiraṃ dakkhiṇato Nagarassa Bhagavato sarīraṃ jhāpessāmā.” ti on the outside of the City to the South we will burn the Gracious One's body.”

Tena kho pana samayena aṭṭha Mallapāmokkhā,

Now at that time eight leaders of the Mallas,

²⁵⁸ Although this looks like a repetition passage, no ellipsis is marked in any of the editions.

sīsam nahātā ahatāni vatthāni nivatthā:

having washed their heads and put on clean clothes, (said):

“Mayam Bhagavato sarīram uccāressāmā,” ti na sakkonti uccāretum.

“Let us lift the Gracious One’s body,” but they were not able to lift (it).

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā āyasmantaṃ Anuruddhaṃ etad-avocum:

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā said this to venerable Anuruddha:

“Ko nu kho Bhante Anuruddha hetu ko paccayo

“Aññathā kho Vāseṭṭhā tumhākaṃ adhippāyo aññathā Devatānaṃ adhippāyo.” ti

“You Vāseṭṭhas have one intention, and the Divinities have another intention.”

“Kathaṃ pana Bhante Devatānaṃ adhippāyo.” ti

“But what is the Divinities’ intention, reverend Sir?”

“Tumhākaṃ kho Vāseṭṭhā adhippāyo:

“Your intention, Vāseṭṭhas, is:

on the outside of the City to the South, will burn the Gracious One’s body.’

Devatānaṃ kho Vāseṭṭhā adhippāyo:

* The Divinities’ intention, Vāseṭṭhas, is:

‘Mayam Bhagavato sarīram dibbehi naccehi gītehi vāditehi mālehi gandhehi, there let us burn the Gracious One's body.”

“Yathā Bhante Devatānam adhippāyo tathā hotū.” ti
“Let us do according to the Divinities' intention, reverend Sir.”

* * *

Tena kho pana samayena Kusinārā yāva sandhisamalasaṅkaṭṭirā,
* Now at that time the whole of Kusinārā, including the dirty rubbish heaps, jaṇṇumattena odhinā Mandāravapupphehi santhatā hoti.

was covered knee-deep with (Divine) Coral Tree flowers.

Atha kho Devatā ca Kosinārakā ca Mallā
Then the Divinities and the Mallas of Kusinārā

Bhagavato sarīram Dibbehi ca mānusakehi ca naccehi gīthehi vāditehi mālehi gandhehi to the East of the City, at the Mallas' Shrine called the Bonded Coronet ettha Bhagavato sarīraṃ nikkhipiṃsu.

there set down the Gracious One's body.

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā āyasmantaṃ Ānandaṃ etad-avocum:

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā said this to venerable Ānanda:

“Kathaṃ mayaṃ Bhante Ānanda Tathāgatassa sarīre paṭipajjāmā.” ti

“How do we act, reverend Ānanda, in regard to the Realised One's body?”

“Yathā kho Vāseṭṭhā Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjanti,

“As you act, Vāseṭṭhas, in regard to the Universal Monarch's body, evaṃ Tathāgatassa sarīre paṭipajjitabban.”-ti

so you should act in regard to the Realised One's body.”

“Kathaṃ pana Bhante Ānanda Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjantī.” ti

“But how do we act, reverend Ānanda, in regard to the Universal Monarch's body?”

“Rañño Vāseṭṭhā Cakkavattissa sarīraṃ ahatena vatthena veṭhenti,

“They wrap the Universal Monarch's body, Vāseṭṭhas, with clean cloth, and after wrapping with carded cotton, they wrap with clean cloth, etena upāyena pañcahi yugasatehi Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīraṃ veṭhetvā by this means after wrapping the Universal Monarch's body with five-hundred pairs (of cloth and cotton),

āyasāya teladoṇiyā pakkhipitvā, aññissā āyasāya doṇiyā paṭikkujjitvā, enclosing it in an oil tub made of iron, and enclosing it in another iron tub, sabbagandhānaṃ citakaṃ karitvā, Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīraṃ jhāpentī, and putting it on a scented funeral pyre, they burn the Universal Monarch's body, and they build a Shrine for the Universal Monarch at the crossroads.

Evam kho Vāseṭṭhā Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjanti.

So they act, Vāseṭṭhas, in regard to a Universal Monarch's body.

Yathā kho Vāseṭṭhā Rañño Cakkavattissa sarīre paṭipajjanti,

Just as they act, Vāseṭṭhas, in regard to a Universal Monarch's body, evam Tathāgatassa sarīre paṭipajjitabbam,

so should they act in regard to a Realised One's body, cātummahāpathe Tathāgatassa thūpo kātabbo.

and a Shrine should be made for the Realised One at the crossroads.

Tattha ye mālaṃ vā gandhaṃ vā cuṇṇakaṃ vā āropessanti vā that will be for their benefit and happiness for a long time.”

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā purise āṇāpesuṃ:

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā gave orders to (their) men, (saying):

“Tena hi bhaṇe Mallānaṃ vihatam kappāsam sannipātethā.” ti

“If it is so (then) wrap (the body) with the Mallas' carded cloth, friends.”

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā Bhagavato sarīraṃ ahatena vatthena veṭhesuṃ,

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā wrapped the Gracious One's body with clean cloth, ahatena vatthena veṭhetvā vihatena kappāsena veṭhesuṃ, and after wrapping with clean cloth, they wrapped with carded cotton, vihatena kappāsena veṭhetvā ahatena vatthena veṭhesuṃ and after wrapping with carded cotton, they wrapped with clean cloth, etena upāyena pañcahi yugasatehi Bhagavato sarīraṃ veṭhetvā, and by this means, after wrapping the Gracious One's body with five-hundred pairs (of cloth and cotton),

āyasāya teladoṇiyā pakkhipitvā, aññissā āyasāya doṇiyā paṭikkujjitvā,

enclosing it in an oil tub made of iron, and enclosing it in another iron tub, sabbagandhānaṃ citakaṃ karitvā, Bhagavato sarīraṃ citakaṃ āropesum.

and putting it on a scented funeral pyre, they put the Gracious One's body on the funeral pyre.

[43: Mahākassapakathā]
[The Story concerning Mahākassapa]²⁵⁹

Tena kho pana समयena āyasmā Mahākassapo
Now at that time venerable Mahākassapa

Pāvāya Kusināraṃ addhānamaggapaṭipanno hoti,
was travelling along the highway from Pāvā to Kusinārā,

mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ pañcamattehi bhikkhusatahi.
together with a great Community of monks, around five-hundred monks.

Atha kho āyasmā Mahākassapo maggā okkamma aññatarasmiṃ rukkhamūle nisīdi.
Then venerable Mahākassapa, after descending from the path, sat down at the root of a certain tree.

Tena kho pana समयena aññataro Ājīvako
Now at that time a certain Ājīvaka²⁶⁰

Kusinārāya Mandāravapupphaṃ gahetvā, Pāvaṃ addhānamaggapaṭipanno hoti.
while holding a Mandārava flower²⁶¹ from Kusinārā was travelling along the highway to Pāvā.

Addasā kho āyasmā Mahākassapo taṃ Ājīvakaṃ dūrato va āgacchantam, Venerable Mahākassapa saw that Ājīvaka approaching from afar, disvā taṃ Ājīvakaṃ etad-avoca:

and after seeing (him), he said this to that Ājīvaka:

“Apāvuso amhākaṃ Satthāraṃ jānāsī?” ti
“Do you know our Teacher, friend?”

“Āma āvuso jānāmi. Ajja sattāhaparinibbuto samaṇo Gotamo, “Certainly, friend, I know. Today is seven days since the Final Emancipation of the ascetic Gotama, ²⁵⁹ cf. Pañcasatikakkhandhakaṃ, opening (Cullavagga, 11).

²⁶⁰ Sometimes translated as naked ascetic. The Ājīvakas were followers of Makkhali Gosāla, and held that there was no result of action (akriyavāda).

²⁶¹ Mandārava flowers were believed to grow in the Tusita heaven and only fall on special occasions.

tato me idaṃ Mandāravapuppham gahitaṃ.”-ti therefore I am holding this Mandārava flower.”

Tattha ye te bhikkhū avītarāgā
Then those monks there who were not free from passion, appekacce bāhā paggayha kandanti,

some, throwing up their arms, were weeping, chinnapātāṃ papatanti āvaṭṭanti vivaṭṭanti:

falling down (as though) cut down, rolling backwards and forwards as though with their feet cut off, they were crying:

‘Atikhippaṃ Bhagavā parinibbuto,
‘Too quickly the Gracious One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Sugato parinibbuto,
too quickly the Fortunate One has attained Final Emancipation,

atikhippaṃ Cakkhumā loke antarahito!’ ti
too quickly the Visionary in the world has disappeared!’

Ye pana te bhikkhū vītarāgā te satā sampajānā adhivāseṇti:
But those monks who were free from passion, mindfully, with full awareness, endured, (thinking):

“Aniccā saṅkhārā taṃ kutettha labbhā?” ti
“Impermanent are (all) processes, how can it be otherwise?”

* * *

Tena kho pana samayena Subhaddo nāma vuḍḍhapabbajito
Now at that time one who had gone forth in old age, named Subhadda tassaṃ parisāyaṃ nisinno hoti.

was sitting in that group.²⁶²

Atha kho Subhaddo vuḍḍhapabbajito te bhikkhū etad-avoca:
Then Subhadda, who had gone forth in old age, said this to those monks:

“Alaṃ āvuso mā socittha mā paridevittha,
“Enough, friends, do not grieve, do not lament,

sumuttā mayāṃ tena Mahāsamaṇena upaddutā ca homa:
we are now freed from that troublesome Great Ascetic, (saying):

²⁶² This is a different Subaddha than the one mentioned earlier.

‘Idaṃ vo kappatī, idaṃ vo na kappatī.’ ti

‘This is allowable for you, this is not allowable for you.’

Idāni pana mayaṃ yaṃ icchissāma taṃ karissāma,

But now we will do whatever we wish,

yaṃ na icchissāma taṃ na karissāmā.” ti and we will not do whatever we do not wish.”²⁶³

Atha kho āyasmā Mahākassapo bhikkhū āmantesi:

Then venerable Mahākassapa addressed the monks, (saying):²⁶⁴

“Alaṃ, āvuso, mā socittha, mā paridevittha,

“Enough, friends, do not grieve, do not lament,

na nu etaṃ āvuso Bhagavatā paṭikacceva akkhātāṃ:

were you not warned by the Gracious One, friends, when he declared this:

‘Sabbeheva piyehi manāpehi nānābhāvo vinābhāvo aññathābhāvo.’

‘There is alteration in, separation from, and changeability in all that is dear and appealing.’

Taṃ kutettha āvuso labbhā yaṃ taṃ,

How can it be otherwise, friends, for that which is obtained, jātaṃ bhūtaṃ saṅkhatāṃ palokadhammaṃ?

born, become, in process, subject to dissolution?

‘Taṃ vata mā palujjī’ ti etaṃ ṭhānaṃ vijjatī.” ti

It is not possible (to say) this: ‘It should not dissolve’.

Tena kho pana samayena cattāro Mallapāmokkhā,

Now at that time four leaders of the Mallas,

sīsaṃ nahātā ahatāni vatthāni nivatthā:

having washed their heads and put on clean clothes, (said):

“Mayaṃ Bhagavato citakaṃ ālīmpessāmā,” ti na sakkonti ālīmpetuṃ.

“Let us burn the Gracious One’s funeral pyre,” but they were not able to burn (it).

²⁶³ The Commentary relates a long story here telling how Subhadda after ordaining had once prepared a meal for the Buddha and the Community, but had been rebuked by the Buddha for breaking Vinaya rules in its preparation. He thereafter held a grudge against the Buddha and against the Vinaya.

²⁶⁴ Note that here Ven. Mahākassapa does not answer what was said by Subhadda at all, but instead exhorts the monks. One can’t help feeling that the narrative has been poorly stitched together here. In the Vinaya account of this story Cullavagga 11, beginning), Subhadda’s outburst comes after Ven. Mahākassapa’s exhortation, which is much more fitting.

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā āyasmantaṃ Anuruddhaṃ etad-avocum:
Then the Mallas of Kusinārā said this to venerable Anuruddha:

“Ko nu kho Bhante Anuruddha hetu ko paccayo,
“What is the reason, venerable Anuruddha, what is the cause, yenime cattāro Mallapāmokkhā, why four leaders of the Mallas,

sīsaṃ nahātā ahatāni vatthāni nivatthā,
having washed their heads and put on clean clothes, (and saying):

‘Mayaṃ Bhagavato citakaṃ ālīmpessāma,’ ti na sakkonti ālīmpetun?’-ti
‘Let us burn the Gracious One’s funeral pyre,’ are not able to burn (it)?”

“Aññathā kho Vāseṭṭhā Devatānaṃ adhippāyo.” ti
“The Divinities²⁶⁵ have another intention, Vāseṭṭhas.”

“Kathaṃ pana Bhante Devatānaṃ adhippāyo.” ti
“But what is the Divinities’ intention, reverend Sir?”

“Devatānaṃ kho Vāseṭṭhā adhippāyo:
“The Divinities’ intention, Vāseṭṭhas, (is):

‘Ayaṃ āyasmā Mahākassapo Pāvāya Kusināraṃ addhānamaggapaṭipanno
‘The venerable Mahākassapa is travelling along the highway from Pāvā to Kusinārā mahatā bhikkhusaṅghena saddhiṃ pañcamattehi bhikkhusatehi, together with a great Community of monks, around five-hundred monks, na tāva Bhagavato citako pajjalissati

the Gracious One’s funeral pyre will not burn yāvāyasmā Mahākassapo Bhagavato pāde sirasā na vandissati.” ti while venerable Mahākassapa has not worshipped the Gracious One’s feet with his head.”

“Yathā Bhante Devatānaṃ adhippāyo tathā hotū.” ti
“Let us do according to the Divinities’ intention, reverend Sir.”

²⁶⁵ The Commentary says these Divinities were Ven. Mahākassapa’s supporters, like Sakka. See Ud. 1-6 and 3-7 for instances of the Divinities waiting on Ven. Mahākassapa.

Atha kho āyasmā Mahākassapo
Then venerable Mahākassapa

yena Kusinārā Makuṭabandhanam nāma Mallānam Cetiyaṃ, approached Kusinārā, and the Mallas' Shrine called the Bonded Coronet, yena Bhagavato citako tenupasaṅkami, and the Gracious One's funeral pyre, upasaṅkamitvā ekaṃsaṃ cīvaram katvā añjaliṃ paṇāmetvā, and after approaching and arranging his robe on one shoulder, extending (his hands) in respectful salutation,

tikkhattum citakam padakkhiṇam katvā,
and circumambulating the funeral pyre three times,

pādato vivaritvā Bhagavato pāde sirasā vandi.
and uncovering the feet he worshipped the Gracious One's feet with his head.²⁶⁶

Tāni pi kho pañca bhikkhusatāni ekaṃsaṃ cīvaram katvā añjaliṃ paṇāmetvā,
Also five-hundred monks, after arranging their robes on one shoulder, extending (their hands) in respectful salutation,

tikkhattum citakam padakkhiṇam katvā,
and circumambulating the funeral pyre three times,

Bhagavato pāde sirasā vandimsu.
worshipped the Gracious One's feet with their heads.

Vandite panāyasmata Mahākassapena
After (the Gracious One's feet) had been worshipped by venerable Mahākassapa tehi ca pañcahi bhikkhusatehi sayam-eva Bhagavato citako pajjali.

and by five-hundred monks the funeral pyre caught fire by itself.

Jhāyamānassa kho pana Bhagavato sarīrassa,
Now while the Gracious One's body was burning,

yaṃ ahosi chavī ti vā camman-ti vā maṃsan-ti vā nahārū ti vā lasikā ti vā of the outer skin, the inner skin, the flesh, the sinews, the synovial fluid, ²⁶⁶ The Commentary takes this a bit more literally than necessary, and says that Ven. Mahākassapa attained fourth jhāna and made a determination that the Buddha's feet should break through their five hundred layers of wrapping, before he worshipped them.

tassa neva chārikā paññāyittha na masi sarīrāneva avasissimsu.

Seyyathā pi nāma sappissa vā telassa vā jhāyamānassa
Just as while ghee or oil is burning neva chārikā paññāyati na masi, there is no charcoal and no ash evident,

evam-eva Bhagavato sarīrassa jhāyamānassa,
so when the Gracious One's body was burning,

yaṃ ahosi chavī ti vā camman-ti vā maṃsan-ti vā nahārū ti vā lasikā ti vā,
of the outer skin, the inner skin, the flesh, the sinews, the synovial fluid,

tassa neva chārikā paññāyittha na masi sarīrāneva avasissimsu.
neither charcoal was evident, nor was ash of the body left over.

Tesaṇ-ca pañcannaṃ dussayugasatānaṃ dve va dussāni na ḍayhimsu
Only two of those five-hundred pairs of clothes were not consumed, yaṇ-ca sabbabbhantarimaṇ yaṇ-ca bāhiraṇ.

that on the inside and that on the outside.

Daḍḍhe kho pana Bhagavato sarīre
When the Gracious One's body was burnt antalikkhā udakadhārā pātubhavitvā, Bhagavato citakaṃ nibbāpesi.

a shower of water appeared in the sky, and the Gracious One's funeral pyre was extinguished.

Udakaṃ sālato pi abbhunnamitvā, Bhagavato citakaṃ nibbāpesi.
Also after water rose from a well,²⁶⁷ the Gracious One's funeral pyre was extinguished.

Kosinārakā pi Mallā sabbagandhodakena Bhagavato citakaṃ nibbāpesuṃ.
Also the Mallas from Kusinārā extinguished the Gracious One's funeral pyre with all types of fragrant water.²⁶⁸

²⁶⁷ The Commentary first says the water came from the Sāla trees, which is hard to understand, but in the same comment continues: samantā pathaviṃ bhinditvā pi naṅgalasīsamattā udakavaṭṭi phalikavaṭaṃsakasadisā uggantvā citakam-eva gaṇhanti; having broken through the earth all round like the head of a plough, a jet of water, like a crystal crown, having risen caught hold of the pyre. This makes me think that the water may have come from a well (lit: [water]-hall), and I translate it as such. However, I have not found the expression used in this way elsewhere, so the meaning remains doubtful.

²⁶⁸ These lines seem to record three disparate accounts of how the pyre was eventually extinguished.

Atha kho Kosinārakā Mallā

Then the Mallas of Kusinārā,

Bhagavato sarīrāni, sattāhaṃ Santhāgāre sattipaṇjaram karitvā,

* after making an enclosure of spears in the Council Hall,²⁶⁹

dhanupākāram parikkhipitvā, and surrounding the Gracious One's bodily relics with bows, naccehi gītehi vāditehi mālehi gandhehi honoured, respected, revered, and worshipped (it) sakkarimsu garukarimsu mānesum pūjesum.

with dance, song, music, garlands, and perfumes.

[The Distribution of the Relics]

Assosi kho Rājā Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto:

The Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom, heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Rājā Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto,

Then the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom,

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesi:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo aham-pi Khattiyo,

“The Gracious One was a Noble, and I also am a Noble,

aham-pi arahāmi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

I am worthy of a share of the Gracious One's bodily relics, aham-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpaṇ-ca mahaṇ-ca karissāmī.” ti

I will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosum kho Vesālikā Licchavī:

Then the Licchavīs of Vesālī heard:

²⁶⁹ Comm: tattha sattipaṇjaram katvā ti sattihatthehi purisehi parikkhipāpetvā; here after making an enclosure of spears means having made an enclosure of people with spears in their hands.

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Vesālikā Licchavī

Then the Licchavīs of Vesālī

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesuṃ:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

Bhagavā pi Khattiyo mayam-pi Khattiyā,

“The Gracious One was a Noble, and we also are Nobles,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā.” ti

we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosuṃ kho Kāpilavatthavā Sakyā:

Then the Sakyas of Kapilavatthu heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Kāpilavatthavā Sakyā

Then the Sakyas of Kāpilavatthu

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesuṃ:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā amhākaṃ ñātiseṭṭho,

“The Gracious One was our foremost relative,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā” ti.

we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosuṃ kho Allakappakā Bulayo:

Then the Bulas of Allakappa heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Allakappakā Bulayo

Then the Bulas of Allakappa

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesuṃ:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo mayam-pi Khattiyā,

“The Gracious One was a Noble, and we also are Nobles,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā.” ti

we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosuṃ kho Rāmagāmakā Koliyā:

Then the Koliyas of Rāmagāma heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Rāmagāmakā Koliyā

Then the Koliyas of Rāmagāma

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesuṃ:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo mayam-pi Khattiyā,

“The Gracious One was a Noble, and we also are Nobles,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā.” ti

we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosi kho Veṭṭhadīpako brāhmaṇo:

Then the brahmin Veṭṭhadīpaka heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Veṭṭhadīpako brāhmaṇo
Then the brahmin Veṭṭhadīpaka

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesi:
sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo aham-asmi brāhmaṇo,
“The Gracious One was a Noble, and I am a brahmin,

aham-pi arahāmi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,
I am worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

aham-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmī.” ti
I will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Assosum kho Pāveyyakā Mallā:
Then the Mallas of Pāvā heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti
“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Pāveyyakā Mallā Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesum:
Then the Mallas of Pāvā sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo mayam-pi Khattiyā,
“The Gracious One was a Noble, and we also are Nobles,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,
we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā.” ti
we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

Evam vutte Kosinārakā Mallā te saṅghe gaṇe etad-avocum:
After this was said, the Mallas of Kusinārā said this to their community and group:

“Bhagavā amhākaṃ gāmakkhette parinibbuto,
“The Gracious One has attained Final Emancipation in the area of our village, na mayam dassāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ.”-ti

(but) we will not see a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics.”

Evaṃ vutte Doṇa brāhmaṇo te saṅhe gaṇe etad-avoca:

After this was said, the brahmin Doṇa said this to their community and group.²⁷⁰

“Suṇantu Bhonto mama ekavākyam:

“Listen, dear Sirs, to a sentence of mine:

Amhāka’ Buddho ahu khantivādo

Our Buddha was one who spoke about forbearance

Na hi sādhu yaṃ Uttamapuggalassa

* It is not good that there should be a battle

Sarīrabhāge siyā sampahāro.

About sharing the relics of the Best Man.

Sabbe va bhonto sahitā samaggā,

* Let us united, in concord, dear Sirs,

Sammodamānā karomaṭṭhabhāge,

With joyful minds, make eight shares (of the relics),

Vitthārikā hontu disāsu Thūpā

And set up Shrines in every direction

Bahū janā Cakkhumato pasannā.” ti

(So that) many people may gain faith in the Visionary One.”

“Tena hi brāhmaṇa tvañ-ñeva Bhagavato sarīrāni

* “Now, brahmin, you must divide the Gracious One’s bodily relics aṭṭhadhā samaṃ suvibhattaṃ vibhajāhī.” ti

in eight equal divisions.”

“Evaṃ bho,” ti kho Doṇa brāhmaṇo,

“Certainly, dear Sir,” said Doṇa the brahmin, tesaṃ saṅghānaṃ gaṇānaṃ paṭissutvā,

after replying to that community and group,

Bhagavato sarīrāni aṭṭhadhā samaṃ suvibhattaṃ vibhajitvā, and dividing the Gracious One’s bodily relics in eight equal divisions, ²⁷⁰ The name Doṇa means Measurer, and is therefore a mythical name. The Commentary records that before he spoke the verses below, he recited another (spontaneous?) poem, which became known as Doṇagajitaṃ, Doṇa’s Roar. It is said to have been 500 verses long (dvibhāṇavāra). Unfortunately there appears to be no record of this poem.

te saṅghe gaṇe etad-avoca:

he said this to that community and group:

“Imaṃ me bhonto tumbaṃ dadantu,

“Please give me this urn, dear Sirs, aham-pi tumbassa Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmī.” ti and I also will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the urn.”²⁷¹

Adamsu kho te Doṇassa brāhmaṇassa tumbaṃ.

They gave the urn to Doṇa the brahmin.

Assosum kho Pippalivaniyā Moriyā:

Then the Moriyā of Pepper Wood heard:

“Bhagavā kira Kusinārāyaṃ parinibbuto.” ti

“The Gracious One, it seems, has attained Final Emancipation in Kusinārā.”

Atha kho Pippalivaniyā Moriyā

Then the Moriyā of Pepper Wood

Kosinārakānaṃ Mallānaṃ dūtaṃ pāhesum:

sent a message to the Mallas of Kusinārā, (saying):

“Bhagavā pi Khattiyo mayam-pi Khattiyā,

“The Gracious One was a Noble, and we also are Nobles,

mayam-pi arahāma Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgaṃ,

we are worthy of a share of the Gracious One’s bodily relics,

mayam-pi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca karissāmā.” ti

we will make a Shrine and hold a festival for the bodily relics.”

“Natthi Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ bhāgo vibhattāni,

“There are no more portions of the Gracious One’s relics, Bhagavato sarīrāni ito aṅgāraṃ harathā.” ti

(instead) take the ashes from the Gracious One’s body.”

Te tato aṅgāraṃ harimsu.

Therefore they took away the ashes.

²⁷¹ The Commentary tells a rather embarrassing story here. It says that Doṇa stole the right eye-tooth of the Buddha while the others were distracted and put it into his turban, but Sakka then stole it and enshrined it in the Cūḷāmaṇi shrine in Tāvātimsa Heaven. Realising that it had gone Doṇa then asked for the urn!

Atha kho Rājā Māgadho Ajātasattu Vedehiputto,

Then the Magadhan King Ajātasattu, the son of Lady Wisdom,

Rājagahe Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akāsi.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Rājagaha and held a festival.²⁷²

Vesālikā pi Licchavī

The Licchavīs from Vesālī

Vesāliyaṃ Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Vesālī and held a festival.

Kāpilavatthavā pi Sakyā

The Sakyas from Kapilavatthu

Kapilavatthusmiṃ Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Kapilavatthu and held a festival.

Allakappakā pi Bulayo

The Bulas of Allakappa

Allakappe Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Allakappa and held a festival.

Rāmagāmakā pi Koliyā

The Koliyas of Rāmagāma

Rāmagāme Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Rāmagāma and held a festival.

Veṭṭhadīpako pi brāhmaṇo

The Veṭṭhadīpaka brahmin

Veṭṭhadīpe Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akāsi.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Veṭṭhadīpa and held a festival.

Pāveyyakā pi Mallā

The Mallas of Pāvā

Pāvāyaṃ Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Pāvā and held a festival.

Kosinārakā pi Mallā

The Mallas of Kusinārā

²⁷² Comm: Kusinārato yāva Rājagahaṃ pañcavīsati yojanāni ... evaṃ dhātuyo gahetvā āgacchantānaṃ sattavassānisatta māsāni sattadivasāni vītivattāni; from Kusinārā to Rājagaha is 25 leagues ... while the relics were being brought, 7 years, 7 months, and 7 days passed by.

Kusinārāyaṃ Bhagavato sarīrānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the Gracious One's bodily relics at Kusinārā and held a festival.

Doṇo pi brāhmaṇo

Doṇa the brahmin

Tumbassa Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akāsi.

made a Shrine for the urn and held a festival.

Pipphalivaniyā pi Moriyā

The Moriyās of Pepper Wood

Pipphalivane aṅgārānaṃ Thūpañ-ca mahañ-ca akaṃsu.

made a Shrine for the ashes at Pepper Wood and held a festival.

Iti aṭṭha sarīratthūpā navamo Tumbathūpo dasamo Aṅgārathūpo,

Thus there were eight Shrines for the bodily relics, the Urn Shrine was the ninth, and the Ashes Shrine was the tenth,

evam-etam bhūtapubban ti.
and so it was in former times.²⁷³

Aṭṭhadoṇaṃ Cakkhumato sarīraṃ,
(There were) eight measures of the Visionary's relics,²⁷⁴

Sattadoṇaṃ Jambudīpe mahenti,
Seven measures are honoured in Jambudīpa,

Ekañ-ca doṇaṃ purisavaruttamassa
One measure of the most Noble Man

Rāmagāme Nāgarājā maheti.
The King of the Dragons honours in Rāmagāma.

Ekā hi dāṭhā Tidivehi pūjitā,²⁷⁵
One tooth is worshipped in the Heavens,

Ekā pana Gandhārapure mahīyati,
And one is honoured in the city of Gandhāra,

Kāliṅgarañño vijite punekaṃ,
A further one in the realm of the Kāliṅga King,

Ekam puna Nāgarājā maheti.
And the King of the Dragons honours one more.

²⁷³ The Commentary says these words were added at the 3rd Council. It also tells how Ven. Mahākassapa later collected most of the relics together again and that King Ajātasattu built a shrine for them. This was rediscovered by King Asoka who had them enshrined in the 84,000 monasteries he built throughout Jambudīpa. The story is obviously told to try to reconcile the two traditions.

²⁷⁴ The following verses, which the Commentary says were added in Tambapaṇṇi (Śrī Laṅkā), also record the growing dispersion of the relics. They should be compared with the even more advanced last chapter of Buddhavaṃsa, one of whose verses is quoted verbatim below and another of which seems to be paraphrased.

²⁷⁵ Compare this verse with Buddhavaṃsa 29.6: Ekā dāṭhā Tidasapure, ekā Nāgapure ahu, ekā Gandhāraṇṇisaye, ekā Kāliṅgarājino.

Tasseva tejena ayaṃ Vasundharā

Through the power (of these relics) this Lovely Earth

Āyāgaseṭṭhehi Mahī alaṅkatā.

Is decorated like a most excellent hall.

Evaṃ imaṃ Cakkhumato sarīraṃ,

Thus this body of the Visionary One,

Susakkataṃ sakkatasakkatehi.

(Is) well esteemed by those who respect the respectable.

Devindanāgindanarindapūjito,

Honoured by Lords of Divinities, Lords of Dragons, and Kings,

Manussaseṭṭhehi tatheva pūjito,

(The relics are) honoured by true Lords of Men,

Taṃ vandatha pañjalikā bhavitvā,

Worship those (relics) after holding up your hands,

Buddho have kappasatehi dullabho ti.

A Buddha is rare even in a hundred aeons.

Cattālīsasamā dantā kesā lomā ca sabbaso

Altogether forty even teeth, the hair, and body hair (relics) were

Devā harīmsu ekekaṃ Cakkavāḷaparamparā. ti²⁷⁶

Carried off successively by the Divinities to the (various) Universes.

Mahāparinibbānasuttaṃ Niṭṭhitaṃ Tatiyaṃ.

The Discourse about the Great Emancipation,

The Third (in the Mahāvagga section of the Long Discourses) is Finished.

²⁷⁶ This verse is also found at Bv. 29.7.
